

HEAVY SEAS TORE SHIP'S HULL APART

Captain Randall Relates Bitter Experiences as His Ship Pounded to Pieces.

DECK SWEPT CLEAR BY STORM

Forced to Put on Life Belts and Cast Themselves into Icy Water and Swim.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 26.—Capt. Harry Randall, of the wrecked steam barge John Randall with two other members of the crew, who had been almost given up for lost in a big storm on Lake Ontario on November 16, reached the city this afternoon and he had a thrilling story to relate. According to the captain's story, the Randall had put into the bay at the main docks on the afternoon of November 16 to seek shelter from the storm that was raging on the lake. After they had been lying there for some hours the wind shifted from north-east to east, and a heavy sea broke in on the bay.

Boat Carried Off.—The boat broke loose and was carried out to sea. Her stern struck on a flat rock and her engine was lifted up. She broke in two as the result of the impact. The main steam pipe broke and the water rushed to the forward end of the vessel, which remained above water. They stayed on the vessel up forward, in the wheel house, until daylight, as it was impossible to do anything in the darkness.

Beta Washed Decks.—The heavy sea washed the deck, cabin and lifeboats off the deck, stated Captain Randall. "We stayed on the boat until two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, thinking that someone would pick us up."

"No one came," he said, "and weather conditions were becoming very serious. The only thing left for us to do was to put on life belts and trust ourselves to the mercy of the sea and start swimming for shore. Just as we got there, a distance of about fifty feet, the lighthouse keeper and his wife and son came along and gave us assistance as they could. We were forced to walk a mile and a half to the lighthouse. Brady and Harry Smith (two members of the crew) were almost frozen to death. The exposure was really terrible. "On arriving at the lighthouse we were given a treatment of rum, and to this drink of liquor Harry Smith, attributes the saving of his life. Since then we have been living at the home of the lighthouse keeper, Mr. Fred Bongard, and no more kind or hospitable treatment could have been given us than by Mr. Bongard and his family. We could not get in communication with the city in anyway until yesterday, and for that reason we had to be given up, practically as lost."

NEW YORK PRESS RESENTS ATTACK ON UNION JACK

This Is Not Ireland—Nothing Could Aid Lloyd George More' is One View.

New York, Nov. 26.—Several New York evening papers comment somewhat bitterly on yesterday's disorders after the MacSwiney memorial mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral, when a mob of 6,000 Irish sympathizers, seeing a British flag displayed in a window of the Union Club, attacked the building and carried on a desperate battle until a horde of policemen drove them away. All the windows on the lower floor of the club building were wrecked and there were many injuries from flying missiles.

"The demonstration yesterday is a naive assumption that New York is a part of Ireland," says the Globe. "Nothing could do more injustice to Ireland or win more friends for Lloyd George than this absurd attempt to dictate to American opinion and conduct."

"The mob," says the Evening Post, "may have been composed of American citizens. But they did not act as if they were Americans. They acted as if they were Irishmen."

"This is not Ireland" "Irish sympathizers" who act as Irish sympathizers acted yesterday forget where they are. This is not Ireland. It is not England. It is the United States. Anybody who is not naturalized and who proposes to proceed as if New York was Dublin, or any other foreign city, abuses our hospitality, and anybody who is naturalized, or was born here and who takes a similar course, gives the lie to his Americanism.

He was standing on a log near the camp trimming it with an axe, when a shot rang out and a bullet pierced his left leg just above the knee, this happening about ten o'clock Thursday morning.

James Vail who fired the shot, still is confident that the object he shot at was a deer which got away. He is quite deaf but is known as an expert and very careful woodsman, by men who have been in the woods with him. Companions came quickly to the aid of the injured man and he was carried to the camp where first aid was administered. The wound was severe the bone being shattered and the victim suffered severely. Some delay occurred in summoning a physician but Dr. Sullivan of St. Stephen was finally reached and left St. Stephen by auto the intention being for a car from Brockway to meet him at Wald Junction, eight miles from the scene of the accident.

THE BOY'S STORY

Oscar Claremont, who is reported as improved tonight, made a statement, according to Dr. Cartier, of Nominique, before Justice of the Peace Blouin and Edouard Hamet, of Nominique, to the effect that their neighbor, Orlas Rippep, knocked at the door of the Claremont home on Wednesday evening and when he opened the door, Rippep struck him with his knife. Rippep then, he said, attacked his (Claremont's) mother, and when he tried to defend her Rippep struck him again. Claremont then ran into the house and was followed and struck him again.
