There is a vast amount of true religion hidden away in the food we give our children, in the clothes they wear, in the amount of sleep that they get. But this is a religion which, because it has no name, seems foreign to the minds of many parents.

FUL FOR DYEING. Kazuo Ando, a Japanese chemist, has announced the discovery, in Japanese breweries, of a fungus closely related to the yeast fungi. It is remarkable not only on account of the fact that it does not cause fermentation, but also because the extract from the yeast dyes silk a light rose color. If these yeasts are grown in a solid gelatine, they cause it to turn into a liquid. At first it was thought that they might do considerable damage to beer, but now it is found that they are harmy experiments with them as a dye, tho there is no immediate prospect of their being commercially available for this pur-pose.
