Barley water is often used, instead of dilute the milk given to a child it tends to make the curd much more digestible. When mixed with the baby barley may be given plain, when diluted by the physician or nurse. One tablespoon of barley flour mixed with water into a thin paste and to one quart of boiling water, boil for twenty minutes. Enough water to make a quart. Barley is used to must boil for at least three hours and be strained before using. More juice may be extracted by squeezing and lemons if the fruit is covered with cold water and come to a boil before the juice is out. Add the juice of three lemons to a quart of richly boiled water of plain sugar and water. The yellow peel from lemons gives a better taste to the sugar water in it. Place in a sealed jar and set on ice. When your child wants lemonade, a teaspoon of the mixture added to a glass of water is delicious. Orangeade is made the same way, substituting oranges for lemons.

WAR SUMMARY.

The American Army transport Anitiles has been attacked and sunk by a German submarine with the loss of about 70 lives, the second American ship the Germans have torpedoed during the past week and on succeeding days. The other craft was a torpedo destroyer which suffered the loss of one life and five wounded. Both ships were attacked within the War Zone, the destroyer last Tuesday and the transport the following day. The destroyer made port, though severely damaged, but the transport sank within five minutes after the torpedo from an unseen submarine struck her abreast of the engine room bulkhead. The Anitiles was homeward bound, presumably from a French port, where probably she had embarked troops and stores. She had 227 persons aboard, among them navy and army officers and some 33 enlisted men of the army. All the officers were saved but 26 of the soldiers and three of the ship's officers perished. The remainder of the dead belonged to the crew of the transport. The torpedo of the submarine found its mark against the side of the transport, notwithstanding the fact that the transport was being convoyed by yessels of the American patrol. Officers of the army and navy and enlisted men aboard were returning to the United States on special assignments or possibly invalided or discharged from the service. Singularly reticent is the German War Office in its latest official statement with regard to the operations of German naval forces against the Russian squadron which is presumed to be bottled up in Moon Sound, merely dealing with the naval battle which resulted in the sinking of the Russian battleship Slavica. The most recent communication from Petrograd gives few further details of the situation. From this later statement the fact is gleaned that the Germans at noon on Wednesday began landing troops on Dago Island which lies directly north of Oesel Island, after a bombardment, and that the German naval units engaged in the conquest of the three islands and in an attempt to destroy the Russian fleet was comprised of at least ten of the newest dreadnoughts, ten cruisers, not less than fifty torpedo boat destroyers and between eight and ten submarines. In addition a large number of trawlers and other auxiliaries and hydro-airplanes and other aircraft are working with the enemy. Two German torpedo boats were destroyed while running through the mine field in Moon Sound, according to Petrograd. Two German trawlers have been sunk by the fire of the Russian fleet. That the seriousness of the situation is fully recognized by Russia is indicated by the fact that although such a contingency had been reckoned on previously, but not carried out the Russian capital is to be moved from Petrograd to Moscow in the very near future. The civil population is already evacuating Revel, one of the principal Russian ports on the Gulf of Finland. Artillery duels continue in the principal theatres of the war. British and French artillery are still answering the fire vigorously. Two German torpedo boats were destroyed at various points along the Meuse River and at Zonnebeke. Little infantry activity is taking place except in the nature of raids.

IN THE RING.

NEW YORK, To-day.
Bonny Leonard, world's champion light weight pugilist, outfought Jacob Britton, of Chicago, former welter-weight champion in six rounds of a ten round bout here to-night. Britton had the better of two rounds; the honours were even in two others. Leonard's weight is 133 pounds and Britton's 139.

AVIATION REPORT.

LONDON, To-day.
A British official statement dealing with aviation issued this evening says: Early on Thursday morning the weather was brilliantly fine but at 9 o'clock low thick clouds lifted up from the west. Artillery work and photography were carried out by our airplanes and in the course of the day two and a half tons of bombs were dropped on large gun positions in the rear, on railway sidings near Ghent and various hostile billets and huts. At night another ton of bombs was dropped on Courtrai Station and a German airplane in that vicinity. In the air fighting six hostile machines were downed and four driven down out of control, while another was shot down by anti-aircraft gun fire. Seven of our machines are missing.

WHY POLLEN WAS CENSORED.

