

PASTOR ARRESTED FOR GIRL'S MURDER

Rev. Mr. Richeson Now in Boston Jail Charged With Killing Fiancee

Pastor Said to Have Bought Cyanide of Potassium, and Girl Died of the Same Poison—Dined With Sweetheart the Same Day She Drank the Fatal Dose—Mother of Victim Thinks the Right Man is Caught, and Tells of Her Daughter's Engagement to Him.

Boston, Oct. 20.—Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, pastor of a Baptist church in Cambridge, was arrested a little before 8 o'clock, as a result of police investigation of the death, by poisoning, of Miss Avis Linnell, a student at the New England Conservatory of Music, who was found dead at the home of Moses E. Edmonds, father of the clergyman's fiancée in Brookline.

Mr. Richeson went to the Edmonds home last Sunday night almost immediately after he had been informed of the sudden death of Miss Linnell, who, it was said, had been for some time his fiancée. Reports conflict as to whether a formal engagement between the minister and Miss Linnell was ever announced, but Miss Linnell had worn a diamond ring, which the pastor gave her, and friends claimed the man had often introduced her as his future wife.

From Sunday night until yesterday afternoon, the minister denied himself to all callers, and to every plea for a statement as to his relations with Miss Linnell, answered once appeared outside the Edmonds home. Friends of the pastor were earnestly at work, begging press and public not to form a hasty judgment as in their belief the minister would eventually clear himself of every suspicion.

The police of Boston last night discovered clues which led them to take summary action and he was arrested.

The minister stopped an instant on the threshold of the mansion to adjust his black fob, then calmly he walked down the steps to the street. Deputy Superintendent of Police Watts, who had been arrested on information substantiated by the police that the minister bought a quantity of cyanide of potassium at a drug store in Newton Centre on Oct. 10.

Charged With Murder.
A warrant charging Richeson with first degree murder, was issued by Municipal Court Judge Murray shortly before 11:30 a.m. It was arranged to bring the minister into court, without delay, and continue his case until Oct. 31.

After arriving at headquarters, Deputy Superintendent Watts, revealed the information on which the arrest was made. He received word, he said, last evening from former State Representative William H. Hahn, a lawyer of Newton Centre, that William Hahn, a druggist of Newton Centre, had sold cyanide of potassium to the minister, whom he knew well on the night of October 10.

Richeson Unmoved.
The setting of Oct. 31 as the date for the further hearing of Mr. Richeson in the municipal court developed a coincidence in the fact that the day is that on which he was to have been married.

But neither the announcement of the date or other happening in connection with either his arrest or court appearance seemed to disturb the prisoner to any great extent. Even when faced by the man who had more to do, probably, than any other person with his arrest, William Hahn, the Newton druggist who declared that Richeson purchased a quantity of cyanide of potassium from his week ago Tuesday, the minister was unperturbed, apparently.

Dined With Richeson the Day of Her Death.
Chief of Police Dugan says he has conclusive proof that the girl left the Y. W. C. A. building on Warren street on the day of her death at 2 o'clock to have dinner with Richeson, who was then in the house about 6 o'clock that same night.

About an hour later the girl was found dead. Dugan says that the Thursday before the day girl was murdered, he got a call to the telephone. On returning her roommate and other friends she told them that she had been invited out to dine Saturday with "him."

Froached Sermon on "Sudden Deaths."
Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson ate dinner last Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Riley, 22 Oxford street, Somerville, but he was so ill that according to Riley, who talked freely last evening, he took less than half a dozen mouthfuls.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley have perhaps an intimate acquaintance with Rev. Mr. Richeson as say of his congregation, having been members of the Cambridge church of which he is pastor for the past 22 years.

RHEUMATISM FOR FIFTEEN YEARS!
I had suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years—sometimes so badly I had to use crutches—and could get nothing to help me. I saw your No. 7 Tablets advertised and decided to give them a trial. I procured a box, and in a very short time I got relief from the pain. I had taken five boxes the Rheumatism had all left me. After 18 months it returned—I got another box, and now I am free from Rheumatism. I can conscientiously recommend your remedy to all sufferers from Rheumatism. Your No. 7 Tablets are great—worth their weight in gold.

Girl With Minister the Day Before Her Death.
Hann, Oct. 20.—Miss Avis Linnell and Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson were seen together in the South Station, Boston, on Friday afternoon, Oct. 13, the day before her tragic death. By George Baker, a brakeman on the Hingham road, freight, according to his statement tonight, after all this rest for the other victims, it is doubtful if he will be sent into the box in the next game, although I expect him to be, because he is such a good fall pitcher.

Mr. Baker explains that on Friday afternoon he had gone to the South Station, previous to becoming involved in the freight train to Hingham and was watching those who took the 4:38 express to Hingham and Provincetown, to see whom he knew among them.

It was this train that Miss Linnell, the mother of Avis, took to Hingham and the girl accompanied her to the train. Then, Mr. Baker says, she came from the platform to the train and there met Rev. Mr. Richeson, and the two left the station together by the main entrance.

