

Imported from Canada 0 tonne

Gadus macrocephalus is subject to a customs duty of 16%, the other species to a duty of 20%.

Competing products: other types of salt fish.

Competing suppliers: Portugal, Iceland, Denmark.

Market for unsmoked dried cod (Gadus morhus, G. ogac and G. macrocephalus), salted or unsalted, 1988:

Total imports	4 067 tonnes
Imported from Canada	48 tonnes

This product is subject to a customs duty of 13%, except that in the case of G. morhua and G. ogac a blanket EEC quota (i.e. one including other products as well) of 25 000 tonnes will be admitted duty-free in 1990. This quota has now (as of 6 March 1990) been filled.

Competing products: other types of salt fish.

Competing suppliers: Norway, Iceland, Denmark.

Market for undried, unsmoked cod (Gadus morhua, G. ogac and G. macrocephalus), in brine or salted, 1988:

Total imports	3 010 tonnes
Imported from Canada	0 tonne

This product is subject to a customs duty of 13%, except that in the case of G. morhua and G. ogac a blanket EEC quota (i.e. one including other products as well) of 25 000 tonnes will be admitted duty-free in 1990. This quota has now (as of 6 March 1990) been filled.

Competing products: other types of salt fish.

Competing suppliers: Denmark, Iceland, Norway.

Product presentation: consult importers.

Buyers are wholesalers and processors. A sizable market segment is the production of a type of fish soup known as brandade de morue. Other buyers import