WORLD OF SPORT

LACROSSE

A GOOD GAME.

Without Webster, Grant, Hutchinson or Elliott, four of our best defense fielders, the Chatham lacrosse team went to Wallaceburg yesterday and held that strong aggregation down to a tie score, 5 to 5. Had these four players been on, or even two of them, Webster and Grant, well, all know what would have surely happened, for as Capt. Babcock said, Wallaceburg are due for a trimming on their own grounds, and, it might be said right here, Wallaceburg can again be thanked for a lucky win. However, they are good sports, and we hope to have a couple more games with them this year.

By some misunderstanding, no referee showed up. Capt. Wilson and Capt. Babcock agreed on Mr. Appleford, a Wallaceburg man, for first half, and Mr. Coupland, of Chatham, for last half. Both of these gentlemen gave good satisfaction. Mr. Appleford made a mistake when he ruled Higley off for 10 minutes, and Mr. Coupland made a mistake when he didn't give Taylor, of the Burg team, 10 minutes instead of two minutes, for slashing Thomas over the head and cutting him badly. This man Taylor is not the clearest man on the Burg team. It was he who put "Shillington" out in the other game at Wallaceburg the first of the season.

With the exception of Taylor, every man on the Burg team played clean lacrosse. The checking was hard and close. "Pet" Lawlor was nowhere to be seen. Higley had him smothered, and only once did he come to life and score a goal—when Higley was to the fence for 10 minutes. The Chatham home played beautifully; every man did good work. Wilson put up the best game he has yet played this year. O'Connor, Ross and Knight worked hard, O'Connor checking two men all the time. Thomas' shots were of the bullet variety. He had been sick before the game, but as Chatham was short one player he pluckily consented to go in the game. Dowling was all over his check and he seldom lost the ball.

With the full team on the Detroit-Chatham game at Blenheim next Tuesday it should be a hummer. Wallaceburg had the better of the game at the start off. The Chatham players did not seem to round into working shape until near the end of the game.

At the end of the first quarter the score stood 2-0 for Wallaceburg; at the end of the second it was 3-1 for Wallaceburg. The third quarter showed a change to 4-3 for Wallaceburg.

The last quarter was the exciting one. Chatham scored first, tying the score to 4-4. Wallaceburg scored next and Chatham came up with another. The Chatham goals were scored by Thomas 2, Angus 2, Wilson 1.

Capt. Babcock deserves great credit for the game. He was on the field to captain his team, and it is putting it mildly to say, in the language of the small boy, that he is a "peach." He was always on top of the ball and directing his men. The citizens of Chatham should all turn out and support his game with Detroit, which will be played next Tuesday at Blenheim.

The following was the line-up yesterday:—

Goal—Jahnke.

Point—Feard.

C. Point—Hayden.

First Def.—Knight.

Second—F. Ross.

Third—Higley.

Centre—B. Ross.

First Home—O'Connor.

Second—Bowling.

Third—Thomas.

Outside—Angus.

Inside—Wilson.

This was the first game played for the Gray cup.

BOWLING.

BOWLERS BEATEN.

D. A. C. beat Chatham on the D. A. C. green in lawn bowling yesterday by a score of 29 to 39. This is the oldest defeat of this kind by a young first time Chatham has visited the D. A. C., but it is more than likely that other contests will follow, as the Canadians will not relish a de-club like the Detroiters at this game.

MACEDONIAN TROUBLES.

Four Thousand Turks Bombarding

Krusheva.

Salonica, Aug. 14.—It is reported that the Bulgarian insurgents have massacred the inhabitants of the large

Turkish village of Kenati, near Mono-astir, only twenty escaping. The civil and military authorities at Salonica

wired to Constantinople, August 11, stating that a general insurrection was expected for August 14, and disclaiming all responsibility unless they were reinforced. Constantinople replied, ordering the enrollment immediately of two thousand exclusively Mussulman gendarmes for service in Salonica. The insurgent banner was unfurled August 10, at Koskio, near Giergievci,

showing that the insurrection is spreading eastward. Four thousand troops are being sent from Krushova, which is in the hands of the insurgents. Trustworthy information from Cegani, in the district of Florina, says that the Turks have decided to murder the Austrian Consul. It is stated that the French and Italian Consuls in Monastir are in danger of their lives from Turkish troops. Fighting is proceeding at Chernareka, near Gumenjo.

PICKED UP AT SEA.

Small Boy, Naked and Almost Dead,

in a Boat.

New York, Aug. 14.—The Morgan

Line steamer Eldorado, Capt. Prescott, which arrived here yesterday from

Galveston, had on board a 12-year-old boy who was found adrift in an open boat about 100 miles off the coast of Georgia on August 10. He was naked and almost dead from exposure. After the lad had been revived somewhat

he told Captain Prescott that with two other boys he was fishing outside the harbor of Havana, when the boat broke adrift and they were unable to row it ashore. Two of the lads, seeing the land rapidly receding, plunged into the water and swam for shore. The other boy was unable to swim so far and remained in the boat without food or water until picked up by the Eldorado.

He says he was adrift for five days.

Captain Prescott thinks the boat could not have drifted 530 miles from Havana to the point where it was sighted

in less than six days and possibly longer.

