FISHER'S GLEN TRIP

The board of education will be asked to hold a special meeting today, and to a corp this tender. The city council will then be approached and asked for permission to transfer sufficient debentures from the northeast school building account to that for Ealing. The cost of work in the northeast section of the city was estimated at $35.000, whereas the actual cost will be only about half that amount. The members of the committee thought the council would make no objection to a transfer of this kind.

VETERAN ENGINEER DIED ON TUESDAY

William Goulding Had Enviable Railroad Career.

BORN IN ENGLAND

The following statement relative to the issuing of free tickets by the London Street Railway was handed into The Advertiser today:

"As there seems to be much dissatisfaction over the recent order of the Ontario Railway Board cancelling certain pass privileges heretofore enjoyed by some certain city officials, as well as some persons outside the official circle Manager C. B. King stated today that "the board's auditors found the number of free tickets being used to be excessive, and upon further inquiry it was found that some forty or fifty hydro and water department emrioyees were and water department. William Goulding of 562 Hill street died at his residence Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Goulding was a retired railroad engineer, and was undoubtedly the oldest railroad engineer in the city. He ploted the engine which carried the late King Edward through Canada on its his tour in 1860. The engine was the first to be built by the Grand Truth Railway. Mr. Goulding's father, Thomas Goulding, superintended the building of this engine, which, upon completion, was operated by his son.

Mr. Goulding was born in England, but came to this country when a youn; man. He later returned to the Old Land for a few years and during that time worked on the railroads in Ireland. While overseas he had the honor of piloting royal trains, including the one which carried Queen Victoria through Scotland. Most of his railroads in Ireland. Commerce legislation. The fact that the board was created by act of Parliament makes it difficult for the Government to abandon the board. Sir Robert Borden recently stated in the House that the orders of the board must be obeyed, and the supervision of the board's operations requires a staff for which salary checks must bear signature of two commissioners of the board, in whom the act reposes all executive authority.

The discussion of the resignation of the commissioners ended in the House last night without any definite, announcement from the prime minister as
