BRIDGES DESTROYED.
Bulletin, London, June 24.—All but one of the bridges left for the Austrian retreat across the Piave have been destroyed by the Italian artillery, according to advices received here this afternoon. It is added that enormous booty has been taken by the Italians.

From the Montello southeast to the Adriatic the Austrians have been cut from the entire west. The Piave with the exception of a small section in the vicinity of Mutille, nearly opposite San Dona di Piave, where the struggle is continuing.

STANAGE VALUABLE MAN.

Detroit, June 25.—Before another week is up Oscar Stanage expects to be in the game again.

The return of Stanage will help the Tigers; that is an absolute certainty. But how much help he will give depends upon the condition of the thumb of his throwing hand, which he fractured several weeks ago.

As far as Stanage is concerned the injury was a good thing, for, by removing him from the game, his real value was emphasized as never before, and as it could not possibly be under any other circumstance.

Never has a player with the ability of Stanage received as little credit as Detroit's titanic backstop. We do not mean that other players and writers and owners lacked in appreciation and realization of his value, but the general public never quite knew his worth.

Stanage is so good that he looks bad. To illustrate this peculiar statement we will recall a case for comparison.

A few years ago Detroit had a catcher named Del Baker. He was a trifle under medium height, rather light and exceptionally fast. Also, he was one of the most nervous men of his age in the United States of America.

Baker, nervous, was always in action. He jumped around in back of the plate and contributed more movements to each minute of the game when his team had the field than any player we have ever seen. And it made Baker popular.

"These, that's the kind of catcher I like to see. Lots of pep, plenty of action, always alert, always alert, we have heard fans say time and time again."

And there was Stanage, a hitching post by comparison. "Look at him, no life, no energy, no ambition, always asleep, a goldfish that guy," these same critics would remark.

But to go further on in the investigation. Ask the pitcher. The pitcher knows, for it's his business to know and to his advantage. Did they like Baker No. Why? Here is a facsimile answer:

"Always hopping around. Can't depend on him. Nervous. Gets excited. Gets you nervous. No balance to his work. Always juggling his arms and legs."

The very features that made Baker popular with fandom removed his value as a catcher.

Stanage? Sure, Stanage. They like him.

REGULATIONS
OF FOODBOARD ARE AMENDED

Restrictions Now Apply to Boarding Houses, Clubrooms and Schools

Recent regulations issued by the Canada Food Board, automatically cancelling all former restrictions on meals to be served at public eating houses, and including in the list of places where meals are served, a clutch of new places, will also come under the ban.

While provision has been made for extending over a wider scope to include private boarding houses, picnics, lodge dinners and similar social events, some amendments have been made and will shortly be published in the Canada Gazette, which are more lenient regarding the restrictions on the serving of meats. No change has been made in the regulations governing the quantity of bread and wheat products to be served.

Those Included
By the order received by Chief Slemin, in addition to the public eating houses formerly affected by orders of the Canada Food Board, in the future all edicts issued will apply to club-rooms, private families, where boarders are kept, all boarding houses and schools and all individual homes, where others than immediate members of the family are served with meals.

Whereas all parts of pork carcasses were on the prohibited list under order 25, in future several different cuts will be exempted, including tenderloins and spare ribs, as cut by the packers. Beef and veal steaks, many of chunks, brisquets, plates, flanks and leftovers, may now be served at any midday meal.

Breakfast, the midday meal and supper will also be determined on a different basis in the future. The morning meal may be served from 5.30 until 10 o'clock and the midday meal from 11.30 a.m. until 2.30 p.m. the same as hitherto, but the evening meal will now be limited to the hours between 5.30 and 9.30 o'clock, as compared with from 5 o'clock to 9 o'clock as formerly.

Canada Food Board regulations in the future will also apply to public entertainments, lawa socials, public luncheons, dinners and picnics, fairs, exhibitions and lodge, club or fraternal society meetings, where food is served; private and semi-private luncheons and picnics, where more than 15 persons are served, will also come under the ban.APPEAL MADE FOR SAILORS

"We Will Find The Ships,
You Find The Men,"
Urges Dr. Alfred Hall

SERVICE OF THE NAVY

Rev. Dr. Alfred Hall, senior chaplain of the Navy League of Canada, addressed a representative gathering at the Y. M. C. A., and detailed in a heart interesting manner, the work of the navy. Interesting speeches were also made by W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., Mayor MacBride and Mr. W. G. Raymond.

Dr. Hall, in opening his address, claimed that it was the birthright of every Canadian to know something of the navy. "Canada, it is known, was ninth in line of the maritime nations of the world. First of all we have in the British Navy, the men of war, under the white ensign. Then comes the blue ensign, which flies from all vessels in the Royal Naval Reserve. The insignia of the merchant marine is the red ensign. The navy, under the white ensign, is the backbone of the nation. As a people Canadians ought to be greatly influenced by the deeds of the navy, and not only this but the everyday routine of each sailor. This is what stands between Canada and Prussian victory. In the navy the fate of Britain rested. We all believe that it was our magnificent naval force which saved us from disaster at the outbreak of the war, although few realize the immensity of the fact.