LONDON, To-day.
In the Commons to-day George Lambert inquired why an article by

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT! STOP DANDRUFF AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Hair stops falling out and gets thick, wavy, strong and beautiful.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandierine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandierine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandierine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Dandierine from any druggist or toilet counter for a few cents.

Arthur Pollen, naval writer, which purported to give the American view of British naval strategy, was so censured as to completely distort its meaning. Thomas J. McNamara, Financial Secretary of the Admiralty replied that the Admiralty had reason to know that the views expressed in the article did not accord with the views of the United States navy departments. McNamara added that the article would have tended to undermine mutual confidence and co-operation between the American navy and Royal navy, and would have been the source of satisfaction only to the enemy.

THE GERMAN NAVY IN THE BALTIC.

PETROGRAD, To-day.
Text of to-day's official: In the Baltic Sea during the battle of Wednesday at the southern entrance to Moon Sound, several hits were observed by our battleships on the enemy dreadnoughts and two trawlers were sunk by our fire. Thursday, in Moon Sound, two enemy torpedo boats ran into our mine fields, where they blew up and sank. In the German naval units which participated in the operation are reported as being not less than 10 dreadnoughts of the newest type, Kaiser and Koenig, ten cruisers and not less than fifty destroyers, of which about 20 were of the newest make and between eight and ten submarines. With these forces there are operating a very large number of trawlers and other auxiliaries, including transports, hydro-airplanes and rafts. During the evening of yesterday we definitely established that at noon on Wednesday, after a preliminary bombardment, the enemy began to land troops at Dago Island north of the Village of Serre. Reports are current that about 11 enemy ships, probably torpedo boats passed during the night of Wednesday off Kulwast on eastern coast of Moon Island.

IMPLICATES WHOLE GREEK CABINET.

LONDON, To-day.
A despatch from Athens says that the investigation committees report commits all the members of former Premier Lambros' Cabinet to the Court, with the single exception of Professor Hillionpos, Minister of Justice. The accusations are that the Cabinet members attempted to provoke war with the Entente Allies and fomented the events of December, 1916. The discussion of the report in the Deputies was set for to-morrow.

THE SLAVA.

PETROGRAD, To-day.
The Slava was unable to follow the other Russian ships retiring to the northward and was sunk by her own crew in order to bar the way to the enemy's vessels, said Marine Minister Verdevski just before starting today to join the Baltic fleet.

APPROACHING STARVATION.

WASHINGTON, To-day.
The rations now allowed to the German people and civilian population of the occupied portions of France and Belgium, details of which have just reached the Food Administration, are now insufficient to maintain bodily health and vigor. The French and Belgians get considerably less than the amount apportioned to the German population and they get no meat except bacon.

USED A LARGE FLEET.

PETROGRAD, To-day.
The entire third and fourth squadrons of the German High Seas fleet and probably also the fifth squadron participated in the operations in the Gulf of Riga, according to an official statement. The three squadrons comprised two-thirds of the German fleet. Among units was the battle cruiser Moltke of 22,635 tons and several submarines.

CHILE WISHES TO USE GERMAN SHIPS.

SANTIAGO, To-day.
With the intention of utilizing six German steamers interested in ports of this country, the Chilean Government applied to Germany for permission to use the vessels. Germany has replied with her authorization for the plan. The Russian Government also has asked Great Britain to authorize the use of the German ships but so far has not received a reply. In the meantime the Government is endeavouring to obtain the authorization of the United States to use the interned vessels.

MUST BE RESTITUTION OF AL-SACE-LORRAINE.

PARIS, To-day.
In a discussion preceding the passing of a vote of confidence in the Government by a great majority in the Deputies to-day several members criticized the policy of the Ministers as being incoherent and lacking in energy. I have already said, when expounding our war aims the Premier said, that it is the restitution of Alsace-Lorraine that we are determined upon. There must be restitution, whatever may be determined upon or whatever the fate of battles. For this we should push the war to a bitter end.

TORONTO, Ont., To-day.
"That this meeting puts on record its continued confidence in the leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and condemns in the strongest terms the makeshift Union Government as a means of preventing the people of Canada from expressing their verdict at the polls on its stewardship." BRIGANDS HOLD UP TRAIN.

LONDON, To-day.
A despatch to the Times from Odessa, says: One hundred passengers were killed or wounded on a train held up by two hundred armed brigands near Vladikavaka in the Caucasus.

