FOR A MAKE-OVER

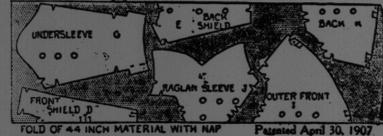

for separate waists. The model shown here requires a lining, for which about 1 1/2 yard of 35-inch material will be required. If one is a figured material let that be used for the outer blouse. Fold the material in half along a lengthwise thread place the outer front pattern (1) and the back (2). The raglan sleeve, back and front shield and undersleeve are cut from plain material. The front and back shield may be made of back, however. First make the lining, beginning by taking up dart in front as perforated. Close the center front seam. Turn hems in back and in right back shield at notches. Gather lower seam. Gather lower edge of front shield and insert section between double "X" perforations and two inches above. Adjust section on front shield, taking at corresponding perforations, lower edge and center seam. Sew standing collar to neck edge as notched. Close seam of undersleeve as notched, leaving extensions free. Turn under extension on slip perforations, lap to small "o" perforations. Sew in lining armholes as notched, easing any fullness. New, proceeding with the outside, place the raglan sleeve, bringing "T" to corresponding small "o" perforations and back as notched. Close under-arm and sleeve seams as notched. Gather lower edge of waist between double "T" perforations and two inches above. Arrange on lining, centers and under-arm seams even; stitch lower edges together, bringing lower front and back edges to centers. Turn hem in back of peloton at notches; close front seam, sew to lower edge of waist, centers even.

An attractive model for a separate waist that can be made from material at hand. Plain and figured effects are used to best advantage in making new models from old fabric.

If there is in your wardrobe two garments that have passed their gala days take the best portions of each and convert them into a dressy waist.

RECENT WEDDINGS

A marriage of interest to people of the West End, and to many friends throughout the city, was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock, when Miss Ethel M. Toole, daughter of Elijah Toole, of 330 St. James street, West St. John, was united in marriage to George M. Ross, the new manager of the Rexall stores of St. John. The young pair were unattended and the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. W. R. Robinson, pastor of the Ludlow street United Baptist church, was witnessed only by immediate friends of the contracting parties. The bride was attired in a traveling costume of navy blue with hat to correspond. Many handsome tokens of esteem from friends testified to the popularity of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Ross left Saturday evening on the Montreal train for Niagara, where the groom will attend a convention of the Rexall druggists. They will make their home at 19 Douglas avenue.

QUALITY IN EGGS

Ottawa Department Bulletin on Matter of Payment Only For What You Get

"The Payment for Eggs According to Quality" is the subject of pamphlet No. 6 of the poultry division of the Live Stock Branch, Ottawa, prepared by W. A. Brown, J. H. Hare, and W. H. Ault. This pamphlet points out that as a result of the "flat rate" or "use count" system of purchasing, Canadian farmers, during the past ten years, have lost annually large sums of money through marketing many bad and inferior eggs. Investigation into this phase of the poultry industry, caused the fact that while the wholesalers were not themselves directly responsible for the losses and shrinkage they had at their disposal the most effective means for improvement, viz., the making of a difference, not only between the prices paid for good and bad eggs, but also between the prices paid for the various grades of good eggs. The objects of this pamphlet are to encourage the grading of eggs, which can be done only by the use of an egg tester; the payment for eggs according to quality; the grading of eggs into first class eggs; and the adoption of a uniform system of marketing, which would protect not only the producer and the consumer but also the merchant. Copies of this pamphlet may be obtained free upon request from the Live Stock Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

GERMAN ACTRESS AND ACTRESSES HARSHLY TREATED; TOLD IN COURT

Berlin, July 5—An astonishing commentary upon the conditions in the German theatrical world, has been furnished by a trial suit at Munich. Ernst Schrumpp, director of the Munich Folk's Theatre, brought action against the publisher of a magazine devoted to stage affairs who had accused Schrumpp of mistreatment of his employees. The testimony at the trial disclosed conditions which moved the presiding judge to declare that "we have experience a great deal in this court room, but never before such testimony as that which we here have heard." The poorest workmen are better off than these actors. Workmen would not endure such conditions. Uncontradicted testimony showed that Schrumpp was accustomed to strike and kick actors and to lash them with a whip; that actresses were engaged at a salary of $15 to $22.50 monthly and required to furnish their own wardrobes, although the theatre was extremely profitable and Schrumpp had become rich through its management; that the director had declared in the presence of the whole company that "it is a pity that we are not in Russia, so I could walk into you with a knout" that he had struck a woman promiscuously in the face with a bunch of keys; (German keys are so big and heavy that a bunch of them is almost a weapon); that the testimony concerning the plaintiff's conduct toward the women of his company was of such a nature that the public was excluded from the courtroom while it was being given. The publisher of the offending article was acquitted and the entire costs were placed upon Schrumpp. He will also lose his concession as theatre manager. The abused actors declared that they submitted to such treatment because they were, under prevailing conditions in their profession, helpless to resist. Moreover, they said, there was no feeling of solidarity among actors which would make resistance effective. It was a question of bare existence with them, and they bore ill they had, rather than flee to others which might be worse.

