Peace Conference Sitting—Doings Among the Hockeyists.

Among the Jockeys.

(By O'Neill Sevier.)

Every racing season in these parts witnesses the rise to fame of from one to four jockeys, and the season of 1901 was no exception in this respect. It could not accurately be said that it was a season of riding talent, but there was a deal of quality about its stars. George Odum, Arthur Redfern and Lucien Lyne were the stars, and they were worthy to have come into prominence during the most satisfactory season the turf ever knew. No great tussle, looking at the thing from any point of view one cares to take, has been developed in twenty years.

They are not merely successful in the ordinary sense of the word, but they are also successful in the art of beating the barrier and riding whipfinches, they are thorough young men. They can beat their own time, looking at the thing from any point of view one cares to take, has been developed in twenty years.

his advantage in size. Although robust and healthy, the New England lad can easily make 20 pounds without exhausting himself in Turkish baths. Odum, a big-boned, rangy youth, will weigh 160 to 170 or 180.

Odum will, however, earn his salary and a snug sum on the side, because of the tendency of metropolitan racing secretaries to keep the weights up by offering more weight for age races and a greater number of heavy handicaps than usual.

Jockeys who held their own during the season of 1902 were Tommy Burns, John Sullivan, Louis Smith, Willie Shaw and Otto Wenderly. Burns would have ranked with the season's stars if his work had been even. There were times when his horsemanship was positively brilliant. On these occasions he was as alert and energetic as a young man.

Odum was fairly and reasonably successful in his work, but he was not a headstrong, thoughtless boy. Many metropolitan turf patrons regarded Wenderly and Shaw as the best of the season. They did as well as they could. The trouble was that the two young men were appraised too highly in the fall of 1901. They were unaccountably successful, but their success was due more to the fact that they had no first-rate competitors than to their own ability.

Odum's backsliding. O'Connor, McCue, Shea and Brennan were out and out failures. It is impossible to find an explanation for O'Connor's backsliding. He was heavily handicapped in the fall of 1901, and had the advantage of Julius Bauer's patient and sagacious coaching, but could not maintain the pace.

Brennan's failure was due to causes he could not control. The unfortunate young man took such a growing streak he became weak. The chance of his doing any more flat riding is remote, but he may, by proper application, learn the steeplechase game and prolong his term of usefulness to the turf.

Father Bill Daly, the greatest developer of jockeys this country has ever known, disappeared last year. He promised that he would turn out two or three more, but he failed to do so.

Odum and Redfern, like the great 3-year-olds of 1902—Hermie, Col. Bill and Major Dangerfield—were essentially developments of the season of 1901. If the term may be applied to jockeys as well as to horses, and there does not appear to be a valid reason why it should not, they were "selling players" in 1901. Odum, because of his timidity, the next of an ugly fall from Big toe Bach in 1902, was out of form.

in favor of the Scots against 14. The Scots were successful on both nights at the Victoria Curling Club. The score was 41 in favor of the visitors against 13 for the Scots. WILL STAY IN LONDON. His numerous friends will be pleased to hear that Harry Peel has recently received most tempting offers to return to Pittsburgh, but he has definitely decided not to do so. He is very enthusiastic about the game and finds it very trying in being barred from playing, but he recognizes the fact that it is the best policy to patiently await the sanction of the executive to admit him to amateur circles again.

SIGNED NEW MEN. Great things are expected of Mr. H. Shaw, formerly of the Bowmanville O. H. A. team, who has been signed by the St. John's A. C. His playing is of a high order.

WILL DEFEND THE CUP. Montreal, Jan. 7.—At a meeting of the Canadian Hockey League held last night it was decided to give Montreal permission to defend the Stanley Cup against the Victoria team. The decision was unanimous. The matches will be played on Jan. 23 and 31, and a third match is necessary it will be played on Feb. 2.

CHESS. CANADA IS INVITED. Ottawa, Jan. 7.—As a result of correspondence between the Pillsbury National Chess Correspondence Association and Mr. Fred J. E. Narraway, of Ottawa, it is now announced that membership in the association is thrown open to Canadians. This association is the largest organization of the kind ever known, comprising many hundreds of players of all grades of strength, which has several tournaments continuously running. It is hoped that there will be a large influx of Canadians to the association will develop from a national to a continental organization. Membership, $1 per year. Those interested should write to Lee W. Parke, president, 571 Fortlie street, Chicago, Ill.

THE RING. MCGOVERN VS. JORDAN. New York, Jan. 6.—Terry McGovern has been practically matched to fight Ben Jordan in London on Derby night before the National Sporting Club, before the American. A side bet of at least $5,000 at even money will be made on the result. Sam Harris, McGovern's manager, met Dr. Ordway, representing the club, regarding the match, and he agreed to go abroad if the club's terms were satisfactory. Both now await a reply to a cable on that matter. Dr. Ordway has assured Harris that his wager would be accepted by Jordan's backers. He also agreed to arrange matches for Eddie Cain and Johnny McGovern, two other fighters under Harris' management.

TO GO TO ENGLAND. New York, Jan. 6.—Del Hawkins, the California pugilist, will sail for England on Wednesday to prepare for his battle in London with James White, one of the best welterweight pugilists of Great Britain. In White, the American will meet one of the cleverest boxers ever developed in England. White has met all the best men in his class and outfigured them all.

