

Lawrenceston.

Services for July 1st. Baptist, 11 a. m. Rev. B. H. Thomas, Episcopal, 3 p. m. Rev. Amos, Methodist, 7.30 p. m. Rev. Anthony, Rev. Bickney, occupied the Baptist pulpit last Sabbath, for Rev. Wallace, who is on a trip to England, N. Y.

The Foresters of the different towns in the county met here last Sunday afternoon and listened to an interesting sermon by Rev. Stovess, of Paradise. They marched from the place of meeting to the church headed by the 69th Regt. Band. About ninety members of the order were present.

Mr. W. H. Hall, of Chicago, Ill. is visiting with his family at the home of Mr. L. Foster.

Mr. W. B. Moore, who has been attending school at the University of Toronto, will be home for the summer. All of our townpeople always give "Reg" a well earned court.

Many of our people have been attending court the past week at Bridgetown.

Mr. (Rev.) A. O. Chapman, of Great Village, is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Shaffer.

The school meeting on the 25th, was well attended, and business was well received. Five hundred dollars was voted for salaries.

On Monday evening, when the news was received from the Court at Bridgetown that Mr. E. C. Schaffer had won the suit with Mr. E. McNair, of St. John, the townpeople turned out to do honor to Mr. S. and his success in winning such an important case.

The people gathered on the street, built bonfires, had a good display of fireworks, and several speeches were made by some prominent citizens. All expressed themselves pleased with the result of this suit, and all went to show that their sympathy was very strong in Mr. S.'s favor.

It is a pleasure to hear that the people in this part of Annapolis county were much interested in the trial, and that Mr. Schaffer won the day.

Morgan & Dalton have moved their mill to New Germany.

The whole of our new mill, owned by Messrs. Daniels & Waldman, was hoisted Saturday for the first time.

"Hooping cough is prevalent here, many cases being of a serious nature."

Springsfield.

Miss Nettie Grimm is visiting at New Germany.

Mrs. Carter and daughter of Missopple, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Freeman.

Mrs. C. Plimney, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Morrison and baby Nell, of Middle-town, spent Sunday at the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Morrison.

Quite a number of the Baptist people attended the Association at Middle-town.

Mr. Jonathan Morrison and daughter Florence, are spending a week at Riverside.

Miss Maggie Davis, of New Germany was the guest of her brother, Mr. Charles Davis, during last week.

Mr. Anselm Hoop and two children, Brett and Gertrude, are visiting at Mr. Healy.

Mr. Zwicker, of New Germany, was in town last Sunday.

Miss Emma Webb, of Kingston, was visiting at C. G. Grimm's last week.

Mr. T. G. Grimm, treasurer of the town of Larriquin Co. is home again.

Mr. Herman McKay and baby Delana, are spending for some time at home.

Miss Annie Layton, is home on a visit.

Mr. Joseph Bent has been spending a week in the valley.

Ingallsville.

Rev. M. Brown and Mr. H. Bowen, were here last week.

Deacon E. Crosby of Pleasant Valley, Yarmouth Co., visited Deacon A. Dana on his way to Baptist Association, Middle-town.

The Methodist church has been beautified by a new coat of paint.

Stumps, whoping-cough and measles, almost prevented our annual examination in this school, but with admirable courage the pupils who were able to attend, pleasantly entertained about forty visitors on Thursday afternoon, June 21st, with the various exercises of school work.

On June 21st, Miss Agnetha visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Beale, and took their youngest child, little Gladys Albright, aged two months and six days. Deep sympathy is felt for the parents in their loss.

"A little eye in the night." But the little eye was "goodby."

Forestburg.

Mr. Emanuel Messenger, of Keene, N. H., is here visiting relatives and friends.

Deacon Crosby, of Pleasant Valley, Yarmouth Co., was guest at the passage of a few days last week.

Mr. P. Foster, Jr. and cousin, P. Hatt, of Middle-town, spent Sunday here.

Mrs. Baxter and two children, of Keene, N. H., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Foster.

Rev. C. Rose, formerly of Yarmouth, last Sunday evening.

Rev. C. Rose, formerly of Yarmouth, last Sunday evening.

Services Sunday, July 1st, by Rev. E. P. Caldwell; Port Lorne, 10:30; Havelock, 2:30; Port Lorne, 7:30. Conference at Port Lorne Saturday, 7:30.