RUSSIAN FLEET TOO WEAK TO OPPOSE GERMANS.

PETROGRAD, To-day.
The Russian Baltic fleet in its entirety could not face the Germans in the Gulf of Riga without abandoning the responsibility for the defence of the Gulf of Finland, according to Count Kayist, of the Russian Admiralty. The Germans, he said, effected landing operations on Oesel Island with twelve transports escorted by twelve battleships of all types, five cruisers and an enormous number of auxiliaries and thirty destroyers. It was impossible for our entire Baltic fleet to meet the enemy without abandoning responsibility for a section of the Gulf of Finland. The Count cited the battle of Jutland as a precedent for the impossibility of using submarines to advantage. He added that the Germans are using the same troops that took Oesel Island to attack Dago Island, thus showing that the Germans were carrying out their operations with a minimum force.

Who Are the Twelve?

We have been asked by a number of relatives of the surviving members of the first contingent to go on active service to state who are the twelve men in question as referred to in the lecture of Capt. Nangle on Thursday night last, as there are about 35 of the original 500 on the other side who have not had a furlough home. Eighty per cent. of those remaining are now working in the munition factories and could be best obtained by applying to the Minister of Militia or Major Walter Rendell at the Pay and Record Office, Colonial Building.

THE CURL PAPER.

The curl paper is a neat little device which is used to test the love of young husbands who have never seen one. Its mission is to put a series of dainty knots in hair which otherwise would straighten out like a short man in a six-foot tub.
Some very weird and horrifying effects can be produced by the curl paper, when applied with reckless abandon and strung in thick clusters from the back of the neck to the eyebrows. Many a confiding bridegroom has had his trust in human nature almost wrecked by the sight of a collection of bristling curl papers sprawling upon the landscape with outstretched antennae, ready to receive.

A neat little device which is used to test the love of young husbands.

sent the good-night kiss with a jab in the left eye. If the truth were known, it would probably be found that most of our divorcees spring from this form of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Some curl papers are made of long strips of sole leather, around which the hair is twisted in an enticing spiral effect, something like a cucumber vine after a hard frost. Women who have tried all kinds of hair curlers say that this is the most satisfactory, as it leaves the hair still attached to the head with a succession of sprightly bumps and natural water-falls, which will not wear off until the following afternoon in an altitude 12,000 feet above sea level.

Despite the attractive properties of the curl paper, some women cling to that deadly instrument known as the curling iron, which is usually left suspended in a helpless attitude from the chimney of a kerosene lamp. This weapon is responsible for more burns, blisters and court plaster than the cook-stove fire which is started with gasolene. Nothing is more terrifying to a humane husband than to see the wife of his bosom toying carelessly with a red-hot, curling iron and guiding it swiftly around her right ear, while conversing nonchalantly about the price of pattern hats. There ought to be a law in this country prohibiting wives from branding themselves ever and anon with this vindictive device, and there would be if Congress were not so busy collecting

What is Winter Comfort?

Boston Transcript: Up to a certain point, the temperature in which we like to sit is entirely a matter of habit. To a Scotchman, a temperature of 58 degrees is exactly the same as a temperature of 68 is to an American. The public school rooms in Scotland are required, to be kept at 58 and no higher, for the "comfort and health" of the pupils. But that would mean torture for an American school child, coming from a home where the temperature is often maintained at 80. The Eskimo is obliged to remove all his upper garments as soon as the temperature in his igloo is raised, by the radiation of his whale oil lamp, as high as 50 degrees. All the continent of Europe, outside of Russia and perhaps one or two other northern countries, sits in perfect comfort in a temperature of 60 degrees. And that our own people do not really need more is proved by the fact that it takes only a single winter abroad to accustom them to the European standard, so that they abhor the indoor heat to which they were born.

His and Germany's Silver Mine.

"Germany's claim that she imports nothing, buys only of herself, and so is growing rich from the war, is a dreadful fallacy."
The speaker was Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the American Food Board.
"Germany," he went on, "is like the young man who wisely thought he'd grow his own garden-stuff. This young man had been digging for about an hour when his spade turned up a quarter. Ten minutes later he found another quarter. Then he found a dime. Then he found a quarter again. "By gosh," he said, "I've struck a silver mine," and, straightening up, he felt something cold slide down his leg. Another quarter lay at his feet. He grasped the truth: There was a hole in his pocket."
