Good Night Stories

The Fairies' Gift.

Once there lived an unselfish old woman who was very, very poor. She spent all her days doing things for others.

Now the Good Fairies had been watching this old woman's kind deeds, and they wanted to help her, so they flew to her home one night and peeped in at the window.

"She is so unselfish, so good and so kind, that I feel we must find a way to give her the things she needs," said one Good Fairy, and she changed herself into an old man and knocked.

"Come in," cried the old woman, and the old man walked in.

"May I have something to eat," he asked.

"What I have is yours, sir," replied the old woman, and she set some dry bread and a bowl of soup before him.

"But what will you have if I eat this?" asked the old man, for he saw the cupboard was empty.

"Oh, I shall fix me some after you have finished," replied the old woman, insisting that she was not hungry, and the old man ate while the old woman nodded.

Finally the old woman fell fast asleep, and the Good Fairy called her companions.

"They hurried across and before many seconds the cupboard was filled with good things to eat.

They made her a beautiful gown from a soft gray cloud, and trimmed it with blue iridescent feathers.

The Good Fairies went in search of lady-slippers which they charmed to fit the old woman. As soon as they had finished their work, they opened the door and peeped in at the window again.

When the old woman awakened she rubbed her eyes.

"I guess I'm fast asleep," she said, as she smelled the good things cooking and saw the table set and a splendid supper spread.

She started up and stumbled over the slippers.

"Surely I am dreaming!" she whispered, picking them up.

"No! they are real! And see! here's a beautiful new gown," she exclaimed, holding them tight, as the tears ran down her cheeks.

"One never knows whom they are entertaining these days," the old woman said to herself, as she sat down at the first really nice meal she had had in many a day.

The Good Fairies, quite proud because they had made the old woman happy, flew away to find some one else they could help, for the Good Fairies are never content unless they're helping some one.

side of my head, and I fell into the boat stunned by the wind. "We were just going to throw you overboard," was the greeting I had from some of the men when I revived.

The desperate life had floated down the river and within a few days they were back in the scene of their former trials, but this time on a mission of retribution.

Sir Mowbray took part in the subsequent fighting and was wounded in all five times, while he also had two horses shot under him. He retired with the rank of major-general, in 1895, and nine years later joined the general, the K. C. I. E., being conferred on him in connection with the Coronation Durbar at Delhi.

Daylight Saving.
Winnipeg, March 20.—Notice was given at the city council meeting last night at the next meeting a bylaw would be introduced to repeal the daylight saving measure, which unless repealed comes automatically into effect April 22. Letters were read from trades and labor council and the street railway men's union asking for the repeal.

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of lime stone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderful in its effects. It cleans out all the four fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be but a little while until the roses begin to appear in the cheeks. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at a drug store, but it is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation. Try it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.

MORALITY OF THE CANADIAN ARMY ABROAD IS GOOD

Great Majority of Soldiers Are Most Honorable of Men

A Canadian soldier now at the front in France, sends a lengthy letter clipped from an English paper of recent date, contradicting in unmeasured terms and with first-hand knowledge the stories one frequently hears of drunkenness and immorality among the troops from overseas while training in England. The letter concludes. In an army of millions of men it cannot be expected that every individual will wear the halo of a saintly life, though even the meanest dare not abuse their honorable death upon the field of battle.

The average man knows that the army is fundamentally sound and do not bother to look up exact facts, make inquiries, or investigate statistics. It is only the "higher" one that parade all the evil that they can rake together, omitting and suppressing the vast and utterly disproportionate mass of good.

The real facts are astonishing, a lasting tribute to the sterling qualities inherent in the race.

Drunkenness, crime and immorality in the army have come down to a percentage so low that no civilian community could rival it. The standard of military good conduct is exceedingly high, framed as it was in the past for a regular picked army. It has not been lowered or modified in any way to meet the exigencies of a war now entering military life. Indeed, if one takes into account the severity of military discipline when overseas upon active service, it will easily be seen that the standard is a higher one than that of civilians.

