BERLIN, July 28.
Germany has declined to entertain the request of President Madriz that this Government use its friendly offices to put a stop to what it termed the interference of the U. S. in the affairs of Nicaragua. The Nicaraguan circular note to the Powers in which a protest against the attitude of Washington towards the rebellion was coupled with a plea for foreign intervention, was received by the Foreign Office on June 16th, by cable direct from Managua. As Nicaragua has no diplomatic representative at Berlin, the reply was made through Herr De Bugh, the German Minister of Central America, resident at Guatemala City. The latter was informed of the request by the Foreign Office of the communication from President Madriz and directed to answer that the German Government could do nothing in the matter.

Scotland Yard has received no message relative to developments in the Crippen case, either from Inspector Hew, who is on board the steamer Laurentic, or from Capt. Kendall, of the Montrose, since the original exchanges with the latter when he reported that he believed that Dr. Hawley H. Crippen and his typist, Ethel Clara Le Neve, were among his passengers. All sorts of stories are afloat regarding wireless messages with these two vessels.

MADRID, July 28.
Premier Canalejas confirms to-day that what was practically an ultimatum had been received from the Vatican. The Premier added that the Government was ready to exhaust every means to avoid a rupture, but could not recede from the engagements taken before the country. "The Liberal" expresses the opinion that the Vatican is counting upon the fall of Canalejas and has decided to give battle with the aid of certain Spanish Bishops.

The extent of the cholera epidemic is revealed in the figures made public by the Government to-day. The stricken region now includes 43 provinces of European Russia, and since the outbreak of the disease last May there have been a total of 28,855 cases with 16,651 deaths. Recently there has been a startling increase in the numbers of victims.

Senor Antonio San Miguel, Editor of the Havana daily newspaper La Lucha, and member of the Cuban House of Representatives, who has just arrived from Havana, declared that the recent conspiracy against the Cuban Government which he was accused of fostering, was in reality begun by a prominent Havana bear broker for the purpose of demoralizing the stock market and depreciating the values of securities.

The Daily Mail which is exploiting Field Marshal Kitchener's non-employment against the Government publishes under the date of Friday, July 28th, a story that China is inviting him to organize and develop the Chinese army on his own terms. The determination to build up the Chinese Army is now uppermost in the minds of China's rulers, and any emolument that Lord Kitchener may name would be thought cheap for his services.

The leading Towns of the world, with its chief lines of marine commerce, is threatened with the same fate that overtook St. Mark's Campanile, in Venice. A Royal Commission of experts, as the result of a thorough investigation, reported that instead of being a massive, spacious base as it was generally supposed to be, the foundation consists simply of a ring of masonry exactly corresponding to the huge cylindrical mass superposed thereon.

Shannahan at Mount Cashel.

Bent on getting there seemed to be the only phrase in the English language, as I know it, to describe the people swarming out to Mount Cashel on Wednesday evening. 'Twas the king of garden parties that was on, for Mount Cashel garden party is acknowledged by all as being "it." Rich (if we have any really rich people in the country), and poor, actually tumbled over one another in the scramble for carriages, and the quiet man who owns a garden on the outskirts of the city and also a horse on the stand, smiled his day of the races smile. We are getting a cut lot of cabmen around us now. The day for recklessness seems to have gone and no more you strike a drive for half nothing. Times are changing all round and 'tis just as well for the cabmen to fall in line.

Mount Cashel is a very picturesque spot and under the blazing sun it shone to beat the band. Before now an orphan had a different brand of sympathy bailed out to him, now he is looked upon as having struck it all right, and while we are satisfied to help him out by getting the worth of our money in tea and sandwiches, yet we fail to shed a tear over his hard luck. For me to praise the work of the Christian Brothers in connection with the Orphanage would be like painting a rainbow in the hope of improving on the colors; so I'll say no more than that the children showed that they were being looked after in first class style, both by their healthy appearance and their tidy clothes. Thanks be to goodness the day has passed when orphans should have to endure being rigged up in a different kind of clothes from the rest of us, for it must have been a hindrance to the youngsters in enjoying their childhood days.

All the footballers turned out in good form, and these young men of the different clubs deserve the thanks of the public, for they are ever ready to lend a hand or a leg for sweet charity's sake. Mr. Higgins refereed the games with the sun in his face and had some very difficult points to decide, but with the usual diplomacy he managed to make all feel that they were being treated right. Jim Vinicombe was there—where is he not?—and carried off the big prize. No one objects to Jim winning all he can, for he is made of the proper stuff that helps to make all around feel glad.

The ladies worked energetically and 'tis simply wonderful the amount of work they accomplished. The cigar vendors should go "on the road" for if they displayed the same energy selling crabs as they did in the cigar line, Tom Harris would have to take a back seat.

Jimmy Crotty and Nix Vinicombe worked the bottles of pins very successfully, and the wonder is that some of the ladies didn't win. They would, I know, if Mr. Crotty could disclose the secret.

The skittle-alley was patronized liberally, and our friend, Jno. P. Grace, hustled in the pickles. Billy Bengeil, the lad who sells the Telegram, worked hard rolling down the ball and sticking up the pins. Coming on to tea time Billy got a kind of shaky, and when the scent of hotted ham wafted across the gallery, 'twas too much for William and he made tracks for Mrs. Summers' table. The shooting gallery was ably looked after by our military bearing friend, Charlie Vaughan. He hustled the crowd and gave them pointers as to how to hold the gun. Shannahan came along and was invited to take a shot.

