THE ACADIAN

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JAN. 27, 1888

Local and Provincial.

THE CARNIVAL.—The carnival did not come off on Tuesday evening on account of the storm, but will take place this evening. We understand there is a prospect of a large number appearing on the ice in costume, and a good time may be expected.

Very choice Tea, in 3 and 5lb Tins, at 18 R. PRAT'S.

RUN AWAY.—While Mr Wm. Pineo was harnessing his horse at his stable on Monday, the horse took fright and ran away, making things pretty lively as it passed up Main St. It was not stopped till it had reached Mr F. C Johnson's, where it turned into his orchard, and was caught after the sleigh had been badly demolished.

WANTED.—Dried Apples, Beans, and Oats, in exchange for goods at R. PRAT'S.

TEA MEETING.—We understand that the ladies of the Presbyterian congregation of this place are to hold a teameeting and fancy sale in a few weeks. It will be remembered that the one conducted by them last winter was an enjoyable affair, and we have no doubt but that this will prove as successful. Particulars will appear later on.

PERSONAL.—We had a pleasant call on Wednesday from Mr Smith purser of the str. Yarmouth, who is travelling in the interests of the company. He informed us that the Yarmouth is being somewhat improved, and will go on her usual route the first of March. The Yarmouth was a favorite with the travelling public last season, and her popularity will no doubt be further increased during the coming summer.

TAKE NOTICE.—If your razor is dull, take it to J. M Shaw's Barber Shop, and he will put it in first-class order for the small sum of 15c. 10

THE FARMER'S ADVOCATE.—A copy of the "Farmer's Advocate and Home Magazine," of London, Ont., has come to hand—an agricultural journal which is excellent in all respects. It is well edited, and includes every subject of importance to the farmer or stockman, the truthful and independent tone of the paper enhancing the value of its information. It is handsomely printed on fine paper, and got up in library form. It is indeed a very comprehensive journal. We recommend it.

B. G Bishop is offering his stock of Crockery, Glass and Earthenware at great reduction in order to make room for the spring stock. 23

THE RECITAL.—Owing to the disagreeable state of the weather on Friday, Miss Magee's recital was postponed till Monday evening. At the appointed hour Assembly Hall was comfortably filled with the best people of Wolfville, who gave close attention to the programme. This was nicely chosen and arranged, and brought out the talent of the speaker admirably. Miss Magee is a polished elocutionist, and will one day rank among the first on the continent. All who had the pleasure of hearing her on this occasion expressed themselves as highly pleased We hope to have the privilege of hearing her read again in our town.

CHEW! CHEW!—Just received, a fine lot of American Chewing Tobacco also Macdonald, Blaza Diamond, Napoleon, T & B. Virginia Leaf, all of which are of the very best quality.
51 J. M. SHAW.

BIG STORM.—Tuesday's storm in some portions of the Province was the worst ever experienced in Nova Scotia. We in this, the land of Evangeline, hardly felt it, but in Halifax it was a regular "North West" blizzard. The I. C. R. trains were all more or less blocked. The Quebec Express with two powerful engines was two solid hours getting from Rockingham to Richmond, a distance of four miles. Snowdrifts were reported nine feet high on the track. The W. & A.R. trains were scarce Tuesday evening, the express for Halifax being held over night at Kentville, and the evening accommodation from Halifax, cancelled, she remaining in Halifax, and coming out Wednesday morning, coupled with the morning freight, until they met the train which was held at Kentville all night, when they divided up, the express coming on about about two hours late, and the freight following along nearly on time. Wednesday being fine the W. & A. R got straightened out and ready for traffic Thursday. The Annapolis river is frozen solid to Goat Island. Passengers going west beyond Annapolis have to stage it from Annapolis to Digby, and even at Digby there is plenty of ice floating around to make it exciting for steamers coming in. Yarmouth harbor is frozen up, and it will take several days' thaw to open navigation there. However, dog days are coming, slow but sure, and will give the ice a hard shake.

