MIDDLE AGE CUSTOMS REVIVED.

BELGRADE. (Associated Press.)

All the customs of the romantic days of the Middle Ages were revived for the wedding here June 8 of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Princess Marie of Rumania. The Rumanian Princess, the most comely and talented of Queen Marie's large family and the third of her children to be married within a year, sailed up the Danube on a gorgeous float to Belgrade, accompanied by the entire Rumanian Family. In the medieval citadel overlooking the river at Belgrade, King Alexander who sought the hand of more than one other Princess before becoming affianced to Princess Marie, met her on horseback. Together they went to the Palace where he presented her to his court. Then the couple drove to the cathedral for the solemn Orthodox Greek religious service. After the ceremony in the cathedral, which was performed by the Serbian Patriarch, a procession of deputations from the various Serbian provinces, dressed in national costumes, passed before the King and Queen. There were floats and pageants symbolic of Serbia's greatest historic events, going back to the Czar Douchan's time when the Slavs held dominion over a great part of Europe. Young girls from Bosnia-Herzegovina, Slovenia, Croatia, Dalmatia, Montenegro and Macedonia passed in procession and presented the bride with sprays of rosemary, the traditional harbinger of good luck.

ROYAL RECEPTION.

After these ceremonies the King and Queen held a reception for the Diplomatic and Consular Corps and the representatives of foreign courts and governments, and in the evening there was a formal dinner at the palace, followed by a gala ball. The royal couple then went to a castle at Beed, Slovenia, for their honeymoon. Nearly all the sovereigns of Europe were represented at the wedding. Besides King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Rumania, King Constantine and Queen Sophia of Greece were present. King George of England was represented by the Duke of York, who acted as best man to King Alexander. The Kings of Italy, Spain, Belgium, Norway, the Shah of Persia, the Emperor of Japan, and the heads of state of other countries were represented by titled personages or special ambassadors. Marshal Franchet d'Espèrey represented France.

THE BRIDEGROOM.

King Alexander is 34 years old and his bride 22. Next to King Boris of Bulgaria, Alexander, who is the son of Peter Karageorgievitch, the late Serbian ruler. He is Europe's youngest reigning sovereign. The young King's mother died when he was four years old and he has never known family life. For 12 years before he ascended the throne, he served as a soldier and therefore never had a chance to make himself a home. His brother George, who is living in Paris, and who renounced his rights to the throne 12 years ago, did not attend the wedding. Reared in a democratic and catholic atmosphere, the young ruler is essentially one of his people. He is affable and approachable. Although he has no artistic tastes, he is fond of literature, and is an enthusiast on the subject of numismatics. He is of small physical proportions and in complexion is extremely dark. While he cannot be said to be handsome, he has a pleasing face and an engaging manner.

THE BRIDE.

Princess Marie is a charming, vivacious girl, with blonde hair and blue eyes. Like her mother, she is an accomplished linguist, painter and musician. She is fond of outdoor sports, especially tennis, football, horseback

Why He Disliked It.

The building was one of singular magnificence—large, handsome, and well-proportioned. The architect had evidently lavished all his skill and art upon the exterior.

"Ah," said a man to his friend, as they walked by, "what a superb structure!"

"Yes, it is indeed," returned the other; "but I cannot bear to look at it."

"Why not?" asked his friend.

"Because," replied the other, with warmth, "it reminds me that the owner built it out of the ashes, the groans of his fellow-men, the grief of crying children, the walls and moans of poor, defenceless women, the howls and lamentations—"

"Gracious!" exclaimed his friend. "What is the owner? A money-lender—an oppressor of the poor?"

"No, no," burst out his friend; "worse—worse than that! He—he is a dentist!"

Rural Route No. 1, Mascouche, Que. The Minard's Liniment People.

Sirs,—I feel that I should be doing a wrong if I neglected to write you. I have had four tumors growing on my head for years. I had them cut off by a surgeon about fifteen years ago but they grew again till about three months ago I had one as large and shaped like a lady's thumb, on the very place where my hair should be parted and it was getting so embarrassing in public that it was a constant worry to me. About three months ago I got a bottle of your liniment for another purpose and saw on the label good for tumors. Well I tried it and kept at it for exactly two months, with the result that it has entirely removed all trace of the tumor, and were it not that they had been cut fifteen years ago, no mark would be seen. I have not been asked for this testimonial and you can use it as you see fit.

(Sgd.) FRED C. ROBINSON.
P.S.—I am a farmer and intend using Minard's Liniment on my mare for a strained tendon, and am hoping for some results.—Fred C. R.

Fire and Thief Gun.

Poison gas in some form or other is apparently being applied in Germany for domestic uses, judging from an advertisement in a Berlin paper, says an illustrated article in the Popular Mechanics Magazine. A picture of a pistol, that looks very much like an automatic with an enlarged barrel is described as being for protection against fire and burglars. The means of protection is not mentioned, but presumably it is something on the order of the ordinary chemical extinguisher and is operated by pulling a trigger instead of turning it upside down.
