Stonefish, Canada's most noted Indian sniper, for three years in France, was found frozen to death last night near his home on the reserve. Stonefish's dead body was discovered by neigh-bors and the belief is that he was overcome in his exertions in wading thru the huge drifts near his home. Stonefish was the first Indian to en-list after the outbreak of the war joining the Canadian army on August 6, 1914. In his capacity as a sniper he is credited with having killed hundreds of Germans, but himself came thru three years of service without a wound. He was invalided home in November, 1917. His homecoming was made the event of the greatest celebration that the Indian reserve of this place has ever known.