Bethesda.

Mr. and Mrs. George Daggatt, of West Novelleville, Mass., accompanied by Mrs. D. A. sister, Miss Katie Langmeier, of Kars Dale, were visiting relatives here last week.

The Situation in China.

London, June 23.—The silence of Peking continues unbroken. Four thousand men of the allied forces were having sharp rifle-fighting at Tin Tin Tuesday and Wednesday with a prospect of being confined there. This is the situation in China, as set forth in the British government despatch.

"Eight hundred American are taking part in the fighting at Tin Tin," says the Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Express, calling later on the Chinese press, which forms a part of a supplementary force, consisting of German and British after the conflict started. It is impossible to estimate the number of the Chinese there; but they had a surprising number of guns.

The information appears to have been brought by the United States gunboat Nashville to the school here and telegraphed thence to Shanghai. The Chinese are deserting en masse in large numbers and going into the interior.

Reports from native sources continue to reach Shanghai of anarchy in Peking. According to these tales the streets are filled day and night with "looters," who are wholly beyond the control of the Chinese troops, and who are working themselves up to a frenzy and calling for the death of all foreigners.

The English consulate at Shanghai is said to have received from influential reports of a tragedy in the palace of Peking, though precisely what is not defined. The consulate thinks that Admiral Seymour, commander of the international relief column, was killed by the Chinese, and, consequently, underestimated the difficulties in the Chinese press, and the resistance with Maxim guns and Mausers.

The consuls at Shanghai will endeavor to force the military at Peking safe, although Japanese reports received at Shanghai allege that up to June 15 one hundred foreigners had been killed in Peking.

A special despatch from Vienna says: "Li Hung Chang has wired the Chinese legation in Europe directing them to inform the government in London, and to accede to the powers to negotiate a settlement of points at issue, and to instruct them to beg the powers to facilitate his mission by sending troops to China."

Each Shanghai director general of telegraphs, wires from Shanghai to the Chinese legation in Europe that the foreign legations in Peking are safe.

It is reported that the British government will immediately send 1,200 marines to China, and possibly, according to some of the morning papers, 10,000 men, and will send Lord Roberts.

Some special dispatches from Shanghai had described the most southern provinces of China as still quiet; but others assert that the news from the north is exciting the southern to a dangerous height of feeling, and that millions may be exterminated.

It is quiet, but there are fears of a rising, and the British government is sending international forces to the section of Northern China, where ten thousand men are striving to keep a footing and to secure the legations in Peking, appears to increase in peril with every fresh despatch. Peking has not been heard from direct for fourteen days.

Admiral Seymour's column of 2,000 was heard from twelve days ago. At that time it was surrounded by the Chinese. Peking and Tin Tin. Possibly now it has reached Peking.

The 3,000 internationals at Tin Tin were hard pressed and fighting their lives on Thursday, and a relieving force of less than a thousand had been beaten back to Taku Friday. Observers on the ground estimate that 100,000 men would not be too many to garrison China freely.

A Chefoo despatch to the Daily Mail says: "The attack on the Tin Tin relief force was made by 20,000 Chinese, using machine guns and modern field artillery. The allied forces were in a desperate position, and the Chinese, who were in a small force, greatly aided the movement of the British, which is gaining momentum through the inability of the foreigners to make headway against it."

"Practically the whole of Northern China is a chaos. Hostilities are now conducted on an extended scale, due to direct orders from Peking. Gen. Yuan Shi Kai's government of Shan Tsin, commands 11,000 men, and has organized a high pitch of excitement and equipped with arms. It is in the plans that these troops should go to Taku, but the seizure of the river was effected before they could get there."

The powers are said to have failed under the attack of the Chinese, who for three weeks have been accumulating rifle at the rate of 20,000 a month.

Japan is preparing to transport this available force, estimated at from 10,000 to 15,000 men, although recent events have shown that the number of Russians on the Pacific coast has been over-estimated. The Indian council held a special meeting at Simla yesterday, and considered the feasibility of sending more troops.

London, June 23.—The British cruiser Terrible has arrived at Chefoo from Taku with the latest news, which is as follows: "Eight hundred Sikhs and two hundred Welsh Fusiliers have fled to the junction with the American, German and Russian forces which had been cut off by the Chinese about nine miles from Tin Tin. It was proposed to deliver an assault on the Chinese forces at Tin Tin last night (Sunday night)."

