

and all the women, who are alive in the wide world, are his children: he loves all; he is good to all.

The king governs his people: he has a golden crown upon his head, and the royal sceptre is in his hand; he sits upon a throne, and sends forth his commands; his subjects fear before him; if they do well, he protects them from danger: and if they do evil, he makes them suffer.

But who is the king of the king? who commands him what he must do? whose hand protects him from danger? and if he does evil, who shall punish him?

God is the king of the king: he is of rays of light, and his throne is in the stars. He is King of kings; if he bids us live, we live; if he bids us die, we die.