TODAY'S Messages.
10.10 A.M.

GRAHAM WHITE WOUNDED.
HAZEBROUCK, France, To-day. Claude Graham White, British aviator, has been wounded gravely. No details are obtained. He was commissioned as Lieutenant last month. Graham White is one of the best known aviators and won international prominence several years ago by spectacular flights in England and America. He enlisted in the Naval wings at the outbreak of war and was appointed temporary flight commander. A year ago he had a narrow escape from death. While participating in a raid by a squadron of aeroplanes on Belgian towns he fell into the sea, but was picked up by a cruiser. Lieutenant Graham White's wife, formerly Miss Emily Taylor, New York, obtained last month a decree for restitution of her conjugal rights in an action which in England is a preliminary step to a suit for divorce.

RUSSIAN CAPTURE IMPORTANT VILLAGE.
LONDON, To-day. Russian Petrograd correspondent says significance is attached by the Russians to the capture of the village of Garbounovka, announced yesterday by the War Office at Petrograd. It is said the possession of this town renders the defence of Dvinsk more secure, as Garbounovka lies on the direct road to Dvinsk.

GERMAN SCOTTS OUT.
AMSTERDAM, To-day. The Telegram says the German fleet vessels in the North Sea are believed to have gone out of Zeeland, as it is known armed trawlers are stationed there, and that some boats which formerly were not at port have been seen lying there under steam. Small German warships have been active in the North Sea recently. The German Office announced last week that two British cruisers had been sunk, but the British said the vessels referred to were mine sweepers, one of which failed to return to port.

TOWNSHEND'S HEROIC STAND.
LONDON, To-day. The remarkable stand which has been made by Major General Charles Townshend and his comparatively small body of British troops at Kut-el-Amara, Mesopotamia, where for nearly two months they have been besieged by a large army of Turks, has found General Townshend to a high level of esteem among the English public. This war, away from the big war theatre, has been watched with deepest interest by those at home since the British repulsed the Turks at Ctesiphon and began their retreat. Kut-el-Amara and the exploits of General Townshend have occupied much space in newspapers, some military critics hailing him as one of the most brilliant soldiers the Empire has produced. During the long siege General Townshend has beaten off attacks of Ottoman troops and kept his little force intact. Every despatch which comes through from the Commander has been read with deepest interest by the public, which feared the relieving army which is said to have been held up by natural obstacles would reach Kut-el-Amara too late. Gen. Townshend's recent report that he had sufficient supplies for his soldiers greatly relieved the minds of British people who are now anxiously awaiting the outcome. The full story of the battle of Ctesiphon, the retreat to Kut-el-Amara and the siege are expected to make a thrilling chapter as any in the history of the World War. The name of General Townshend will occupy an important place in that story. The conflict at Ctesiphon and the desperate work when the General himself fought as fiercely as any of his soldiers, who that day paid to flight a body of Ottoman troops, said to have been six times their number. There were critical moments. It was at those times that General Townshend showed himself to be a cool, resourceful commander and able tactician. Four times he rallied his men and led them in the charges. Military critics declare the victory at Ctesiphon was a magnificent one, but that the retreat to Kut-el-Amara will equal it not surpass it as a successful military achievement under disadvantages of an extraordinary kind. It is stated that not only did General Townshend ward off Turks, but he did so with a loss insignificant under the circumstances and he succeeded in taking with him all his wounded. He has been declared that men under his would follow General Townshend anywhere. General Townshend is said to have forced his way up to high command through sheer merit. When he was only a lieutenant he became an ardent student of Napoleon. He studied every work on the military theories and practices of that great General. He made it a rule to study seven hours a day. He never failed carrying out his investigations of the military genius of the "master." Further, he visited every battlefield on which Napoleon fought, reconstructed for himself the disposition of the forces in battles, which decided the fate of nations. It is stated here that there probably is no greater authority on Napoleonic warfare in the British army than he. General Townshend long before 1914 had studied the possibility of war with Germany. He always held that when war did come, Britain would not be able to rely solely on her navy, but would need to have a great army for the field. Believing that this country would require an army of millions not thousands, he favoured compulsory service. He expressed the opinion that Germany would make her attack on France and eventually England through Belgium and many times surveyed what he thought would be the coming battlefield. The General is fifty-four years of age.