Church Street Letter.

Since I last wrote you a letter quite a space of time has fleeted by. The old year has passed away, and the new one stepped over the threshhold, soon to be numbered among those of the past.

The farmers are complaining of so little, or indeed no sleighing. There has been no snow; only cold weather, with lots of ice. The like has not been known here for years. Last year, though we did not have very much sleighing, the first was enjoyed about the last of November ('86). If the winters keep on growing less intense, we will soon have a tropical region in place of a temperate one. It seems as though this kind of weather, with little or no snow, must be very hard upon the human frame, as nearly every person is complaining of colds in the head, chest, or perhaps all over. Many have been confined to their beds for the past one or two weeks, while others have been frequenting the use of the handkerchief very often when at their work.

The concert which was to have been repeated at Port Williams, had to be postponed on account of so many being sick.

We are glad that the people of this community are awakening to the fact of the necessity of education. From Church Street there are about six young men attending Horton Academy, two at Acadia College, and one young lady. There is also one young man attending Cornell University. From Port Williams there are five young men and one young lady at the Academy, and one young man at College.

Quite an excitement has been created over the appointing of an inspector. We are glad to learn, however, it has been successfully passed. Now a word to the young as well as the older. There is a S. of T. Division at Port Williams, which is in a very prosperous condition, and is, I understand, doing a good work. There are many of you who are not members. Why do you not join and lend a helping hand in the work? Well, I have heard reasons like this—I have not the time, My parents will not allow me to, etc. But what kind of childish excuses are these? The first one to me seems foolish. That any one is so rushed that he or she cannot get time enough to spend two or three hours out of the week in a Division room. No! but many of you can spend two or three (perhaps) nights in one of Kentville's, Wolfville's or PortWilliams' cursed bar rooms, and ruin yourself, spend your money, and lead your children into eternal damnation. The second reason is the only sensible reason I have heard given yet. Of course when one's parents say No! it is settled. But parents do you want your children to grow up in ignorance? If so, keep them away from all public societies. Do you want them to be buried in a drunkard's grave? If so, do not allow them to join the Division or take part in any temperance work. But if you want them to be men and women of high standing, of good society, and advancers of temperance work, allow them to move in good society and to take part in the good work while young, and then they will grow up as you would have them to. Those attending such meetings as these will derive a great benefit and be improved in many ways. Readings, recitations, original writings (both poetry and prose) debates and financial business are all carried on, thus giving you a chance in each of the different subjects for practice. But highest and best of all is Temperance. This is the chief aim, and it is in this work you are especially invited to take a part.

I am afraid I have already taken up too much space in your valuable paper, but I hope what I have said may drown some of the blunderings, and many may come in and be active workers among us. Remember, it is not going to injure you in any way, but on the other hand, help you, benefit you, and perhaps save you from a drunkard's grave.

These few remarks apply not only to one particular place, but to all in generals. If you are so situated as to be prevented yourself from joining the temperance work, then lend your influence to others, and lead them upon the road they should go, and that all good men and women travel—the path of temperance. DON CARLOS.

Noses.

BY JACO HOLLIE.

There are a great many different ways of judging a man, as I remarked on a previous occasion. There are the eyes, the hand, the cranium, and the face in general. But after all there's no way that suits me just like the nose. "As plain as the nose on a man's face," saith the old proverb, and the man that wrote that evidently thought that was putting it plain enough.

A writer in the last ACADIAN says that this is also true of the ass, and seems quite worked up about it that no reference was made to his kind of nose. I can assure him that no offence was intended. It was merely an overlook. Here it is. He says, "Some judge him from his appearance, some from his actions, some from his appetite. But" he adds, "there is one law which holds good for the rich and poor, for the ignorant and unlearned, etc. As you judge a pig by his grunt, so you judge the ass by his ignorance." Never mind, my friend; don't take it to heart so. All asses are not that way, and who knows after all but your nose is different from the general run? It's always best to look on the sunny side. And, do you know, I'm inclined to think that your nose isn't an ass's nose after all, that it's a mistake—your nose is all right. It's best to think so, at any rate.