At the afternoon session officers were elected as follows: Chairman for 1915—Rev. J. W. Cox, B.A., Sheffield (N. B.). Secretary—Rev. E. J. Thompson, Kew Ridge (N. B.). Treasurer—C. E. NOT ENTICING BUT NUTRITIOUS

Shackleton's Menu For South Polar Trip

BEST EVER, SAYS LEADER

Thirty six Ounces a Day For Each Man, But Selected to do Special Work - Travel Where Man Never Yet Has Been

London July 5—All the provisions for Sir Ernest Shackleton's trip across the South Polar continent are to be packed in sausage skins. "They are the most nutritious part of the composition," says Sir Ernest. "We tried them in Norway but did not succeed. We shall no doubt do better at the South Pole when we are hungry."

The menu prepared for the party is not an enticing one. It has been decided upon, however, under the advice of the Royal Army Medical College and is made up of food that is easy to transport and at the same time will keep the body warm and strong. The rations will be thirty-six ounces a day, compared with the average of three pounds a day eaten by the ordinary person. Waste has been eliminated from the rations of the explorers.

There will be daylight during the whole five months during which the party will be on the march so the ordinary day of twenty-four hours will be disregarded, and a new day of nineteen hours established. Supposing the hour for rising on the first day is seven o'clock, the time table will work out on these lines: 7-8 A. M.—Preparations for the start and breakfast, consisting of three ounces of lard per man, two ounces of sugar, one ounce of dried milk, wheat porridge and oats. 8-12 P. M.—March. 12-1 P. M.—Break and lunch, consisting of nut food, composed of Brazil, almonds, and beach nuts, mixed with oat and dried milk, oats. 1-5 P. M.—March. 5-7 P. M.—Pitch camp, rest, and take dinner, consisting of the same food in the same quantity as breakfast. 7 P. M. to 2 A. M.—Sleep. The same round of nineteen hours will then be repeated. Sir Ernest explains that the lard and sugar supply last; the protein builds up muscle; the nuts are the most nourishing food in the world; and the oats, mixed with other rations, afford the bulk necessary to keep the organs from becoming atrophied. "You may feel rather sick when you hear of it," said Sir Ernest, "but I can assure you that, scientifically considered, it is the finest that has ever been devised. I hope that this time hunger will play a very small part in our troubles."

As the party intends to cut right across the continent, a march of 1800 miles, they will have to carry all their food with them, and cannot like previous explorers, whose objective was the pole, depend upon food depots on the return march. Therefore the greatest attention is being paid to provisions. The organization is perfect so far as human ingenuity can devise. They are allowing fifteen days' food for Billiards, but they can go on much shorter rations if necessary. To carry the food motor sledges with aerial propellers will be used for the first time, and in addition there will be one hundred Canadian dogs, which can carry 100 pounds each. For protection while sleeping a sleeping hood, something after the fashion of an automobile hood, is to be used. This weighs thirty-seven pounds and accommodates six men, whereas the old tents weighed 100 pounds and accommodated three people. The first 800 miles of the journey will be across land, never before covered by man, and it is here that the chief difficulties are looked for. With the last 800 miles Sir Ernest is convinced that the party crossed and re-crossed it on his trip to the pole. The two ships for the expedition, one to take his party out to the Weddell sea and the other to bring them home from the other side of the continent, the Aurora and the Endurance, are now getting ready for their voyages. The latter is in London and the former in New Zealand.

More than ordinary interest attaches itself to "The Blindness of Virtue," which will undoubtedly be the most interesting dramatic entertainment that St. John will receive in a long time. SHIPOLOAF OF GREEKS DROWNED BY TURKS?

Athens, July 4—The Athens papers publish dispatches from Chios, an island in the Aegean, that a Turkish destroyer on July 3, bombarded and captured a Greek sailing ship, which was transporting refugees to Chios. The same destroyer, proceeded to Goum Inlet and bombarded and destroyed a monastery. According to the dispatches, fishermen at Telesma, a seaport of Asia Minor, opposite Chios, declare they saw the captured transport, but without passengers, whom they allege the Turks drowned.
