The hearth is swept—the fire is bright— The kettle sings for tea; The cloth is spread-the lamps are light,

The hot cakes smoke in napkins white, And now I wait for thee.

Come home, love, home, thy task is done; The clock ticks list'ningly; The blinds are shut—the curtains down— The warm chair to the fireside drawn, The boy is on my knee.

Come home, love, home-his deep, fond eye Looks round him wistfully; And when the whispering winds go by, As if thy welcome step were nigh, He crows exultingly.

In vain-he finds the welcome vain, And turus his glance on mine, So earnestly, that yet again His form unto my heart I strain, That glance is so like thine.

Thy task is done-we miss thee here: Where'er thy footsteps ro No hand will spread such kindly cheer, No beating heart, no listening ear, Like these will wait thee home.

Aha! along the crisp walks fast That well-known step doth come, The bolt is drawn-the gate is past-The babe is wild with joy at last-A thousand welcomes home!

From the Spirit of the Times. AN ILLINOIS JUDGE.

Not very many years ago there were some tolerably rough characters on the Illinois bench. Among them was to be numbered old Judge B-, of Salem, con-cerning whom they tell some pretty hard stories, which may or may not be true. One night, while the Grand Jury happened to be sitting, Judge B-, with the whole Court at his back, got royally drunk at the Eagle Saloon, and raised a devil of a row. It was the next day when the Court assembled, and they were all rather red about the eyes and husky in the throat, that the Judge mustered all his dignity and took his place. The Clerk opened the COLORS THE HAIR, AND WILL NOT THE SKIN. This dye may be applied to the hair over night, the first night turning the lightest RED or GREY HAIR to a dark brown, and by repeating a second night, to a bright jet black. Any person may, therefore, with the least possible trouble, keep his hair any dark shade or perfect black; with a positive assurance that the dye, if applied to the skin, will not color it. By an occasional application, a person turning grey will never be known to have a grey hair. Directions complete with the article. There is no coloring in this statement, as one can easily test.