In the course of his remarks the said writer says that omission is made of one peculiar kind of nose, which he thinks fully deserves recognition. "It is the nose of the inquisitive, prying, sneaking, interfering, ignorant humbug." He adds, "If that nose authority will kindly feel around a little above his mouth, (taking care of his hand) he will probably have this specimen illustrated." Yes, that's me; (like as not now he'll object to that word, and say it's wrong, but I don't see as there's any way of helping it now.) This style of nose has all the above characteristics, but there is one he omitted to mention. You've probably guessed it long before this. Brain—that's it! The face that wears that nose has brain sticking out all over it. Never trifle with a man that wears a nose like that, or you'll be sorry for it. Naturally the man that wears that style of nose is of a plain, unassuming disposition, but woe to the person that rouses the demon within him. It were better for him had he never been born.

Now if I were going to sit down and whittle out a nose for said writer, it wouldn't be the ass's nose—that is the common, ordinary ass's nose. It would be a nose more like this. This is the nose of the satirist. Stolidity, obtuseness, perversity, wilfulness and some humor are its chief characteristics. A good kind of a nose tacked on to a poor kind of face. An appearance of great wisdom coupled with remarkable lack of brain power, but any amount of obstinacy. Pugilists wear that kind of a sign: it's their badge of office. A man with that kind of a nose will be faithful to you if he likes you, but mostly he don't like you. On the whole, don't mix up much with that kind of a nose. If you meet it on the street, cross over and take the other side. If he shows signs of crossing too, break for the woods, hunt your cave, and hide.

In conclusion, I would like to throw out a few bits of advice for the benefit of said writer. My friend, you are just starting out on the rough and thorny highway of life. You will probably meet with a great many rebuffs, but struggle on. Success will be yours if you struggle hard enough for it. It has been asked, "Does the world need a satirist?" By all means; the world needs a real good, first-class satirist, and I've no doubt but you can get the job if you work hard and study. But remember this. A college education is a great thing, but it isn't all. As you leave the classic halls of Acadia next spring you mustn't imagine so. It is just the beginning of your education. You will have a harder teacher to learn from hereafter—Experience. You are smart, we all know, but there have been people before now just as smart—perhaps a shade smarter. Beware of judging yourself from what others think of you. If you keep on in this satire business, be careful whom you satirize. Shun the nose of the prying, inquisitive, sneaking, etc., humbug. Be sure to find out the style of nose the man wears whom you expect to satirize before you commence your slaughter. Above all, take things in a cool and collected manner. Don't get cross. Keep thy temper, thee mayst need it some other time. Always remember the words of the wise man—"Let not the sun go down on thy wrath." O, behave!

A LETTER FROM QUEBEC.
(Translated from the French.)

GENTLEMEN,—I have deferred writing the letter to testify to the benefits derived from the use of your SIMSON'S LINIMENT. It has done wonders among all the people who have used it about here.

I can certify, that in every case where I have used it upon myself, I have been very well satisfied.

Mr N. Mooney of St Sylvester, had a bad leg which was said to be incurable. I told him to use Simson's Liniment, and it has effected a complete cure in a very short time. His neighbor Mr John Devlin having received a serious cut on his leg, Mr Mooney took him the Liniment, and having used it, found himself completely cured.

I have been assured of the cures of these people, and the remedy having become known, it has created quite a demand, people coming as far as 35 miles to procure it for themselves.

Mr Wm. Bennett of St Ferdinand has had it some time for himself and he has since bought it for his friends, who suffer from Rheumatism, and they have all been well satisfied.

I have never known any medicine to have had such good results about here as Simson's Liniment. Hoping that it will prove as satisfactory elsewhere,

I am yours truly,
DAMASE PAGEOT,
Merchant.