To sum up the whole thing, the behavior of the British and overseas troops is little short of marvellous in its excellence. Take note of it for yourselves upon it as a feather in the national cap. London-to-day is four times a safer and a better city than it was three years ago. When you hear talk of "purity leagues" and campaigns, remember that the people here and the mad-brained, unpleasant folk who see dirt where no dirt is. The nation is proud of her soldiers; let us, from such underhand attacks.

The report that bakeries of Sarina would raise bread to 9 cents is said to have caused a general revival of home baking.

CANADIAN HONOR ROLL

Killed in Action
London—Pte. Wesley Jenkins, Pte. C. H. Fitzgerald.

Wounded
London—Pte. M. A. Prudhomme, Galt—Pte. Frank W. Lee, Brantford—Pte. H. J. Hall.

Last night's casualties, following heavy lists for several days, were again light.

Mrs. H. J. Hall, of 275 Brant Ave. yesterday had word that her husband, Pte. Hall of the Infantry, had been admitted to No. 13 Field Ambulance on March 1, suffering from a gunshot wound in the left leg and a compound fracture. He left with a battalion which wintered here. He formerly worked on a farm at Brantford.

London Men
London, March 21.—Pte. Wesley Jenkins, a former Free Press man, officially reported killed yesterday, has now been officially reported killed in action, his mother, Mrs. Theresa Jenkins, of 1 Marjora street, receiving official notification from Ottawa yesterday. Pte. Jenkins went overseas with the 135th (Middlesex) Battalion. He had been rejected once for overseas service, but tried again and was finally passed by the doctors.

Word has been received of the death in action of Pte. C. H. Fitzgerald, of Ceylon, Sask., formerly of this city. Pte. Fitzgerald went overseas last October, and a letter had just been received from him in which he said the trenches were "quieter than the streets of Toronto." He was born in this city, but had been resident of Toronto for 14 years. Two brothers are at the front.

Thought to be Dead
Galt, March 21.—After 9 months Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lee, Center St., were officially notified yesterday that their son, Pte. Frank Walter Lee, had been wounded on June 13, 1916, and that the soldier had failed to come since last spring, and while inquiries were made of the authorities no replies were received. Four months ago Pte. Lee wrote stating that he had been wounded, but at that time they had lost all trace of him, presuming he had met his death in mud. Little hope is held out for his being alive. He was 32 years of age and was born in England.

WHY NOT USE COMMON SENSE?

There are some subjects on which many people simply will not use their customary common sense.

One is love; another is money, especially in relation to its investment.

Many people who are intelligent enough to make money are neither intelligent or self-controlled in what they expect that money to do.

They don't seem to have an idea of using a two-and-two-makes-four, or can't possibly make-five brand of common sense on this subject.

They Hope So Hard That They Don't Reason.
I suppose they hope so hard that hope completely dominates reason.

For instance, we were speaking of someone who is paying for his house by paying two-five dollars to a co-operative bank monthly. In ten years he will own his house.

"There," said the Author's Wife, "now, why couldn't you have done that with the little house we bought? We get thirty dollars rent and we could turn twenty-five right in. Why, just think, we pay a hundred and twenty-five dollars a year on our mortgage and that doesn't reduce it one bit. I always felt there was some better way, but you would go to that bank."

He Thought It Useless to Explain.
The Author's Wife started to speak, then gave her a look in which incredulity, anger and enforced tolerance were blended, shrugged his shoulders and said nothing.

It was the Cynic who came to his rescue and explained that the man who was paying for his house was paying tax rates, water rates and repairs, besides the co-operative payment; that to do as he was doing she would have to turn over most of the rent to the co-operative, and on top of that pay other expenses instead of getting some income as she now was.

That, you say, was a woman. Very well, I know an insurance agent who had a beautiful argument which proved that it cost so much more to own a house than by renting you save enough for a large insurance policy.

