The Balmoral Choir.

The Balmoral choir has been re-organized in Scotland and the managers Messrs. Bruce and Patrick, will bring a large body of artists to this country next season. The singers seem to have come from "a' the airts" in Scotland. Madame Stewart is a native of Kilmalcolm, or Kil-ma-come, as the natives call it; Miss Mainds is: a native of Helensburgh; Miss Anderson, of Hawick; Miss Malcolm, Messrs. Taggart, D'Almaine and McGhie, of Glasgow; Mr. George Fulton, of Paisley; Mr. H. J. McDavid, of Newton-Stewart; Mr. Walter Bruce, of Brechin; and R. J. Patrick, of Hamilton. The management is open for dates and it would be a good idea to bring this celebrated combination of Scottish talent to London.

London.

A Perilous Fractice.
Complaints from more than one section of the city have lately been made of the somewhat indiscriminate manner in which possessors of rifles and revolvers are in the habit of firing off their weapons to the great danger of residents of the localities mentioned. Sunday afternoon a boy named Boss, about 14 years old, living on Albert street, was out having a little sport with his air-rifle. He fired a shot at some sparrows, but, of course, did not hit them. The bullet went crashing through a window where Miss Panton, daughter of Mr. Edward Panton, hotel-keeper, of Adelaide street, was sitting. The ball struck Miss Panton on the arm, making a bad wound. No serious results are anticipated, but the event should prove a warning to boys and others who recklessly handle air-guns and other weapons in the city.

Sunday School Anniversary.

The Sunday school anniversary services of the King Street Methodist Church were held yesterday. A temporary platform for the children had been erected around the pulpit and was tastefully decorated with flowers. Rev. A. O. Courtice preached a thoughtful discourse in the morning to a large congregation. The open Sunday school meeting in the afternoon was also largely attended and Rev. T. E. Harrison and, Mr. Potts delivered interesting addresses to the scholars. In the evening the Rev. E. B. Lanceley occupied the pulpit and drew many admirable lessons from the life of Moses. He applied his femarks principally to the Sunday school children, explaining to them the character of the great leader, and showing how much of his greatness and goodness in mature years was due to his training as a child. A pleasant feature of the services was the special songs rendered by the school children under the leadership of Mr. J. H. Goodge.

Death of Mrs. Sarah Hill.

Mrs. Sarah Hill, aged 87, one, of the oldest settlers in London, has just passed away at her residence on Wellington street. She was apparently in the enjoyment of excellent health up to the last hours of her life, and was dressing herself Friday when her daughter heard her fall, and on running to daughter heard her fall, and on running to the last hours of her life, and was dressing herself Friday when her daughter heard her fall, and on running to the rassistance found her dead. Mrs. Hill, who was born in Tipperary in 1803, came here with her husband, the late Samuel Hill, in 1832, living in London township until sixteen years ago, when she moved into the city. The loss of three grown-up sons, John, Freeman and Fred, whose deaths occurred at brief intervals, bore heavily on the affectionate mother, who was a model of generosity and kindness. Three daughters and one son are left, the Misses Mary and Chony, Mrs. A. R. Thompson and Mr. Joseph Hill, all of this city. Deceased was a most estimable woman and a worthy member of the Anglican Church.

A Whited Sepulchre.
[London Daily News.]

Put not your faith in paint and white-wash. No town in Europe is fairer to the eye than Cadiz, whose inhabitants are never weary of decorating their houses with the freshest of fresh paint in many colors, yet this ancient town is one of the unhealthiest in the world. The vital statistics are justly described as "frightful," for the annual rate of mortality is over 441 per thousand, or just double the rate of Paris, and very much more than double that of London. More than one-third of the people who die it this fair pestilential spot are victims of diphtheria, typus, and diseases of that sort. In the opinion of our consul, Mr. Henderson, there is no doubt that this excessive mortality is due to the want of an adequate supply of water and a proper system of drainage.

That Nerviline, the new pain remedy, is a good article. Some indeed claim that the old-fashioned preparations are just as good, but any sufferer can satisfy himself by expending 10 cents on a sample bottle of Polsen's Nerviline, that nothing sold can equal it for internal, local or external pains. Always speedy in effect, prompt and certain in convenient H.S. Webber Orangeville. it for internal, local or external ways speedy in effect, prompt and certain in every cure. H. S. Webber, Orangeville, writes: "My customers speak very highly of Nerviline as a remedy for toothache and neuralgia." All druggists and country deafers sell Nerviline. Try it to-day.

"Their Name is Legion," may be applied to those who die annually of consumption, although science has of late years sensibly diminished their number. It is gratifying to know that the general use of Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY is largely instrumental in attaining this end.
