The Hopper

of a concrete mixer has a good appetite and a great capacity at the top.
But all that goes into it must pass easily through the narrow outlet at the bottom. If the man on the job goes away and leaves the mixture to harden in the hopper—he gets fired—that's all.
And the machine is put out of working order for a time.
It's easy for you to satisfy your appetite with food. But if you neglect yourself, and the food waste dries out, hardens and stagnates in your lower bowel—if you become constipated—your body machinery will suffer, and if you try to get rid of the mass by taking castor oil, pills, salts, mineral waters, etc., to force the bowels to move, you will only make matters worse.
You can't fire yourself for neglect. And you can't cure constipation by forming the habit of taking medicine every time you want your bowels to move. But you can overcome the trouble by taking Nujol.
Nujol brings about the habit of easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals, because Nujol is not a drug, does not act like any drug.
Nujol brings about a return to Nature's methods by supplying necessary lubrication of the bowel contents, by facilitating intestinal muscular action, by absorbing poisonous matter, and thus securing necessary cleansing of the intestinal canal.
Nujol makes you regular as clockwork—use it, and you'll not have to worry about the size of your appetite or the ability of your body machine to get rid of dangerous food waste.
Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today, and send for free booklet "Thirty Feet of Danger."

Warning: Nujol is sold only in sealed

Under- Currents By The Duchess

"Is that how you look at it?"
"Is there any other way? Why should you care whether or not I detest you? I whom you saw for the first time yesterday?"
"Why indeed?" He regards her absently as if trying to work out in his own mind the answer to this question and then suddenly.
"Nevertheless I do care" he says with a touch of vehemence. "It is the injustice of it to which I object. You had evidently determined beforehand to show me no grace. I defy you to deny it! Come you can?" Miss Dyant is silent. The very impetuosity of her accusation has deadened her power to reply and besides is there not truth in it? Had she not prejudged?
"Was that fair?" says he with some heat. "Strangers as we were to each other as we are as we are likely to remain I ask you how it was I deserved that foregone conclusion?"
"It surely isn't worth an argument," says she with a little frown shrugging her shoulders. "I tell you again I am sorry if I have inconvenienced or annoyed you. I confess too that if you could assure me you were leaving for some better world than—then this I should feel happier."
"I cannot however" shortly.
"I really wish then," drawing a little nearer to him and speaking earnestly "that you would reconsider your decision and stay. Have you thought how strange it will appear—your going in such haste—to the others?"
"Until this moment no one has ever questioned my actions," says he with a swift smile. "You are the first to do so. And why should I stay?
To give you the time require: to perfect your destruction? No, I shall save myself from that, if I can.
Goodbye!"
He bows coldly without offering her his hand.
"Bye-bye" he says, turning again at the doorway. "I am afraid you will have to put up with me for a few hours every week. I shall promise to make them as short as I possibly can. But my father likes to see me every seven days or so, and I like to see him. Do you think, a slight smile closing his face, "you will be able to live through it?"
"I have lived through a good many things," says Vera, her dark eyes athwart.
"That gives you a chance here; practice makes perfect. I am sorry to inconvenience you so far, but if I stayed away, I'm afraid my father might want to know why. He might even be so absurd as to miss me."
"Why should you care if he missed that I desire your absence?" cries Vera, her voice vibrating with anger.
"Come, remain, or stay away for ever, what it is to me?"
"Her heart is still throbbing violently when Griselda, having seen her consult her departure—returns to the sum."
"You make it up?" she asks anxiously.
"No," recklessly. "I only made bad worse. Once for all, Griselda, try to understand that the hateful man and I have not only sympathy in common.
We clash at every turn, every words, every look. He is gone, that many one solace. Let us pray he may never return."
"Pray for the moon, if you like," says Griselda. "Nobody can prevent you, and there may be pleasure in it.
But I think you are just as likely to get that prayer answered as the other."
"The proverbial wise woman would have abused herself before you," says Vera moodily. "It appears we are to have the pleasure of his society once every week."
"No! Bless my stars what brings him?"
"A mutual admiration that exists between his father and himself. He insinuates about the habit of easy, if regular intervals, because Nujol is separated from each other longer than seven days."
"He's no good," prophesies Griselda silently. "Anyone who could profess to regard that old mummy within with any sort of veneration, must have a screw loose somewhere. He must at all events be a born hypocrite. Just think of Uncle Gregory! An old fop whose veins run venom instead of blood!"
"I don't know," says Vera, "but he is his son. He might see a charm where we could not, even in so arid a spot." "Perhaps so. But if he does he's clever," says Griselda, distrust unbelief in her tone. "And so he's coming once in every seven days. I was uncertain before, but now certainly life is not worth living, with such a sword as that hanging veily over one's head.
However, pluck up your courage, Vera.
I'll stand by you, and perhaps after all it was only a threat."
"No," he meant it. There was fell purpose in his eye.
"What reason did he give?" still unbelieving.
"I told you. 'To see his father.'"
"But! who would believe that?
You would credit Munchausen, I really think, if he only had you to himself for five minutes! Do you honestly believe that any living thing ever wanted to see Uncle Gregory the second time?"
"I can only tell you what he said, and he was rude; really, really, farouche would better describe him.
He said too that if he stayed away his father would want to know why, and of course that would be awkward for-me."
"For us," fondly "Did he say that?
I like that. It somehow assures me he is not going to peach," says Gri-selda thoughtfully. "For even such small mercies, let us be thankful!"

EVERY WOMAN'S AMBITION FOR ROSY CHEEKS NOW EASILY SATISFIED.

Hollow cheeks with dark lines under the eyes, how a woman hates them!
But rosy cheeks, clear skin, and bright eyes, give them to a woman and she is happy.
The woman who attracts, whose fresh, clear complexion commands admiration, is always careful of her health, particularly of her blood condition. Bad complexion always a means bad blood.
Girls, don't let your blood grow thin or watery. To do so brings on haggard looks and declining strength.
Many a woman who has allowed herself to run-down, to develop that tired, worried look has built up a gain in this simple way. Why don't you try it?
At the close of every meal, just take two small chocolate-coated Fe-rozzone Tablets—any person can do this in a minute. The action of Ferozzone is apparent at once. It sets you up, makes you feel good, start up your appetite, aids digestion, brings that old-time feeling of youth into the system again.
Ferozzone puts you on the right road—the one leading to health.
Not a man, woman or child needing blood, vigor, endurance—not a person who is weak, nervous or sickly, not a person in ill-health who won't receive immediate help from Ferozzone.
As a tonic and restorative, as a health-bringer and body-builder, Fe-rozzone is an invaluable. It causes it feeds and builds, because it contains the elements that build up and strengthen. For better looks and better health try Ferozzone

Clear, Peachy Skin
Awaits Anyone Who
Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nervous wrecks," "run-downs," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.
An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleaning, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.
Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

intolerable was made at the recent international Bolshevik conference by M.
Lunachsky, minister of education in the Soviet Government according to a Petrograd dispatch.
The minister is said to have confessed that the Socialist conscience of the very circles in which Bolshevism is based is shaken at present.
The minister also admitted that the worst enemy of Bolshevism was the allied economic blockade, and he even went so far as to plead, "the end of the Bolshevik regime if the blockade continued. He said that owing topysical privations from lack of bread fuel and raw materials, it was natural the wrath should be provoked against the Government and that it should be accused of inefficiency."
