GIVE REASONS WHY PENSION OFFER OF GOVT. NOT POPULAR

Central Veterans' Council Issues Statement of Warning To War Pensioners,

The Central Veterans' Council at a pecial meeting last evening arrived at a conclusion that it would not be advisable for all pensioners receiving a disability pension to accept it in one amount, as proposed by the Government. The council has had several special meetings to discuss this matter, and at each one gave the matter a thorough probing. The following is a report submitted to the council by Col. J. P. French and F. B. Lavender, president and secretary, respectively. To all Pensioners of the Great War in the City of London:

The Central Veterans' Council London, composed of delegates from the Army and Navy Association, the Great War Veterans' Association, and the Grand Army of United Veterans, having thoroughly investigated and dissed the proposals made by the special parliamentary committee appointed by the Dominion Government on pen-sions and gratuities, has unanimously decided to advise all veterans who come under the scheme not to accept the lump sum payment in lieu of their yearensions for the following reasons: ly pensions for the following reasons:

(1) A man drawing a 5 per cent disability pension of $45 per annum would receive a lump sum of $300 from the Government, whereas if the man was only 30 years of age, and by the "law of average" he would live for another 30 years he would receive altogether $1,350; consequently, he would lose $1,050 by accepting the lump sum payment.

(2) A man of 30 years of age, drawa 10 per cent disability pension d receive $90 per year pension, or desires to commute he would get would receive $30 per year pension, or if he desires to commute he would get $500, whereas if he lived for another 30 years he would receive altogether $2,700, thereby losing a total of $2,100 by accepting a lump sum payment.

(3) According to life insurance risks, a man aged 30, drawing a 10 per cent pension of $30 per annum, would receive approximately $1,440.

A man aged 40 drawing a pension of $300 per annum, would receive approximately $1,440.

A man aged 40 drawing a pension of $300 per annum, would receive approximately $1,440.

A man aged 50 drawing a pension of 90 per annum would receive approxinately $1,080.

The above amounts are figured out at money being worth 4½ per cent per annum which is a very conservative estimate.

The payment of a lump sum of $600 is only equivalent to a pension of $90 per annum for eight or nine years, whereas a man of 30 years of age would, according to statistics, live another 30 or 40 years. Therefore, it is quite obvious to all concerned that they would lose very considerably by accepting the lump sum payment.

PIGEON RACE—More than 600 hom—this city to Hamilton at noon today, The birds were shipped here by express early this morning and were repressed to walk out last April in the unauthorized railroad strike. Several men are believed to have been wounded, but all but one were carried away when the police arrived. IS IMPROVED .- The condition of cepting the lump sum payment.

Should the disability, for which a man has commuted his pension increase, it is understood that he may apply to be reboarded, according to the new act, but his future payment of pension would only be the difference between his last disability and the increased disability; for example, if a man whose disability increased to 40 per cent upon being reboarded, he would receive a pension of 30 per cent instead of 40 per cent, the difference between the former pension and the new one.

The birds were shipped here by expression and were released at the G. T. R. station by two press early this morning and were released at the G. T. R. station by two pressions of the club. Earlier in the morning 50 young birds were arrived away when the representatives of the club. Reading Under Difficulties at Sea

If books are treasures anywhere it would seem that they would be especially valuable at sea. But, speaking of the average seaman, an old time mariner says that the rarest sight to be seen in a ship's forcastle is a man with a good stock of books. Occasionally, it seems, a sailor does get hold of a good book or two, and it is quite pathetic to see how he will treasure them.

The mariner adds that he was never in but one forecastle that had not a Bible and a copy of Shakespeare, the property of some man who held on to them voyage after voyage. And such books get read at sec with a closeness and persistency one may look for in vain ashore except among students.

It is interesting to note the difficulty of reading in the forecastles of ships, especially foreign ones. In the ship's forecastle it is seldom pos sible to read at all owing to the absence of light, either by day or by night. Men have been known to expose a ship to terrible risks by fire by sticking odd lengths of purloined candle on the edges of their bunks so that they might have light to read when lying down on the only spot on board rightly their own. One man, an American of great mental qualities, had such a passion for reading that he would sit up the whole night with a favorite author, Dickens for preference, and bribe his watch nates heavily to take his duties for him, such as wheel or lookout, s that he might remain undisturbed. Bent nearly double in his bunk, the miserable lamp hung upon a surreptitiously shifted hook so as to it nearer to him while still affording some light for his shipmates to rise or retire by, he made a pathetic picture of the pursuit of literature under difficulties, yet one familiar to many deep water sailors.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

EDUCATIONAL DISCIPLINE.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:
Under "Voice of the People" in The London Advertiser of Aurist 17 an article appeared entitled "Education" signed by Charles Lush of London, in which he disapproves of corporal punishment. Is Mr. Lush wiser than Solomon, who wrote, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it"? "Foolishness is bound in the heart of a child, but the rod of correction shall drive it far from him." (Proverbs, xxii., 6, 15.) "He that spareth his rod hateth his son, but he that loveth him chasteneth him betimes." (Proverbs, xxii., 6, 15.) When other means of discipline prove inadequate, corporal punishment ap-plied with common sense discretion is a helpful and useful means of maintaining a respect for parental author-ity, school discipline, and a proper re-gard for the observance of the laws of the state. I venture to state that as many children are spoiled in character and conduct through laxity of parents who do not insist on obedience when they should do so, as there are of children spoiled through the application of the rod. It is the too severe and unduly harsh use of corporal punishment, or when a parent or teacher is in a fit. when a parent or teacher is in a fit when a parent or teacher is in a fit of anger, that the punishment is wrong and should be condemned, not corporal punishment in its entirety. Even horse trainers frequently find it much more expedient and helpful to make use of the whip to some extent than to try to train horses without the whip.

Why does Mr. Lush proclaim himself as not a Christian, and as being more of a Buddhist or Gnostic? Does he think Buddhist or Gnostic? of a Buddhist or Gnostic? Does he think Buddhism or Gnosticism produces a better type of humanity? He had better go and live in India for a while. If he agrees that Jesus Christ is the one perfect ethical model, why doesn't he accept him as Saviour and learn to love and obey him, and become a practical Christian, such as ne thinks Christians ought to be? Why not accept him today. Read II. Corinthians, vi., 2; Hebrews, iii., 7, 8, 12-15; John, iii., 16; Acts., iv., 12; xvi., 30, 31; John, iii., 36. WM. E. DE FOREST.

Best Yield in Many

The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the arricultural representatives to the Ontario De-field. Dundas says that timothy kept for seed is yielding well.

Grey states that buyers have been going through the county paying $15 a bushel for sweet clover seed. One man there with seventeen acres has been showing a stalk from a field seeded this spring that measures 3 feet 7 inches in height. Peterboro places the yield per acre of sweet clover in that county at from 10 to 12 bushels per acre.

Apples are plentiful, especially the fall varieties. Wentworth reports that buyers are now offering $1.50 a barrel for apples under the tree.

Peaches are being marketed, and will be fairly plentiful. Lincoln states that tomatoes as being a glut on the marting fine the band, and photographers were sournlying here and there in order to obtain pictures of the momentous event. There was scarcely less enthusiasm over the 10,000 metres run, which developed into a sensational full-distance contest between Nurmi, Finland, Guillemot, France, Wilson, England, and Maccario, Italy—Undoubtedly four of the greatest distance runners who had been brought together in years.
