SHOOTING WAS ACCIDENTAL

Jury Acquits School-boy of Any Intention.

LAW TOO LAXLY ENFORCED.

Kingston, Ont., April 29.—The Coroner's jury empaneled to enquire into the circumstances of the shooting of little Beatrice Holland by her schoolmate in the cloak-room of the Frontenae school, to-night brought in a verdiet of accidental homicide. They believed that the boy was not aware that the revolver was loaded. The jury called attention to the numerous second-hand stores in the city, and advised the closer inspection and licensing of them, and also to extend the law as to the sale of the weapons, and that the carrying of them be more strictly enforced. The matter is now in the hands of the county attorney.

The jury heard the testimony of a half-dozen school-children, the lad's teacher, and the poince constables. The evidence goes to show that the boy, after the little girl had knocked off his hat, drew the revolver and shot her without saying a word. One witness said that he did say once to Beatrice, "Give me my hat," but this was a moment or so before he fired the shot. All agreed Beatrice never spoke after the bullet pierced her brain. Evidence by several boys was to the effect that as Eric ran he said he did not know it was loaded. He asked if he had hit the wall, but when told he had shot Beatrice he fied. The children generally said he was a boy of high spirits, and consequently quite troublesome. He was a reader of pernicious literature, and she had had to take from him several "Jesse James" novels.

she had had to take from him several "Jesse James" novels.

The boys said that Sharpe had carried the revolver for several days, and had used it in shooting frogs in the quarry near the school.

Medical evidence as to the cause of death as developed by a post-morten was given.

The jurymen wanted to know how boys procured such weapons, and learned that a youth named McDermott, who kept a dime novel shop on Princess street, had bought it from a second-hand dealer. The police described the kind of revolver used and how they had found it. Eric had taken it to pieces as he ran, and thrown it in different places.

Niagara Falls, April 29.-Yesterday afternoon, John S. Clark, the negro who discovered the diverted wires at the tunnel, was taken into custody by Detective W. The science of curing has advanced very rapidly lately. With the discovery of the germ theory as a cause of disease, means have been sought to combat these terrible parasites other than the ordinary drug methods which were found ineffectual. Antiseptics came in vogue, but the usual antiseptics were so powerfully injurious to the ordinary tissues of the body that they couldn't be taken internally, consequently their use was strictly limited. Medical science decided that

Continuing her testimony, PrincessiRadziwill denied having told Mrs. Schuitz that she bad in her possession compromising letters from Lord Milner, British High Commissioner in South Africa. HOUSE TUMBLED Scene of the Holmes Murders

in Toronto Collapses. UNDERMINED BY THE RAINS

UNDERMINED BY THE RAINS.

Toronto, April 30.—A strange accident happened last night shortly after six o'clock, which recalls in all their horror the terrible crimes of Holmes, the multi-murderer from Chicago, who did away with the two little Pletzel girls at the house, 16 St. Vincent street, and afterwards buried their bodies in a small cellar under the rear part of the house. The accident was the collapse of the house while standing on props during the operation of building a cellar under it.

Ever after the atrocities committed on the St. Vincent street residence, which is a roughcast cottage one and one-half stories high, were brought to light, it was a very difficult matter to find tenants for the place. Latterly, however, it has been occupied by Mr. Harry White, a shipper employed by the Ozone company.

On intsructions from the owner, Mr. J. J. Kelso, Messrs. Saunders and Company, the contractors, began the construction of the cellar last week. Jacks were used to raise the house, and posts were placed underneath it. The family continued to occupy the house during the progress of the work. The heavy rain of yesterday so softened the ground about the supporting posts that they became undermined, and those under the front of the house at the southern corner gave way.

With a resounding crash the building shot forwards and sideways, demonished the fence between it and the neighboring house, and came within two on three feet of striking the latter. Two children had been sitting at the tea table but a few moments previous to the collapse, and it was well that they had moved, for the major portion of the bricks which composed the chimney broke through the roof and struck just where they would have been. The kitchen stove broke through the floor, the plano was wrecked, all the walls and partitions were demolished or splintered, and the structure was practically destroyed.

The family moved most of their belongings out last night, and are staying temporarily with friends in Cumberland Street.

H. H. Holmes was hang

H. H. Holmes was hanged in Moyamensing Prison for the murder of Benjamin F. Pietzel on May 7, 1896. On the scaffold he declared he had not killed Pitezel nor any of the Pitezel children, and that the extent of his wrongdoing in taking human life was the killing of two women whose deaths resulted from criminal operations.

They tore down the work being done, drove off the Brockville men, and placed a guard on the island to prevent them from again landing on it. The courts have granted an ad interim injunction, the writ being returnable on May 6th, and all work is stopped until it is decided who has the right to erect the buildings.