It is not clear what forces succeeded. It would seem that the relieving force cut off had been relieved by another. At any rate it is apparently certain that the allied forces have been relieved by another. At any rate it is apparently certain that the allied forces have been relieved by another.

"Foreign official opinion here," says a despatch from Shanghai to the Daily Express, dated yesterday, "implies to believe that the worst has happened to the legations in Peking, and to Admiral Seymour as well. Even if the legations were safe on June 19, there is no guarantee that they are safe now. The situation, in fact, grows more and more gloomy. The entire absence of reliable news from the capital seems to justify the worst construction which can be put upon it."

"A careful estimate of the number and armament of the Chinese troops around Peking puts the total at 300,000 men, and it is calculated that these troops possess two hundred and twenty seven-centimeter breech-loading guns, eighteen krupp and one hundred and fifty machine. Their supply of ammunition is practically inexhaustible. It has been mainly supplied by a German firm at Carlisle. Fifty three-tenths of the Chinese forces are badly drilled, wholly undisciplined and quite unfamiliar with modern warfare."

Extensive preparations by the allies are being forward. The first contingent of British, Indian, 10,000 men embarked at Calcutta yesterday, and 800 more natives received orders to go out from English ports.

The British war office, in anticipation of a long campaign, is contracting for winter clothing and for caps.

The army corps ordered out of Russia consists of 52,100 men, with 84 guns. Japan proposes to land 15,000 men on Chinese territory within a fortnight.

United States Elections.

November 6, in this year, will be a lively one for citizens of the United States for not only will they vote for electors who will choose the next president and vice president, but they will also select congressmen for the ensuing term of two years. Oregon is the only exception, the having already chosen its representatives in the last.

In most of the states the election of state officers will also take place. Years ago it was usual in many states to have the elections come off earlier than the election of presidential electors, and in these districts the result of the election was considered as showing how the political winds were blowing.

Gradually, however, in a majority of the states these elections were fixed for November, so that the politicians are deprived of whatever advantageous information they had previously possessed regarding doubtful and mooted states.

In British Columbia.

Sir Henri Joly has been sworn in Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, in succession to Mr. McLean, whom the Ottawa government has appointed, as he is dismissed a local executive, installed in a new one, and the latter was lately defeated on an appeal to the polls, and leading members of the new government then formed at Mr. McLean's request having signed a resolution of acquiescence in his resignation. Under these circumstances the Ottawa authorities resigned Mr. McLean's resignation, and appointed a successor.

M. E. Bonnier, M. P. for St. Hyacinthe, has been given Mr. Joly as a 20 mile motor race at Charles River Park last week in St. Hyacinthe. He has to go to his constituents—election fixed for 11th July.

Manitoba Schools Again.

THE BURNING QUESTION TO BE REVIVED. Winnipeg, June 23.—The Hon. H. J. Macdonald, premier, having refused relief to the Winnipeg Catholics in their endeavor to arrive at a settlement with the Winnipeg public school board, the following petition has been forwarded to Ottawa.

"Winnipeg, Man., June 15, 1900. To His Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues in the Dominion Government.

"Gentlemen.—Following is a copy of a resolution unanimously passed by a meeting of the Catholics of Winnipeg, held on May 27th last:

"Resolved, the Catholics of Winnipeg have for ten long years suffered under the odious burden imposed upon them by the public school board of the city of Winnipeg, and whereas the recent negotiations with the public school board of the city make it plain that as the law at present stands we can expect no relief; be it resolved that we, the Catholics of Winnipeg, in meeting assembled, hereby instruct the committee to take immediate steps to lay our grievances before the Dominion and provincial authorities, pointing out to them the severity of our long continued persecution, and praying that in order to our relief on the line here laid down in the following resolution."

"According to the instructions contained in the resolution, we now take the liberty of addressing you, and we feel that it is not necessary for us to add many words to the clear terms in which the meeting expressed itself. The facts of our position are undeniable, and speak for themselves. For ten years we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed, and in consequence we have been forced to pay taxes toward the support of the public schools, which in consequence we could send our children. We have derived not the slightest benefit from the Privy Council decision; the grievance declared in that decision has not been removed