A Great Many Men Didn't Stop to Analyze.
He convinced a great many men with that glittering argument, despite the two glaring fallacies that he pictured up as owning a house much more costly than the rent one, and that his figures for depreciation and repairs were outrageous.

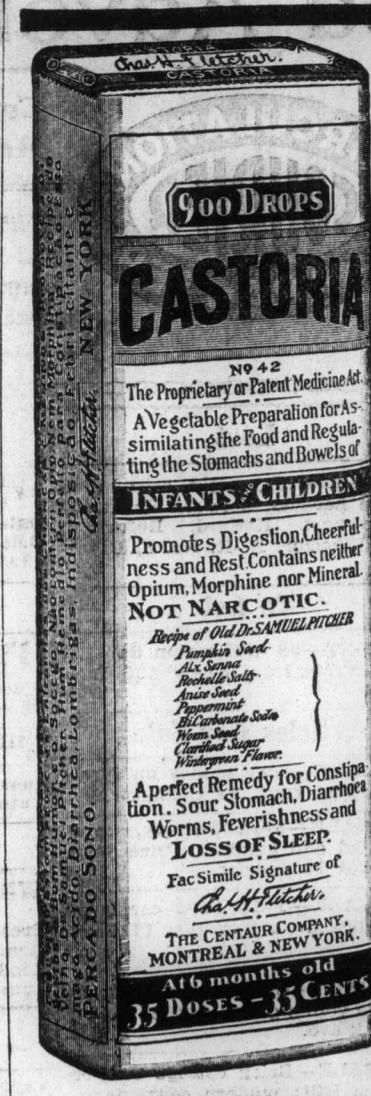

There are certain axioms of investment which will help keep anyone out of trouble.

The first is this: You can get a certain interest for your money together with reasonable guarantees of safety. If you want more than that you must make up your mind to take some risk.

The second is as old as it is new. "You can't get something for nothing."

THE HOLDUP
Men whose kids are many, to whom the losing of a penny is tragedy, and more. It is the marvel of the ages how they, upon their meagre wages, still seem to make their way; the burden on their backs grows broader and still they buy the household fodder, and live from day to day. They live but on a scanty diet, and now we hear of frenzied riot, led by indignant dames; and still we're stung when buying taters, and still the sinful speculators pursue their wicked games.

Who Pays the Penalty?

Last April two of our representatives solicited applications for life assurance from a prominent Toronto wholesale merchant and his son.

They succeeded in selling to the father a policy for a considerable amount, but the son could not be induced to protect his dependents in this way against the financial loss which would result from his early death.

Less than two months afterwards the daily newspapers recorded the tragic story of the younger man's accidental death. His failure to act when action was possible deprives his family of the insurance money which he could have secured to them so easily.

LADY'S WAIST.
By Anabel Worthington.

As spring tries to break through the winter's snow and frost the shirt waist becomes more than ever the garment of importance in the average woman's wardrobe. As with dresses, simplicity of course, rules the new designs, but for all that the novelty effects are many. Sometimes the collar shows novel treatment, again the cuffs, or some striking feature of the front of the blouse may claim attention.

In the illustration you see a waist such as we spoke of, one of truly distinctive character, cut with simple fitness and having the front and back gathered to yokes. An inset vest of contrasting goods, outlined by satin or other material in opposing color, is the striking feature of this model. The covered buttons suggest front-closing, but in reality the blouse slips on over the head. The high roll collar and neck revers lend further attractiveness to the model. For full length sleeve a smart cuff is another detail with charm.

Forward silk and net, crepe de chine, silk 36 to 42. To make in size 36 requires 1 1/2 and lace, voile also in combination, and yards of 3/8 inch material and 3/8 of a yard linen in two colors are a few suggestions of contrasting goods. Use 2 1/2 yards all one color for copying the model. The way of the material.

To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.
