

with rotation, while the pelvis and the upper part of the thorax are supported and the patient is recumbent, heavy weights, to the extent of endurance, are so arranged as to produce an untwisting force acting upon the spine.

Fig. 6. Showing the same case after treatment.

Fig. 5. Showing a case before treatment.