CANADA OUT TO BOAT.

THE IRONDEQUOT WON THE FIFTH AND FINAL RACE.

A Desperate Struggle in Weather Which Mostly Favored the Challenger—The Cup Presented.

There is not a great deal to be said about the decisive race for Canada's Cup. Irondequoit won yesterday by 1 minute and 22 seconds, and the trophy goes to the Rochester Yacht Club.

There was a south or south-south-west wind, about 8 miles an hour, and no sea. This was supposed to suit Strathcona. The course was triangular, 7 miles a leg, but this was supposed to be unfavorable for Strathcona, from past showing, was not strong in reaching—and in the ordinary course of events reaching would make up two-thirds of the course.

Both ashore and afloat, the attendance was larger than on any other day, showing the interest taken in the struggle. One of the fleet of onlookers was the Merrythought, with the family of Commodore Jarvis, one of them at the crosshead cheering encouragement to the defender.

The judges on the Cleopatra signalled a start for 11:15.00, and from the preparatory note Strathcona stood out for the weather berth. The first leg was a beat right into the wind, and for half an hour Commodore Jarvis and Mr. Hannan fought for position. It would be tedious to count all the jibes and other twists and turns to change their relative positions, but Strathcona succeeded in keeping away.

Round and round they went, almost on a pivot, and occasionally Irondequoit would take a turn around the Cleopatra, anchored at one end of the line, but the result was always the same. Each carried forward only a jib and a staysail. For ease of twisting, the jib tops were in stops, waiting until the starting line was crossed.

Finally, a few seconds before the whistle, Irondequoit turned and ran alongside of Cleopatra, around the stern, just as the start was given, and across the line 9 seconds later. Mr. Hannan had timed the signal with more accuracy, and took from Commodore Jarvis at the last moment the advantage for which he was struggling more than half an hour. Strathcona started across the line over half a minute after the signal, and in an inferior position to leeward.

The starting signal was 11:15.00, and Irondequoit crossed at 11:15.09 and Strathcona at 11:15.35. This does not in the least indicate a comparison of skippers. The truth is that Irondequoit was the better boat, and Mr. Hannan, judging the signal time even with no greater accuracy than Commodore Jarvis, was able to beat him at the critical moment. Yet the race was not lost then, though Irondequoit had a start of 26 seconds, because it was evident throughout the long chase which followed that the challenger had always something up her sleeve. Both went away on the starboard tack, and it was obviously the duty of Commodore Jarvis to shake himself free. But try as he would, Irondequoit always imitated, and kept in windward. Strathcona was quicker in stays, but could not draw out. This lasted until 11:45.00, when Strathcona, giving up that particular kind of struggle, stood away out into the lake on the starboard tack, to see, perchance, if there might not be another wind. There was another wind, but not what Strathcona wanted, for it freshened and stirred up a choppy sea, which bothered her.

It was 27 minutes later when they went about and stood for the buoy, all buoys to port. The beat was finished, Irondequoit 12:47.50; Strathcona, 12:49.29. Irondequoit was 1.39 ahead, and having 26 seconds start, made the beat 1.13 ahead. Irondequoit was a close haul; Irondequoit let down the jib topsail, and put up a large one, while the Strathcona also dropped the jib topsail and substituted a reaching foresail and a balloon jib. Strathcona slowly overhauled her opponent, but Mr. Hannan was on the watch, and in 35 minutes he set a balloon jib in stops and waited. As Strathcona continued to gain, the balloon jib was allowed to break out at 1:27.30. Thereafter the race was a procession. There was always something in reserve on Irondequoit, and do as she might Strathcona could not overtake her.

The leg was completed, Irondequoit 1:42.27; Strathcona, 1:43.37. The Irondequoit was 1.12 ahead, but had lost 27 seconds on the beach. At the finish, after another broad reach, the time was: Irondequoit, 2:48.55; Strathcona, 2:42.17. Irondequoit finished 1.22 ahead, but had lost 10 seconds on the beach.

The Niagara, in charge of Captain Cook, carried a large number of passengers each day, and they saw the races under the best auspices, for he knew how to keep in the best position and never interfered with the racers.

The cause of all the trouble, the Canada's Cup, was formally handed over to Commodore Van Voorhis of the Rochester Yacht Club by Commodore Ae. Jarvis of the R. C. Y. C. last night at a gathering of the yachtmen held at the Island club house. Naturally the Rochester representatives were in high glee over their victory, and when the skipper of the vanquished craft presented the silver "mug" to Commodore Van Voorhis there were cheers for everybody and a big one for Skipper Arthur Hannan of New York, who more than anyone else was responsible for the American yacht's triumph. Commodore Jarvis in making the presentation said that the Rochester club deserved it. When the General of Rochester won the cup by defeating the Beaver the trophy went to the Chicago Yacht Club, the challenging parties, but this time the Rochester yachtmen got all that was "coming to them." The better boat won, he said, and he had no excuse to offer. Commodore Van Voorhis made a brief speech in reply. There was nothing said about a challenge next year, but it is altogether likely that the R. C. Y. C. will try and win back the cup next year.
