THIS VETERAN GIVES REASONS

Why he Pins his Faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills

Worn Out With Chronic Kidney Disease—The Great Canadian Kidney Remedy Banished His Pains.

Acadie Side, Kent Co., N. B., June 19.—(Special).—Calixto Richard, J. P., one of the most highly respected men in this part of the country, has joined the great army of those who pin their faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills. As usual Mr. Richard has good reasons for what he does and he states them as follows:

"I have been troubled with Kidney Disease for forty years and the result was I found myself a worn out man at seventy-two. But after using two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I find all my pains are gone and I can employ all my days with the best results. I cannot let the opportunity pass of letting the public know the great good Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all rheumatic pains by removing the cause—Uric acid in the blood. They put vigor and energy in place of the pain.

Three Kinds of Dressers.

A clever woman has summed up her sex who succeed in the art of dress in three classes this wise: The good dressers, the clever dressers and the intellectual dressers, but of these last there is a hopeless minority. Intellectual dressing depends on one's power of imagination, and of this inward and spiritual grace there is a sad deficiency. The lady should add to this the fast pocketbook, which alone makes it possible to employ the "dress artist" to think for her client and keep her in the intellectual path.—Boston Herald.

HOW TO GET CONSUMPTION.

Ninety per cent. of the "lungers" contract consumption by allowing power of resistance to fall so low that a favorable condition for the development of the bacilli is provided. In a healthy system consumption can't take root. But where there is weakness and debility, there you find tuberculosis. For developing strength and building up the weak, nothing equals Ferro-China. It makes the blood nutritious and the nerves enduring. The way it converts food into nutriment, the appetite gives is surprising. Just what the man verging on consumption needs—that's Ferro-China. If tired and weak don't put off. Fifty cents buys a box of fifty tablets—at all dealers.

Baked Beets.

Baked beets will taste those who are fond of this vegetable in other forms. After boiling till soft slice and lay out on a butter. On each slice place a bit of butter and salt to taste, next a little paprika dusted lightly over the whole. Upon this place another layer of slices and bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven, basting carefully at intervals. Minced parsley is to be sprinkled over this dish just before serving.

THE WATCHWORD OF WOMEN.

Modesty is woman's watchword. Whatever threatens her delicate sense of modesty frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits diseases of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questioning, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which some physicians find necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to true modesty. Any sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence; all letters being treated as strictly private and answered by plain envelopes with no advertising or other printing upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as "a God-send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

Wireless in Britain.

Recently the British Government so far recognized the importance of the wireless system as to permit wireless telegrams to be handled through the postal telegraph offices of the United Kingdom. Commenting upon this, The London Daily News says there could hardly have been a more brilliant opening for the scientific side of the new year than lies in the simple fact that from the smallest British country village the word "Lucania" will be a sufficient telegraphic address for a vessel that is plowing the Atlantic.

DRINKS OF THE WORLD

MANY AND WIERD ARE CONCOCTIONS OF THE DRINKERS.

Emil Nécaille has "Listed" 843 American Drinks, But There Are 11,704 Which Have Never Been Served in the United States—Characteristic of the Beverages of Many Peoples—Ten Drops a "Jag."

Emil Nécaille, "mixologist," for 31 years the most famous bartender in New Orleans, has compiled a book in which he sets forth the drinks of the world.

The American who has run the gamut from sice gin balls to poets' dreams, imbibed everything from a Tom Collins to a Bourbon with a dash of bitters, is merely an amateur drink compared with the array of drinks that are served to the nations of the world.

Nécaille has listed 843 American drinks—or naturalized drinks—that are worthy of place in his book, whereas he has an array of 11,704 mixed and straight drinks that, so far as he can find out, have never been served in the United States.

Every Drink Except Two Injurious. To add to the value of the compilation—which has taken twenty-six years of work and research, of correspondence with governments, with travelers, with bartenders in other countries—Nécaille adds a note in which he says that every one of the drinks he describes is injurious to the greater or lesser degree and each one aids in the degeneration of the peoples who use them—except, possibly, a fermentation of goat's milk found in northern Siberia and a wild honey fermentation discovered in central Australia. The others he declares are positively harmful to the drinker and, to support his argument he records seventeen races of men among whom alcoholic beverages are unknown and proves, to his own satisfaction at least, that these peoples are the happiest and healthiest on earth.