LIGHT, HEAT, COMFORT!
The proprietor of one of the best known multiple shopping systems is credited with saying, "Give me any old shop, in any old street, and I'll guarantee to make it in twelve months the most widely known and best frequented shop in the district." He was asked to explain. Holding up three fingers he said, "I believe in the trinity of LIGHT, WARMTH, COMFORT. I should dazzle the mobs until the candle drew them, I should bring them into a warm, comfortable shop, filled with a soft, pleasing radiance, and the rest is—well, mere child's play."
Mixed metaphors, perhaps, but expressive. Now we can more than imagine the kind of shop this well-known individual would open, for we pass it in almost every town—always a landmark to the street. No one fails to notice it. There is an indefinable air of welcome and invitation as one stands for a moment on the pathway and lets one's gaze travel inside it. The subdued, restful lighting effect, that so charms because of its very unobtrusiveness, the absence of dark corners, the intangible feeling that if one would step inside one would be sure of experiencing a delicious sense of warmth and comfort and cheerfulness—all these are parts of its appeal. Truly a shop with an individuality.
We cordially invite all progressive business men to visit our showroom and see our latest Lighting and Heating Appliances, by the adoption of which the ideal outline in the above extract from a London paper may be easily secured. Our new RADIO X. Lamp and GASTEMAX radiators fill all light and heat requirements.

AIR RAID INJURES HOSPITAL AND CHURCH.
PARIS, To-day. Austrian aeroplanes made a raid yesterday over Ravenna and the neighbouring towns of Codigoro and Bottighe in northeastern Italy near the Adriatic. Havas despatch from Rome says 16 persons were killed and number of others wounded. Several women and children were injured and the hospital and the Basilica Sant'Appollinare at Ravenna were damaged. The Church of Sant'Appollinare was erected in the years 535 to 538, consecrated in 549 by Saint Maximian, restored in 1779, is the largest Basilica still existing in Ravenna.

GERMAN GUNBOAT SUNK.
HAVRE, To-day. A despatch received from the Belgian forces, operating on Lake Tanganyika, Africa, says the German gunboat Hedwig Von Weesmann has been sunk in a naval combat off Albertville. Two of the German crew were killed and the remainder of the men aboard the gunboat were made prisoners.

FOUNDERED IN TWO MINUTES.
HARTLEPOOL, Eng., To-day. Sixteen members of the Norwegian ship which was sunk by a mine or torpedo in the North Sea on Thursday night landed here. Two men are injured. The explosion shattered the after part of the ship. She foundered in two minutes. The crew escaped. The boat was picked up by another Norwegian ship and brought here.

GREEKS FACE DEFICIT.
ATHENS, To-day. The Greek Government is considering a measure to improve the financial situation. Being confronted with a large deficit it is expected the Government will retain a percentage of the salaries of office holders and levy a tax on the profits realized by the merchant marine from war traffic.

NOON.
LONDON, To-day. The suggestion that he should become Minister of Aviation has not been agreeably accepted by Lord Northcliffe. In an editorial today in the Daily Mail, one of Lord Northcliffe's newspapers, says: "Some newspapers and many thousands of correspondents suggest that Lord Northcliffe should be placed in charge of the Air Department. Lord Northcliffe's reply is that there are men better able than he to undertake the task. Furthermore, he could not conscientiously take part in a Government that is fighting a defensive rather than an offensive war."

TURKS FOR THE TIGRIS.
LONDON, To-day. A despatch from Athens says reports there say Turkish forces in formidable numbers are being sent to Mesopotamia. The troops, released from the Dardanelles, are already on their way there, and small contingents have already left Thrace.

SUSPECTED OF POISONING GUESTS AT BANQUET.
CHICAGO, To-day. Supt. of Police Schetler, said to-day that he expected arrest within a short time of Jean Cronis, Assistant Chef at the University Club, suspected of putting poison in soup served at a dinner given Thursday night to Archbishop Mundellin. An empty poison bottle and wrappers, found in the kitchen of the University Club, verified by an analysis of soup, served at the banquet, indicate that the alleged prisoner made a scientific calculation to kill every guest at the banquet.

In Exhausted Condition.
This morning when Michael Chafe of Petty Harbor was coming to the city he found a man lying on the roadside in an exhausted condition. Chafe drove him to the city and secured medical assistance. The rescued man said that early this morning he left a house on the road to come to the city but had been prostrated by the severe storm.
