This was the statement made by the Petti Journal. Brazil has a population of 25,090,090. An army of 2,090,000 men would oring into service at least one sixth of the male population.

"It is a question of honor," declared Senator De Meilo Macnado, "for my country to come to the fighting front in France in order to take part in the defence of the world's liberty. Germany seems to have considered our dedilaration of war as a matter of small importance. She adopted the same tactics with regard to Great Britain at the beginning of the conflict, and more recently with respect to the United States. We must make her change her tone.

I was very nervous. My nerves got so bad that I could not sieep at n.g.nt, and sometimes when I did drop on to s.cep I would have frightful dreams. The mornings following I would feel threa and unterfessed. I also suffered greatly with my back, and although I had doctored for some time I could get no satisfaction in results. One day I read in the newspapers of a case very much similar to mine, which had been cured by Dr Chase's Nerve Food, so I thought by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, so I thought I would give it a trial. Before I had taken very many I could see they were taken very many I could see they were taken very many I could see they were helping me, so I continued taking them for some time. It feeds the nerves. That is the great secret of the success of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. That is why cures effected by this treatment are both thorough and lasting.

The great difficulty when the nerves become exhausted is to get enough nourishment from the food you eat to restore the nerves. By supplying the elements from which Nerve Force is created in condensed and easily digested form Dr. Chase's Nerve Food feeds the wasted and depleted nerve cehs back to health and vigor.

During one of the speeches on the land question, a Social-Revolutionary member sitting back of M. Other members fisarmed the man, but there was a panic, in which a general rush was made for the exits. The Bolsheviki members, and those the Social-Revolutionists, withdrew from the Constituent Assembly early this morning. A Wild Closing.

The decrees were adopted at 5 o'clock this morning as a wall of menacing bayonets in the hands of the sailors on guard pressed toward the constituent members, whom the sailor commander ordered to disperse and go home. The closing hours of the session were full of exciting scenes, including the attempt on the life of M. Tzereteili. The withdrawal of the Bolsheviki and Social-Revolutionary members was followed by the defeat of the demand made by the Lefts that the Assembly first take up the question of the adoption of the Smolny Institute program, which proposed recognition of the Bolsheviki authority for the approval of all decrees. Tumult increased toward the end of the session, and many members of the Assembly rushed toward Chairman Tchernoff and urged him immediately to put the question of neace. urged him immediately to put the ques-

TURKISH CRUISER GOEBEN DRIVEN ON BEACH, HER SISTER SHIP IS SUNK

BRITISH SINK THE BRESLAU

In Sharp Naval Encounter on S unday in East Mediterranean, Two German Cruisers Ope rating Under the Turkish Flag Were Put Out of Action-Both Vessels in the Limelight Since Opening of War.

LONDON, Jan. 20 .- In a naval action between British and Turkish forces at the entrance to the Dardanelles the Turkish cruiser Midullu, formerly the German Breslau, was sunk, and the Sultan Yawuz Selim, formerly the German Goeben, was beached.

This announcement was made by the admiralty to-

The official statement says: "The Goeben and Breslau-Turkish names Sultan Selim and Midullu-with destroyers were in an action with the British forces at the entrance to the Dardanelles this, Sunday, morning. The Breslau was sunk. The Goeben escaped, but has been beached, evidently badly damaged, at Nagara point in the narrows of the Straits. The Goeben is now being attacked by naval air-

"Our losses reported are the monitor Raglan and a small monitor, the M-28."

Both Vessels Notorious. The German cruisers Breslau and Goeben were in the Mediterranean Sea at the outbreak of the war and fled into the Dardanelles, seeking safety from the British and French warships that sought their destruction. Since then their activities in the Dardanelles, at the Black Sea entrance to the Bosphorus and in the Black Sea along the Russian, Rumanian and Asiatic coasts have brought them fame for intrepidity, second not even to the German sea wolves like the Dresden, Sea Adler and the Karlshuhe.

Reaching Constantinople in the middle of August, 1914, the British Government immediately protested against the German warships being accorded refuge, and Turkey promised that they would be interned and placed out of commission until the end of the war. Later, however, it was announced that Turkey had purchased the cruisers and given them the new names of Midullu and Sultan Yawuz Selim. Often Reported Damaged.

Then followed frequent reports of the activity of the warships in Black Sea, bombarding land positions and engaging or being engaged by ships of the Russian Black Sea fleet. Although the Turkish and German war statements frequently announced victories for the re christened Germans, the Russian admiralty on numerous occasions told of how Russian warships had sent them scurrying from the Black Sea into the Bosphorus damaged, on fire, and showing the wounds the Russian shells had given them.

Shortly afterwards, however, the Midullu and her sister ship again would appear and the game of hide and seek between them and theh Russians would go on again until another battle took place, the Turks in the meantime always having been successful in sinking numerous cargo boats, ranging from the smallest fishing craft to goodly-sized

Bombed by Filers. The latest account of the Sultan Yawuz Selim (Goeben) was July of last year, when the British admiralty reported that British airmen had dropped bombs on the vessel during an air attack on the Turkish fleet off Constantinople in the Golden Horn.

Direct hits were observed on the Sultan Yawuz and other vessels, aboard which explosions occurred and fires broke out. The admiralty report said the former German cruiser was the centre of the attack and that it was safe to presume she would be out of action for several months as a result of her injuries. The prediction proved true, as the Sultan Yawuz Selim since then has not been mentioned in any of the reports as being engaged. The last account of the Midullu (Breslau) was in June, 1917, when the Turkish war office reported that vessel in a successful engagement together with other Turkish units in the Black Sea against Russian land positions and small war craft.

Cause of Criticisms. Considerable criticism of British and French naval commanders has at times been expressed over the failure to prevent the Goeben and Breslau from getting out of the Straits of Messina at the outbreak of the war and reaching a port of safety in Turkey. Admiral Troubridge of the British Mediterranean fleet was absolved of lack of initiative in his respect in December, 1914. In the French Chamber of Deputies last Thursday, Admiral Bienaime announced that he intended to demand the impeachment of M. Augagneur, former minister of marine, for failing in his duty to take steps against Admiral Gaston Roue de la whose alleged failure to obey orders resulted in the Goeben and Breslau reaching the Dardanelles.

Stockholm, satisfied the Associated Press. — Reports of strikes and other demonstrations in Austria, which the Austrian Government has permitted to be telegraphed abroad, acquire new significance when read in connection with the Vienna Arbeiter Zeitung's report of five Socialist meetings held in Vienna last Sunday. The meetings, which were attended by vast numbers of persons, protested against "robbing the Austrian people of all influence in the peace negotiations by continually postponing the meeting of the Chamber of Deputies, and the delegates, by suppressing all criticism in the press of Germany's and Austria's foreign policy."

The meetings demanded that the peace negotiations at Brest-Litovsk be conducted in a friendly spirit, "that the Government reject all efforts towards open or veiled actions, and that they reject the demand that Russia's border nations' right of self-determination be rendered filusory, and also reject the against, the will of the inhabitants."