The compilation of drinks is a remarkable one. Nécaille awards to the Russians the doubtful honor of being the greatest drunkards and the most cosmopolitan drunkards, and to the Swedes the distinction of having invented the most drinks—and the best tasting drinks. He declares the drinks of the Germans (that is, having no drinks) are the most harmful, and he declares brandy the worst drink, outclassing whisky, beer, or wine in extent of evil and in results.

Russia a Nation of Drunkards.

"Russia," says Nécaille, "is the greatest drinking country in the world. The Russians drink more violent spirits than any other nation, and they have a greater tolerance of drink, despite the fact that vodka supplies the place of wine, beer, whisky and brandy with the great mass of the population."

"But the Russians must yield to the Georgians—their dependents—in amount drunk per capita. The Georgian is never sober, and he brings death and manages to keep in this condition on wine. Men and women are always befuddled, caused mainly by a mixture of ether with light wines."

Iceland follows as a nation of drunkards. They drink everything known, importing from Sweden and from America and England. Fermented vinegar, sweetened with sirup, with a dash of brandy, is one of the favorite drinks. The Icelanders have a drink concocted from the glands of the whale that is terrific in its effect, although only ten drops are used in a glass of sweet wine or sweetened water.

The most delicious drink, which the New Orleans "mixologist" awards the prize, even over his beloved absinthe, was sent to him in a bottle by a correspondent who found it in central Australia, where it was used by the natives who dared the unknown quantities of their home "booze without becoming afflicted," as he poetically writes it. The Australians are an example. They swallowed the honey-peppermint decoction in immense quantities, went all to pieces under mead from New South Wales.

"Berbers, in northern Africa, have learned this lesson," he writes. "They drink great quantities of delicious home made wine, made from grapes, but refuse and become true Mohammedans when offered foreign drinks. They drink a mixture of sour wine with fermented goats' milk which is said to taste better than fish sounds."

Knockout Drops in Africa.

One of the greatest drinks Nécaille found was among the Uganda natives in Africa, called abany, wine, which, like cider, or an Indian, is good only for a few days. The bananas, whole, are placed in a hole in the ground lined with green leaves and tramped. Then water is added, the hole covered and left for a few days, when hay is mixed into it. Then it is placed in a wooden trough and water is added and the mass stirred. The liquid drips into pans, and for twenty-four hours is delicious, then it ferments and becomes a rival of the famous "dynamite" of London slums, made of other mixed with wine or beer.

"Abany," which is the Uganda drink, is declared worse than the bino of the Philippines, which the natives have learned to mix with gins.

"The Bulgarians," says the bartender, "would make ideal customers. They drink light sour wines, mixed with water. At festivals they drink freely but never fight, row, quarrel, or sing."

"The queerest drinks in the world are participated in by the Koriaks and the Kamchathans of northeast Siberia. Whole tribes numbering hundreds of men and women, get drunk and stay drunk weeks at a time on the fly mushroom. They need no mixing of drinks. Either to eat the fungus or to drink the water in which it may be boiled means one glorious round of pleasure for a week or more."

Vodka in a Dozen Ways.

"The Burials of Siberia acquire their passionate love of drinking from the Russians. They drink from the cradle—vodka, diluted in a dozen ways. They drink also fermented goats' milk, something like kumys, which they mix with intoxicants. The children smoke at 6 years and drink before that."

"One drink, which has been imported into England as a medicine, is the famous drink from the root of the pepper tree, made by the Fijians and used at their great festivals, where everyone gets 'soosed.' This drink is hot and not unlike the red pepper and celery drinks found among Spanish-Americans. It is sold as a stomach tonic in England. The Fijians also have a wine from a vegetable like the tomato, and a bread fruit drink."

The cordials open a new line. The most delicious is the Yorkshire Violet, made from the crushed flower, home brewed. It is mixed with liquors and holds the delicious flavor of the flower. The cordial brewed from wild honey in Abyssinia is also delicious. The Abyssinians make the best mead in the world from barley and wild honey. They live on the other side of the earth, so perhaps, everything is backward there—at least the temperance cranks rave about the drinking of milk and coffee, and forbid it by law, and the lips of any native who smokes are cut off."