Mr. Baker knew both of them well, the girl from babyhood. Rev. Mr. Richeson during his pastorate at Hingham, and he says that he made no mistake. He was surprised, he says, to see them together, in view of the rumors that the minister had left the Hingham church because of trouble and that the engagement was broken, and for that very reason he observed them carefully.

He did not, however, give the incident any more thought until the news of the girl's death and the connection of her name with that of Rev. Mr. Richeson.

Mr. Baker says that the Rev. Mr. Richeson had the reputation here of being eccentric; that he would walk the streets, his hands behind his back and his head hanging down, saying no word to anyone. He thought that Miss Linnell appeared Friday as usual, in good health and happy.

Avis Linnell, a 19-year-old girl, whose home was in Hingham, Mass., was found dead in the bathroom of the Y. W. C. A. here last Saturday evening. At first it was believed she had committed suicide but later developments indicated that she had been murdered. She was engaged to be married to Rev. Mr. Richeson, a young man, which she used in the belief that it would help her.

Miss Linnell had previously been a friend of the Rev. Mr. Richeson, who was a trustee of the Newton Theological Institution, where Mr. Richeson studied for the ministry.

Richeson is 35 years of age and is a native of Roseland, Va. His pastorate at Hingham, Mass., was his first regular charge.

Many Aboard Have Scurvy and Are Terribly Emaciated
Sandford Arrested on an Old Charge on His Arrival—Coronet Had a Terrific Voyage—Seven Died of Disease—No Food for Days.

Portland, Me., Oct. 12.—As the climax to months of hardships, during which he and his little band of followers who had suffered from hunger and thirst as they sought Coronet was buffeted about by the leader of the Holy Ghost and his Society of Shiloh, was brought to this city to-night in the custody of the county authorities.

His arrest was made on a writ in a civil suit brought by Mrs. Florence A. Wintaker, wife of one of the Holy Ghost and his Society of Shiloh, who alleges that she was illegally detained aboard the Kingdom for nearly a year, and that she was released on habeas corpus proceedings on June 11, and since then the authorities have been awaiting the appearance of the Kingdom, within the jurisdiction of the state that they might place him under arrest.

When Sandford was brought ashore from the Coronet, which swings at anchor off the quarantine station, and which was released on habeas corpus proceedings on June 11, and since then the authorities have been awaiting the appearance of the Kingdom, within the jurisdiction of the state that they might place him under arrest.

Many Have Scurvy.
Tonight two men were brought ashore from the Coronet, and placed in a local hospital, both suffering with scurvy. Seven others, six men and one child, died of the same disease and were buried at sea during the past few months, according to statements made by members of the crew. Many others had touches of scurvy.

The men taken to the hospital tonight were John Cunningham, a sailor, whose home is in Canada, and John Holter, a missionary in Africa. Both are in a serious condition. Although the Coronet made port early in the day, it was not until yesterday morning that any one other than the health officers were allowed to board her. Immediately the quarantine flag was lowered, Deputy Sheriff Arthur McKnight, of Cumberland county, who has been waiting for hours, clambered over the side and took Elijah Sandford into custody. He was landed on the shore.

Capt. Everett Knight and several members of the crew of the Coronet came ashore after the quarantine was removed, the former to telephone to Chief Shiloh for a launch to take charge of the yacht and relieve the worn-out sailors.

Not a sail of her original suit of canvas was left whole and there was a foot of water in the cabin when the Coronet entered the harbor and dropped anchor off the quarantine station today. Her flying jibboom, both her jibs and foremast were carried away in recent storms and her hull was split to ribbons. The pumps were being worked continually.

Larder Empty.
In the vessel's larder there was not a loaf of bread and no fresh meat and the lips of the religious seafarers for many days. So exhausted and weakened were the crew and passengers that it is doubtful if they could have kept their craft afloat for many days.

For four months the Coronet had struggled against the elements as she beat her way up the coast, but never once did her crew despair, and they were kept busy from passing vessels being the food for the crew and passengers.

The Coronet has been at sea since June 22, when she left from a Haytian port and was last reported on September 22, when she was sighted by the steamer Lapland flying signals which indicated that she was short of provisions. The Lapland was sent to her aid, and at that time the Coronet was off Cape Sable.

For the last week the staunch craft has been beating her way along the coast, her crew despairing of reaching port. On board were fifty-five people, including Rev. Sandford and his wife and five children. Besides the thirty-one survivors of the wreck of the barkentine Kingdom, there were twenty-five persons who were on the Coronet when she left Maine waters.

The party included 11 children, ranging in age from four to sixteen years of age, and had nineteen badly bodied men. Worn by the terrible hardships of months at sea.

Half starved and with faces emaciated, it was a ghastly looking company of seafarers which confronted the boarding party at quarantine. For seven days the men and women have been working incessantly at the pumps in reliefs of three watchers, and the terrible labor in their weakened condition had reduced even the strongest men of the crew to mere skeletons, as compared with their former selves. While they worked at the pumps, men and women prayed incessantly for relief.

In this storm every small boat was smashed to kindling wood, and if the yacht had foundered the Shilohites would all have perished without a chance to save themselves.