"Close one eye," said Vaughan, "and point for that little round spot away down there."

Just as he was aiming who came along but Mrs. Tucker. "Stop firing," she yelled. "Surely," said she, "you're not after forgetting yourself that far as to give a gun in the hands of a man like that. Take the gun from him," said she, "or order that boy down there into the next field."

I fired and the boy pointed up near the bullseye and told me that's where I struck. But I had been there before and knew a Mount Cashel boy would even tell a fib in order to rush business.

Bennett's band played fine. I don't care what others say. My time is Johnnie Bennett. Why the "Banks of Newfoundland" would be a thing of the past if it wasn't for Johnnie, and yet we hear a lot about patriotism, but scarcely ever hear our national soul-stirring anthem. The only time you do hear it is at election times, and then it is played as a speaker to arouse interest in a milk and water candidate.

Running from Torbay may be considered sport, providing people liked it. Shannahan has no use for it, for he dislikes the sight of a man tottering around on a hot day insensible.

Robson at The Hague.

(Daily News Message.)

THE HAGUE, July 28.
Sir William Robson, continued his address to-day. He refuted the assertion of American Counsel that, after the decision in the Arbitration case at Halifax, the United States had only paid indemnity to Britain, after having received an assurance from the British Government that Britain had no right to exercise jurisdiction over American fishermen. He then dealt with the doctrine of international "servitude" whereon the United States based its claims to its rights to fish without being subject to British laws. Counsel argued that no one would pretend that the subjects of a foreign state, to whom had been accorded the right to enter the ports of another state for the purposes of commerce, were freed from local laws. No logical reason had been advanced by the United States to justify an exception in the case of the Fisheries. The States had in no way proved that when the Treaty was concluded the doctrine of international servitude was universally admitted. In conformity to the desire of the Tribunal, Secretary Root has submitted a note, embodying the clauses in the Canadian and Newfoundland laws, whereon the States raises objections. The proceedings are expected to terminate on August 10th, Root delivering the closing speech.

The Hudson Bay Route

There is an active movement in the Northwest of Canada this year to push on the railway either to Churchill or Nelson. The terminus of the line has not yet been settled. Great vested interests are opposed to this new route, but the votes of the Northwest are unanimous in its favour, and the Dominion Government has been literally forced to push it ahead. I have written on this subject for the Manitoba Free Press, but by far the best paper is the one I now send you, by William Beach. Newfoundlanders are interested in this subject. If the Canadians are wise, for the initiation of this project, they will make use of our splendid sealing steamers and Newfoundland masters—the best hands in the world for dealing with ice navigation. It is most important that the new route should have a successful commencement.

The International Quick Cleaner will rapidly and with the greatest ease clean straw hats, silks, gloves, laces, carpets, woollen clothing, etc., as well as painted wood work, linoleum, canvas, and oil cloth. It will take grease, oil and fresh paint out of clothes, and freshen up the fabric. It has, in fact, a multitude of uses and will not harm any fabric on which it is recommended to be used. No house should be without it. You should try a tin of this remarkable discovery. Price (large tins) 25 cts. Nervola has been greatly praised as a Fountain drink, with bitters or lime juice it goes well. 5c. a glass.

Annual Meeting

Of the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

At the annual meeting of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, held last Tuesday, July 26th, 1910, at the St. Vincent de Paul Hall, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mr. Chas. W. Ryan, President; Mr. James T. Martin, Vice-President; Mr. Wm. J. Kelly, Asst. Vice-President; Mr. William O'Brien, Treasurer, and Mr. Michael Walsh, Secretary. A vote of thanks was tendered the retiring President, Mr. M. Malone, whose untiring zeal and faithfulness to the principles of St. Vincent de Paul Society was of such a nature that commended itself for example. A vote of thanks was tendered the Rev. Monsignor Roche, V.G., who acted as Chairman during the election. The rev. gentleman then addressed the body on general matters. He said the St. Vincent de Paul Society in St. John's should be much larger than it is. In England this society is very large and very strong. He read from a paper recently of a meeting of the society in London where the Lord Mayor of the city spoke these words: "I am not here in my official capacity but as a member of the St. Vincent de Paul Society." This is an illustration of the strength of this great body on the other side. The rev. gentleman intimated that His Grace the Archbishop has been thinking of a means of broadening out the channels of activity of the society. More than likely on his return he will take the matter up.

Marine Notes.

The schr. Dorothy, Capt. Hughes, arrived here Wednesday evening from Barbadoes after a run of 19 days with molasses to G. Knowling. The schr. A. V. Conrad arrived here from Sydney yesterday with 261 tons of coal for Geo. Neal. She left Monday and had fine weather on the run.

Take a short cut to prosperity

Two Leap to Death.

New York, July 14.—Two extraordinary suicides marked the night in the environs of New York.

An unknown man, about 25 years old and well dressed, sauntered across the Williamsburg Bridge across the East River, sat down on a bench in the centre span to read the racing chart in an evening paper, offered a cigarette to a neighbour, smoked one himself with seeming enjoyment and then began rapidly to climb the iron lattice work of one of the piers. Before his chance acquaintance could run to call a policeman the stranger had mounted to the top of the pier, 250 feet above the foundations, and leaped off. His body did not clear the roadway, which is 135 feet above the water, and he was picked up lifeless.

Another unknown man climbed on to the stone parapet of the Hudson boulevard in North Bergen, N. J., to-night and leaped to the rocks 25 feet below. His corpse was found with almost every bone in it broken.