The Admiralty Islanders know nothing of intoxicating drinks, the nearest they come to them is a coconut milk mixture, served in carved tortoise shells, beautifully mounted on tridacna shells. The contrast is furnished by the Apone tribe in French Congo, which uses huge quantities of palm wine. These people drink, quarrel and fight, and give huge quantities at which everybody "gets a beautiful bun on." The palm wine is made by cutting the leaf stems of the palm trees, and catching the drippings, which are allowed to ferment. The natives squeeze lime juice into the wine, making a kind of ricki.

"The tribes of India," writes the bar keep historian, "all drink." There are 173 different drinks given in the British reports besides those imported.

Ten Drops Means "Jag."

"The most deadly drink on earth that is used commonly as a beverage is isohyaline, used in fatal. It is sixty-two times as strong as any known alcohol and ten drops means a 'jag.'"

"The Todas—the supposed Jews of upper India—drink neat brandy out of mugs and the Samoyedes, in Siberia, swallow brandy by handfuls. The Moros, whose national drink is a tea made of a delicious brandy from figs and wines from grapes and dates—all being mildly intoxicating. Opium is added to some of the drinks. The natives of New Guinea, since civilization arrived, have learned to make beverages from yams and sugar cane and mix the sugar cane drink with a cordial made from the flower like the honey suckle."

The Katos of India are all drunkards, making an excellent palm wine. The Ishegos, in French Congo, make a fermented drink from palm sap and excellent plantain wine.

Mongols drink grape wines and brandy made from fruits and milk. The New Caledonians, besides their native wines, are addicted to French drinks, especially absinthe. The Moros in the Philippines drink bino and palm wine. There are fifty-three different kinds of millet drinks known in Africa and all or most of them are mixed with honey, palm or banana fermentations.

"The best use of drink I have found," concludes the bartender, "is of the hesuine, made by the Niams in equatorial Africa. This is melted into an intoxicating beer, used to drive devils and goblins away from the towns. I received from a French explorer one quart of hesuine and can guarantee it to serve the purpose."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

Fine Cut Facts.

Spain was the first nation to equip foot soldiers with muskets.

There are said to be 230 glaciers in the Alps over five miles in length.

In Cairo at the present time there is an endowment in operation founded expressly for the lodging and feeding of homeless cats.

Owing to the high price of British coal, the Swedish Government is extending largely the use of turf as fuel for its good locomotives on State railways.

Chinese firemen seem to be immune to the fierce heat of the stockhold in ocean steamers, and can stand temperatures that would speedily prostrate white men.

Arabia has the reputation of being one of the hottest and unhealthiest regions on the globe, but all northern Arabia has a winter season, with cold rains and occasional frosts.

SIR JAMES WATSON'S OPINION.

He says that the commonest of all disorders, and one from which few escape is Catarrh. Sir James firmly believes in local treatment, which is best supplied by "Catarrhazone." No case of Catarrh can exist where Catarrhazone is used; it is a miracle worker, relieves almost instantly and cures after other remedies fail. The diseased parts like Catarrhazone because it goes to the rescue of the trouble along with the air you breathe. Catarrhazone is free from cocaine, it leaves no bad after-effects, it is simply nature's own cure. Accept no substitute for Catarrhazone which alone can cure Catarrh.

Apples and Milk.

"A diet of apples and milk is most wholesome and well balanced," says The New York World. The stomach contents of both are high, and they yield nourishment for brain, bone and muscle, having a soothing effect upon the nerves. The apples should not be pared, as the ash contents of the skin are valuable to the human system."

HAVE YOU HEARTBURN?

It's quite common with people whose digestion is poor. Immediate relief follows the use of Nerviline. Stomach is strengthened, digestion is made perfect, lasting cure results in every case. Use Polson's Nerviline once and you'll never be without it because every type of stomach disorder is conquered by a few doses. One 25c. bottle of Nerviline always convinces. Sold everywhere for the past fifty years.

"Black Snow."

A strange phenomenon has been witnessed recently in the snow region about Coire, in the Swiss canton of the Grisons. The wide stretch of snow has suddenly been transformed into a vast sweep of jet black. This is owing to the sudden falling upon the country of enormous swarms of a small black insect, without wings, but provided with two long legs that permit him to move after the way of a grasshopper. These insects fall in such clouds that the people of the Grisons call them "black snow."

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION; DENVER, COLO., JULY 5th-9th, 1905.
