

H5. Why does the reporting requirement appear in Canadian legislation and not in the legislation of other signatory states?

Large explosive blasts are typical for Canada. UK and France do not set off blasts of such size and decided not to include this in their legislation.