

- Sabbath-day, and redding up drawers, 74.
 Sabbath-day, eggs ought not to be laid on, 74.
 Sabbath-day known by a hare, 74.
 Sabbath day, where children go who play marbles on, 35.
 Sabbath desecration, geologist in the Highlands, 72.
 Sabbath desecration, stopping the jack for, 72.
 Sandy, fine specimen of old servant, 129.
 'Sayawa', sir; we're a' sittin' to cheat the dowry, 88.
 Scotchman, notion of things in London, 16.
 Scotchman of the old school, judgment of, upon an Englishman, 279.
 Scotchman on losing his wife and cow, 316.
 Scotch minister and his diary regarding quarrels with wife, 312.
 Scott, Dr., minister of Carlisle, 274.
 Scott, Dr., on his parishioners dancing, 274.
 Scott, Rev. Robert, his idea of Nelson's order, 276.
 Scott, Rev. R., of Cranwell, anecdote of young carpenter, 139.
 Scott, Sir Walter, and the blacksmith on the battle of Flodden, 277.
 Scott, Sir Walter, did not write poetry in Scottish dialect, 40.
 Scott, Sir Walter, his story of sale of antiques, 183.
 Scott, Sir Walter, his story of two relatives who joined the Pretender, 183.
 Scott, Sir Walter, just in time to save Minstrelsy of the Border, 11.
 Scotland, past and present, 354.
 Scottishisms, expressive, pointed, and pithy, 181, 182.
 Scottishisms, remarks on, by Sir John Sinclair and Dr. Beattie, 20.
 Scottish architect on English leases, 23.
 Scottish boy cleverness, 253, 254.
 Scottish conviviality, old, 101.
 Scottish cookery, 345.
 Scottish dialect, difference between Aberdeen and Southern Scotch, 217.
 Scottish dialect, reference of, to English, 185.
 Scottish dialect, specimens of, 178, 179.
 Scottish economy, specimen of, in London, 180.
 Scottish elders and ministers, anecdotes of, 71.
 Scottish expressions, examples of peculiar applications, 202-206.
 Scottish expressions, illustrated by a letter to a young married lady from an old aunt, 207-209.
 Scottish gentleman in London, 16.
 Scottish humour and Scottish wit, 169.
 Scottish humour, specimen of, in a life lass, 246.
 Scottish minstrelsy, 11.
 Scottish music, charm of, 42.
 Scottish peasantry, character of, 70.
 Scottish peasantry, religious feelings of, 70.
 Scottish peasantry, religious feelings of, changed, 65.
 Scottish phraseology, articles on, in Blackwood, 38.
 Scottish psalm-tunes, some written by operatives, 49.
 Scottish shepherd and Lord Cockburn, 71.
 Scottish shepherd and Lord Rutherford, 70.
 Scottish songs, collections of, 46, 47.
 Scottish stories of wit and humour, 243.
 Scottish verses, charm of, 41.
 Scottish words of French derivation, 348, 349.
 Scottishness of the national humour, 246.
 Seceder, an old, would not enter parish church, 301.
 Secession Church, professor in, to a young student, 301.
 Sedan chairs, 176.
 Sermon consumed by mice, 30.
 Sermons, change of character of, 84.
 Servant and dog Pickle at Yester, 134-5.
 Servant, answer of, to his irascible master, 123.
 Servant, answer of, when told to go, 129.
 Servant and Lord Lothian, 134.
 Servant, Mrs. Murray, and the spoon, 132.
 Servant of Mrs. Ferguson of Pitfour, 143.
 Servant of Mrs. Fullerton of Montrose, 143.
 Servant, old, reason for doing as he liked, 141.
 Servant praying for her mistress, 300.
 Servant taxed with being drunk, his answer, 263.
 Servants, domestic Scottish, 127.
 'She juist felled herself at Craigo w' a straeberries and 'ream,' 193.