

Q. And carry on?

A. When I came home I knew the wife had been writing letters to someone and I found a letter from a man in Petawawa, something to do with her because she had been drinking, I asked her about it and she told me I was a sucker, it was not my fault but I was in the army and she was still drawing dependents' allowance.

Q. Did you return to Chatham?

A. No, I was put out, I told her I did not feel like soldiering to keep someone else's child and keep someone who called me a sucker.

Q. What happened after that?

A. I left home, I said I was not going to ~~see~~ her. I went north and got a job.

Q. You worked after?

A. Yes up north.

Q. You continued to work there?

A. Until, I think, around the 1st of February.

Q. This year?

A. Yes, Sir.

Q. What then?

A. Well I wrote mother and told her where I was and told her I thought I would come to Toronto and make arrangements to go back to the army. I came back to Toronto and sent the uniform to mother's to get it pressed and cleaned but in the meantime I was apprehended by the Provost Corps.

Q. In the second charge against you, certain articles of clothing are missing, have you any of those articles in your possession.... would you read the articles which you have in your possession which
