

"Ashbridge" information still undiscovered or not generally available, there remains plenty of scope for genealogical exercise for any of the present generation wishing to indulge in the same, and I may, therefore, be pardoned for having concentrated my efforts upon what was for myself the easiest task.

This has called for a great deal of correspondence and careful search through libraries, books, papers, etc., but it has been full of interesting problems, all the more pleasant to me because of the sense of personal relationship involved.

My sincere thanks are here extended to all who have sent me information, photographs, etc., or in any other way contributed to the making of these pages, and if any who may read them have not had an opportunity yet to do so, I hope the printing of this book will not discourage them from it.

W. T. ASHBRIDGE.

Kelowna, B.C.,

July 29th, 1912.

---