THE EVENING TIMES-STAR, SAINT JOHN, N. B., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1925

Hance J. Logan, former M. P. for Cumberland county, N. S., who was in the city today expressed the hope that the treaty with the West Indies, which he had advocated strongly, would be ratified at the coming session of Parliament.

Cumberland county, N. S., who was in the city today expressed the hope that the treaty with the West Indies, which was represented at strongly, would be Rillied at the coming session or Parameter of the considerations I believe that fall-unter to raitify it would be an imperial blunder. The different West Indies colonies sent representatives to Canada for a conference and after three weeks of discussion the treaty was signed. It has alince been ratified by practically and provided in the provided and the serious matter. It would be a great disappointment, not only to the West Indies of the serious matter. It would be a great disappointment, not only to the West Indies and the configuration of the serious matter. It would be a great disappointment, not only to the West Indies of the west of the serious matter. It would be a great disappointment, not only to the West Indies of discussion the treaty was signed. It was all to ratify the agreement which was represented at the conference and, knowing as I do the conditions and influences, I must say that a refusal to ratify the agreement which was represented at the conference and, knowing as I do the conditions and influences, I must say that a refusal to ratify the agreement which was represented at the conference and, knowing as I do the conditions and influences, I must say that a refusal to ratify the agreement which was represented at the conference on the real was been refused to the lack of any counts and the conference on the real was still the service of the proper of the proper year the British West Indies imported from the United States nearly $25,000,000 of goods practically all of which could be produced in the Province of New Brunswick. In order to get the preference from Canada the goods from the West Indies must be brought in through Canadian ports and this must react to the benefit of Halifax and Saint John, along with other Canadian ports."

Bernard Farrell, youngest son of Denis and Sarah Kane, of Chipman, passed away in the General Public Hospital early this morning. He is survived by his parents and one brother. The body will be taken to Chipman at 7.15 a.m. on Monday for burial at Chipman on Wednesday. The body will be at O'Neill's undertaking parlors until then.

One of the boys, he said, was an habitual offender and would run away from school at recess-time. His mother said that she had tried everything to make him go to school but to no purpose.
His Honor told the boy that if he promised faithfully to go to school on Monday, he would dismiss him but if he lapsed again, he would have to go to the Industrial Home. The boy promised rearried little weight as she had had lots of them from him to no effect.

Message and indevented to the esteem for the defendants.

J. Henneberry appeared for the defendants.

On the stand, Mrs. Young said that about 3 o'clock on the morning in question she and her husband were having a slight argument over his going to a dance without her. As they had been married only a couple of months it did not seem to her to be the proper behavior on the part of her spouse, and she said so in no uncertain terms. He then took hold of her arm, she declared, and knocked her against the hot oven, which was supported from the body of the stove by a single section of stovepipe. The oven was knocked down over the body of the stove. She said that there had been a fire in the stove earlier, as she had made some coffee to keep her awake to welcome her home-coming husband, but at the time of the spill it was dead-out. Young was then put on the stand, and admitted to His Honor that he had perhaps erred in staying out so late, and corroborated the rest of his wife's evidence.

Magistrate Henderson said that he was inclined to accept their explana-