Canada's duty to her sailors is to educate her people to the work of its navy. The British Sailors' Society is now 100 years old, the oldest seaman's organization in existence. "Canada has a duty to perform," said Dr. Hall, who then reminded his audience of the educational purposes of the League. To understand the needs of the sailor we should "know" the navy. Candidates for public office should be asked to declare their opinion on the navy. The League will stand behind the wives and widows of men of the navy and the merchant marine. During the next ten years, mercantile marine of all nations will change. If Canadians are taught unawares, they will find themselves neglecting to train their children for a knowledge of the sea. "We will find ships," said Dr. Hall, "you find the sailors." To train boys now for the navy was the only one policy. To form a Boys' Naval Brigade was the one course which was open. Such an organization would not necessitate members joining the navy. It would be merely to cultivate interest and train the youths of the country for a time when they may be called upon to serve, and must be prepared.

The Navy League is doing great things this year. Members and associate members are joining in great numbers and hundreds of school children are expected to take a junior associate membership. Mayor MacBride, chairman of the evening, remarked upon the capability of Dr. Hall and his himself paid a tribute to the duties performed by our sailors. "The navy saved us in this war as it saved us in the near calamity of 1906 during Moroccan trouble," stated the Mayor.

"Canadians did not assume really great responsibilities until the outbreak of the war," was the contention of W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., who went on to tell of the puritanical things brought back to us with war as he was.

He was assured that Brantford and Brant County had done their bit but there is still work for Brantfordites to do. Attention is needed for the navy.

Mr. J. A. Harold sang splendidly, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," and "Nelson's Last Fight," Mr. R. T. Scofield acting as accompanist. Rev. Hall appreciated the latter song greatly and as a token presented a Nelson "victory" medal to each of the artists. "Bethel" flags of the British and Foreign Sailors' Bible Society were presented to Captain Street S. S. and Zion "Big 4" S. S. class.

One of the Victory medals was also presented to His Worship Mayor MacBride.

Mr. W. G. Raymond, president of the local branch of the League stated that it was fifty years since he first donned the uniform of the navy. "Many changes have taken place since then but the spirit of the men has not."

On the motion of Mr. Raymond, seconded by Ald. Hill those present pledged themselves to support the League and stand back of the Canadians at sea.

OFFENSIVE HAS ENDED IN ROUT

Unquestionable Defeat Will React on Starving Austrian People

By Courier Leased Wire.

Paris, June 24.—The Austrian offensive appears to have ended in a rout, according to the view taken by the Paris press of the news from the Italian front, as summarized to-day by the Havas Agency. Believing that under such conditions as the news indicates the enemy will be compelled to give up important booty, in material and prisoners, to the victorious Italians, the newspaper predict that the unquestionable defeat will react seriously upon the population of the dual monarchy, so sorely tried by hunger.

The Echo de Paris thinks that in consequence of the outcome on the Italian front, new offensive actions are likely to be begun shortly by the Germans on the Franco-British front. The newspapers point to the coincidence of the success of the Italians upon the French front on the same day that the Austrians were yielding to the victorious assaults of their brothers-in-arms in Italy.

Many Drown in Piave.
Washington, June 24.—Offensive operations by our troops began Sunday, says a despatch received here. "After violent artillery preparations that destroyed all bridges except one, the infantry drove forward with irresistible impetus. The flooded Piave contains thousands of enemy corpses. Divisions which had passed the Piave were decimated by our artillery and infantry."

"Montello was attacked in three columns. Enemy lines were broken at Cella Della Madonna and Nervesa and re-occupied. From Maserada to Sordana, the Austrians first resisted our attacks desperately, but finally were forced to retreat to the left bank. Battle continues fiercely in the Sordana sector. Forty-five thousand prisoners and enormous booty captured by Italians."

"American airmen displayed great bravery in the first encounters. Lieut. Young, attacked by two Austrian chasers, was obliged to land on the lower Piave."

ROUMANIA EMBARRASSED.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Amsterdam, June 24.—In pointing out Roumania's difficult financial position, the Bucharest correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung states that Finance Minister Souleau declared that the Roumanian National Bank was prepared to make a loan—on more favorable terms than ever before. He said that extensive and drastic financial reforms, which would involve painful measures, should be planned.

THREE KILLED IN MONTREAL.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Montreal, June 25.—Three persons were killed early this morning when an automobile crashed into a telegraph pole on Park avenue just above Mount Royal avenue. There were five persons in the car at the time of the accident, the others escaping with slight cuts and other minor injuries.

According to the story told to the police by one of the injured the car was proceeding along Park avenue at a fair rate of speed when the machine skidded and crashed into a telegraph pole, the occupants of the machine being thrown to the pavement.

The victims are: J. C. Jennings, traffic chief, Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraphs, 2179 Esplanade avenue; Albert Jarvis, night chief operator, Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraphs, 2092 Hutchinson street, Outremont, and a woman who has not been identified.

Jennings and Jarvis were returning home after their night's work.
