

ORIGIN OF LAGER BEER.—The German words lager beer signify stock beer, i. e., beer that has been stowed away. The story, as told in Germany, is an old one and runs thus: Many years ago, a shoemaker near Bamberg sent his apprentice to get a bottle of Bamberg beer, which was sold at the place; but the boy not knowing this, went to the city itself. On returning he met an acquaintance of his who told him that when he would come home his boss would whip him for staying so long. The poor boy, who was frightened at this, thought it better not to go home at all, but took his bottle, buried it under a tree, and ran away. He went among the soldiers, where he distinguished himself so that in a short time he became an officer. When one day his regiment was quartered in this little town, the officer thought it proper to pay a visit to his old boss, but not before he had got the bottle of beer which he had buried some years before under the tree. When he entered he said: "Well, sir, here I bring you your bottle of Bamberg beer that you sent me for." The shoemaker not knowing what this meant, was told by the officer all about it. The bottle was opened, and the beer was found to be of superior quality. When this fact was made known, some of the brewers built deep vaults, where they put their beer, and called it after it had lain some time, lager, which did not mean anything more than lying. The officer afterwards married the daughter of the shoemaker, and drank a good deal of lager beer, receiving in his occupation the assistance of his father-in-law.

"Notes and Queries" repeats an excellent story concerning the Duke of Wellington and Mr. Loudon, the landscape gardener. Mr. John Claudius Loudon wrote to ask the great duke for leave to inspect the benches at Strathfieldsaye. His writing was not very legible, owing to an affection of his right hand, and it will not appear surprising, therefore, that the Bishop of London, Dr. C. J. Bloomfield, should have shortly afterwards received the following note: "My dear Lord,—I shall always be glad to see you at Strathfieldsaye; and my servant shall show you as many pairs of my benches as you choose to inspect; but what you want to see them for is quite beyond me.—Yours, &c. Wellington."

A chance for reporters. An exchange says: Five dollars reward is offered for the reporter who can write six months about fires and not allude to the "Fire Fiend" and the "devouring element." It's bad enough to be burned out, but to be devoured by the Fire Fiend is fearful.

CERTIFICATE FROM MR. ALFRED KNUCKLE, American House, St. Joseph Street.
MONTEAL, March 7th, 1872.
DEAR SIR,—I was afflicted during the beginning of this winter with a most severe COLD, attended with incessant COUGHING and DIFFICULTY OF BREATHING, which reduced me so low that many persons supposed I could never recover. I tried a great many things, which were given me both by my doctors and friends; but did not receive any benefit from anything until I commenced using your "HOARHOUD AND CHERRY BALSAM," which seemed to give me relief immediately. I continued using it until I was completely cured, and now I believe I am as well as I ever was in my life. I would gladly recommend it to any person suffering from a similar complaint. Almost anybody who knows me can certify to the above. ALFRED KNUCKLE.
