PENDING BYE ELECTIONS.

Within the next few weeks there will appointed collector of customs at Montreal. All three seats are held by conservatives, and the government do not think they | tional policy, tariff reform, or what not risk anything in opening them. The tory majority in Ottawa is always large, ranging from 1,000 to 1,500. The horde of government officials resident there cling tenaciously to their present masters, and the immense 'amount of patronage distributed at the capital makes it is easy | national policy tree. The situation is deground for the administration. In Winnipeg the government majority last election was over 500; and in Cardwell Mr. White was elected by over 200 majority. These three constituencies therefore will scarcely furnish a fair field for a trial of strength between the parties, but the government anxious to impress the country with the idea that they are strong with people, and to make a show of success to influence the electors that a general election will continue them in power, have selected three tory strongholds. Whatever the result in these constituencies, the liberals should not be discouraged. Let the government open any county where the parties are at all evenly balanced, and they will promptly be shown that the people are tired of the high protection, anti-reciprocity policy of the adminis tration. The verdict of a tory hive will not be accepted as indicating the true feeling of the country, and if, in Ottawa, Winnipeg, and Cardwell other government majorities run up to 1,000, Sir John Thompson and his colleagues need not flatter themselves that they represent the honest opinion of Canada, or that a general election will sustain their maladministration of public affairs.

ELECTION TALK.

Some election rumors have cropped up during the past few days with especial reference to York county, and there ha been speculation as to who might succeed Mr. Temple in the tory nomination, proship, as is his desire. To judge from the talk of our tory friends all that is necessary is for their man to get a nomination and the rest will be easy. But the people have something to say in the matter, and the people of York will have a good deal to say not to the liking of the tory managers, should the government open this constituency. York has had about all the tory rule it can stand, and if the government think they can count with confidence on the electors further sustaining them in their policy of high taxation for the enrichment of the monopolists and the pauperizing of the masses, we think they will wake up some fine morning very much surprised. The methods em ployed to elect Mr. Temple on every octate to say that the great majority of the electors of York are liberal, but the free choice of a representative has not been left to them. Bribery and corruption have prevailed to an alarming extent in every contest in which the tory candidate has been elected. But it is hoped that the end of that condition has been sprung on this constituency, the untramprotesting against the extravagance, the unjust policy, and the boodleism which have characterized tory rule for the past

THE HERALD is not a prophet, but it believes the government will hesitate before precipitating a bye-election in York, even to satisfy the craving and unsatiable ambition of Mr. Temple. However let it event -a daughter. come, but let the liberals be aroused and ready to wipe out the defeats of the past.

OUR POPULAR RULERS.

Lord Aberdeen is rapidly becoming popular in the upper provinces, and his clever wife stands side by side with him in the bid for public enthusiasm. The other night at Montreal the governor general appeared at a Scottish concert in full highland costume, even to the bare knees, and completely captured the brawny sons of the heather. He is already the favorite of Irishmen from his popularity in the old lands, and what suits Scotchmen and Irishmen is not going to be critized by Englishmen. Mr. Gladstone made a rare choice when he sent Aberdeen with his talented wife to Canada; and possibly he treated us well in Blake over to help the G. O. M. with his home rule bill. Lord and Lady Aberdeen will visit New Brunswick next summer, and they may be sure of a hearty welcome. They ought to make a tour of this arouse a large degree of enthusiasm among good effect in his public addresses, and the man is yet to be discovered who can rival governor Boyd in the narration of Irish wit. With such distinguished end men, an Aberdeen-Boyd starring tour would tickle the people immensely.

ANOTHER EX-PREMIER DEAD.

Sir John Abbott, ex-premier of Canada, who died at Montreal, Monday night, was was the treasurer of the tory corruption railway contract, and it was to him those ten thousand," were addressed by Sir John Macdonald. But now that Mr. Abbott is dead, it is better to remember only his good qualities, and the service he rendered the country in many public capacities.

LOBENGULA'S DEFEAT.

The general public are not very deeply interested in Lobengula, the irascible warrior of Mashonaland, but they will be pleased to learn that he is being licked into decency, and submission to British authority. A despatch announces the capture of Buluwayo, the capital of Lobengula, and it is only a question of a few days when the fight will be over. These African warriors have probably never heard of British valor, but they will have to learn of it by practical experience, as the Zulus did. THE CHICAGO TRAGEDY.

Echoes of The Terrible Affair That hocked America.

The details of the tragedy at Chicago by which Mayor Harrison of that city was shot down in cold blood, will be found on the first page of THE HERALD, and the following additional particulars will be read with interest. At the inquest on his father's dead body Preston Harrison, son of the Mayor described briefly his knowledge of the tragic affair. He testified that Mayor Harrison was sixty-eight years old and a native of Lexington, Ky.

"The last time I saw him alive," con tinued the witness was about a quarter to eight o'clock on Sunday night. About two minutes past eight o'clock I found him lying on the floor having been shot. I heard shots fired, but was in an upper room, and did not see any one shooting him and asked him what the matter was. He said he was shot and dving. 'Get Annie at once,' was his only reply. He lay on the floor where I found him about seventeen minutes and then died. Some

Since he was a mere boy he has cared for himself, and by his relatives is formation asked for just now by the clerk thought to have saved a snug sum of money. He had one hobby, however. Upon this hobby he spent much of his leisure time. This hobby is single tax. Nothing that has ever come from the pen of Henry George has escaped his notice, and there is scarcely a statement or a proposition in "Progress or Poverty" with which he is not familiar. His mother lives in a comfortable brick cottage at No. | committed to an insane asylum. 609 Jane street, with her son, John W., who is a mail assorter in the government

I never had a fault to find with him outside of his belief in single tax. I always thought that he paid too much attention to worthless theories. He believed everything that Henry George wrote and no one could persuade him that he was wrong."

Miss Annie Howard, who on Nov. 16. was to have become the bride of Mayor Harrison, is dangerously ill, and there are grave fears that she will never fully recover from the dreadful shock she sustained. Never robust in health, nor strong and arranged reciprocal trade relations in nerve, she was completely prostrated. When the mayor lay wounded his first cry was for 'Annie.' She came and on his torn and dying body threw herself in an agony of grief. As her lover died she sonably happy. He has a new baby, and fainted. With pomp and wealth of honors the remains of Chicago's late mayor were laid to rest Wednesday in Graceland cemetery. Over 50,000 men rode or marched in the funeral procession. Probably 500,000 men and women lined the streets. People thronged to see the remains as they lay in state in the city hall corridor. Almost 100 people in a minute passed the bier during the early hours of Wednesday morning. The thoroughfares around the city hall were so packed with people that vehicular traffic was impossible. Every window was filled in the neighborhood. Hundreds of persons sat upon the copings of the building far above the street. There was no getting out of the crowd, once caught in it. A number of women fainted. The police could do nothing but Robt. Barker and Geo. Cooper, of Fredcarry them to the steps of the city hall,