WANTS TO GET FIGHT ON. New Orleans, La., Jan. 9.—"Pars" Davies has deposited $1,000 with "Honest John" Kelly, of New York City, who is at present in New Orleans, as a forfeit to bind him to a match on behalf of Kid Broad to box either Terry McGovern or Young Corbett, at 125 pounds, WONT FIGHT COLORED MEN.

Hot Springs, Ark., Jan. 7.—According to Young Corbett he has drawn the color line. When the little champion, read of the Gans-Gardner battle near New Britain he was up in arms. "I was scheduled to engage in a contest at that point," said Corbett, "and the officers stopped the affair. Now they have invited Gans there, pulled off a match for him, and by this action shown that they are willing to encourage a black man immediately after turning down a white. It must be a peculiar construction of the social scale in the Nutmeg State."

WANT TO FIGHT MUNROE. Salt Lake, Utah, Jan. 7.—Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Jeffries have each issued a challenge to Jack Munroe, the Butte miner, who was given a decision over the champion. The boxers say that they will prevent "the dub" from getting any more free advertising, and stipulate that the match must be decided at once. Munroe is given his choice of the challenges.

THE TURF. CANADIAN RIDER SIGNED. New York, Jan. 7.—"Patsy" Gallagher, the Toronto steeplechase jockey, is expected to ride for Mike Malone this year at an exceptionally large salary. Several stables made tempting offers for his services, but Mr. Malone, who is a good friend of Gallagher, has secured him, with George W. Jenkins, Onnet and Sallust to carry his colors through the field, the Toronto stable should have another successful year.

BASEBALL. SIGNED WITH ST. LOUIS. Detroit, Jan. 9.—Ed Siever, the left-handed pitcher of the Detroit team, will next season be a member of the St. Louis Browns, Manager McKeever having accepted terms and forwarded a contract for signature at a salary several hundred dollars more than Detroit paid him. The ex-Leadoner led the American League pitchers last season in the matter of base hits off his delivery, the average of him being lower than that of any other twirler. He got away with small scores, but things did not break well for him. Of twenty games pitched he won eight, and he shut his opponents out in four of them. In his last game he allowed his opponents but one run, and he lost three of those contests. With fast men at first and third Siever would be one of the most valuable pitchers in the country. He is a weak fielder himself, and the batsmen take advantage of this fact at times. On a team like the Athletics with Lave Cross and Harry Davis to flank him, he would do grand work.

Siever came here from London, Ont., in the season of 1900. Stallings bringing him over. He pitched remarkably good ball in 1901, and was there with everything but the luck of the game last season, up to the time that he was allowed to stay through thirteen innings against Waddell. It was a mistake to keep him in, and his arm suffered. He claims that the member is now as good as over.

OPENING OF THE CONFERENCE. Cincinnati, O., Jan. 9.—All the members of the joint commission of the National and American Baseball Leagues are here for the conference, which began this afternoon. Presidents Johnson and Pullman, were made the fourth members of each committee of the American and National Leagues respectively. The eight representatives alone were admitted to the conference. They sat almost 7 o'clock, when a recess was taken until 8 o'clock. They went to another room in the hotel, where dinner had been ordered for the party, and an executive session was practically continued while they were dining. The peace commissioners were interviewed as they passed into the dining-room, and stated that no action had been taken on anything, but they had discussed in an informal manner all the questions in dispute between the two leagues. There seemed to be a consensus of opinion that it would be necessary to draw a line in both the territorial and the payer question, and that the line would be drawn for things to remain as they were at the time of the recent treaty in the meeting at New York last month. All the conferees were emphatic in stating that there had been no bitter words during the afternoon. The conference closed before 10 o'clock to meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow. Chairman Herrmann said the evening was spent in general discussions, but that they seemed to be getting together, so that something might be done tomorrow.

Reid's nine. Major Hayes covered his share of the field in a youthful manner, also batting well as any. Corp. Ironsides, Sgt. Ridge and Pte. Reid played a strong game for the losers. Capt. Reid and Sgt. Inley for their company (D) were absent.

FOOTBALL. HARD WORDS, THESE. London, Jan. 9.—The press comments on the football match of yesterday are so flattering to the Canadians. The Morning Leader says: "The Scottish players let them down pretty easy, but they found themselves up against the real thing in Wales." The Sportsman's report of the game says that the Cardiff men simply ran around the colonials from start to finish. The Daily Chronicle says: "The Canadians do not appear to have made the necessary improvement to equip them for competition with the crack Welsh side. Cardiff could have scored more points if it liked." The Daily Mail says the Canadians know absolutely nothing of finished play, and have no notion how to check or combination. They have a lot to learn before they can reach the level of even the average first-class team.

BASEKTBALL. SEASON OPENED. The Y. M. C. A. senior basketball tournament commenced last night and will continue weekly throughout the balance of the winter. Two games were played last night. CRICKET.

WANT TO CHANGE WICKET.

London, Jan. 7.—The Marylebone Cricket Club which bears a similar relation to cricket that the Jockey Club does to racing, has adopted the suggestion to increase the width of the wicket by an inch, making it nine instead of eight inches. Before the change was made, the wicket was a crink at the game, and he is willing to subscribe $50 to a fund to meet the expenses that will arise when a team is formed.
