Post Office Reforms.

The Postal World makes out a good case for a classification of Canadian' post offices such as is found in other postal union countries, and for extension of the civil service regulations to all or most post offices in the Dominion. In the United States all assistant postmasters and clerks have been brought under civil service rules. The introduction of a similar reform in this country would entail the classification of from 15,000 to 20,000 government employees, but the size of the undertaking should not deter the government. The wel-city offices, all accounting or money order offices second class, and all non-accounting offices third class and to place the first and second don't keep reminding class under the civil service commisall about the incident. Postmasters of the non-accounting or third class offices do not generally give their whole time to their offices, but have these offices in conjunction with local stores, offices, etc., etc., but the second class com-task, and have no other occupation. These men work hard as a rule. There is no insurance scheme in which they can join, or any provision for their superannuation on an allowance. Any arrangement that would add to their sense of security would tend to improve their work, and there seems to be no reason why they should not be brought under the civil service commission. The postmasters' association which are working to this end have the sympathy of the public for which the postmasters labor. Occasionally the petty interference of the patronage committee in post office appointments and promotions is aired in parliament. The day for such abuses has surely gone. It will be in the general interest when the conduct of the

Save the Birds.

The spring birds are here and making the crisp morning air melodious with their varied songs.

With spring birds, unfortunately comes the boys with the catapult and other instruments of slaughter, and the charming summer visitors become more shy of man and less numerous with each recurring sea-

Wild Birds' Protection Act such as they have in Britain, in which all the species are named that come under the operation of the law. Over there the order is renewed and published in the newspapers at the beginning of each year, so that bird butchers and harriers may have no excuse to plead ignorance of the provision of the law. Unless some stringent measures are taken to save Canada's summer feathered visitors the groves will soon be silent.

One of the duties of parents is to instil in their children a love of the birds, with a desire for the protection of the nest's offspring. The majority of boys seem to be the enemies of the birds, and many adults are moved no less by the lust of rapine and destruction.

Where the Horse Fails.

Bone and sinew, says J. T. Stirrett, in an article on Motor Trucks, in MacLean's for April, cannot match a machine. During the last few hours of a busy day the efficiency of delivery horses decreases almost to a minimum. But the big truck is not so rugged as the beast. The former is in the hands of the garage expert more frequently than the horse is under the care of the veterinary surgeon. The great virtues of the horse, in comparison with the truck, are his cheapness and his reliability. He can usually get home. The motor truck often refuses to return, and remains stranded at the other end of the route. other truck has to be sent for it. the second breaks down, a faithful steed must be dispatched to tow them both home.

The Bald Headed Man may Look Wise

But If He Had Been He Would Have Hair Now

You do not want a scientific treatise on the hair follicle—you are not particularly interested in the name of the German scientist who isolated the bug that is said to cause baldness. What you do want to know is how to save the hair you have and make it strong and lustrous.

Nyal's Hirsutone will do it better than anything else.

It is not claimed that Hirsutone is a wonderful scientific secret—but it is the concrete result of all that is proven in the scientific treatment of sick and diseased hair and scalp. It is a happy combination and you will notice a prompt improvement in the feeling of the scalp and the look of the hair.

Hirsutone loosens and removes all scaly and matted deposit on the scalp—stimulates the hair bulbs and gives new life and vigor to the hair itself. Nyal's Hirsutone gives back to the hair and scalp just what it has been robbed of by your neglect and abuse. It is time to Start right. Use Hirsutone he of the Nyal remedies and no higher recommendation can be given it. They are all good. Ask your Nyal Druggist. He recommends it.
