

is a very old popular remedy for fungous granulations, ichorous eczema and erysipelas of the face. Dr. W. has of late discarded the use of sugar in healing wounds, partly because when the patients found out the nature of the powder they ceased to have faith in it, and partly because when they had they treated themselves and so passed from observation. Sugar is aseptic if not antiseptic, and is as good as glycerine when used as a preservative by injecting it into the arteries of the dead animal we wish to keep from decomposing, but it is generally when used for this purpose combined with arsenic and nitrate of potash.
