

GREAT DICTOGRAPH MURDER MYSTERY OF NEW YORK!

FIRST PHOTOGRAPHS OF PRINCIPALS IN BAFFLING CASE OF WOMAN SLAIN BY SUDDEN BULLET AS SHE LEFT DOCTOR'S OFFICE—PHYSICIAN'S WIFE, JEALOUS OF HUSBAND'S PATIENTS, SUSPECTED IN TRAGEDY.

The Suspect

Mrs. Carman, wife of Dr. E. Carman, outside whose office Mrs. Louise Bailey, a patient, was shot and killed. She is being held as the principal suspect, although after cross-examining her for two hours, the prosecuting attorney declared he was still without a clue in the mysterious murder. She placed a dictograph in her husband's office to learn his conversations with women patients.

Mrs. Edwina Carman

Dr. E. Carman

Mrs. Louise Bailey

AGED ARTIST WEDS HIS CHAMBERMAID

Sir Francis Powell, Born 80 Years Ago, Marries Girl of 23.

SIMILAR OCCURRENCES

England Has Long List of Titled People Who Married Servants.

Sir Francis Powell, the distinguished painter, president of the Royal Society of Painters in Water Colors, and who has received honorary degrees from the universities of Cambridge and Oxford in recognition of his artistic eminence, has created a sensation by contracting in his eighty-first year a marriage with a chambermaid in his household, Annie Minch, who is twenty-three years old, and the daughter of one of his gardeners. He lost his first wife two years ago, not long after the celebration of their golden wedding.

Sir Francis Powell (who must not be confounded with the admiral of the same name and title), has made his home for more than half a century at Tor Albion, Dunoon, a place which he built for himself on the Firth of Clyde, and which came into the limelight not long ago, when he was violently assaulted in the grounds by one of his gardeners; though whether by the father or the brother of the new Lady Powell, I am not prepared to say.

Lord Mayor Wedded Servant. Sir Francis is one of a long list of men of title who have taken their wives from the servant's hall, one of the most notable instances being that of Sir David Evans, who was Lord Mayor of London just twenty-two years ago. Sir David, as a young merchant, was wont to spend his week-ends at the Oak Hotel in Sevenoaks, Kent, almost under the shadow of Lord Sackville's magnificent Elizabethan mansion, Knele Park, for the sake of fishing in the neighborhood. Among the chambermaids of the inn was Mary Bookes. He fell in love with her, and, having obtained the consent of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bookes, the one a village plumber, and the other an ex-cook, he married her in due form.

Lady Evans Honored. The union proved a very happy one, and at the close of his term of office as chief magistrate of London, a very distinguished company, including the premier, the two archbishops, cabinet ministers, peers, and city magnates, assembled at the Mansion House to present to Lady Evans, whose parents were present, a testimonial in the form of a life-sized portrait of her husband by a famous academician. "In kindly remembrance of the graceful help rendered by her as Lady Mayoress during the term of office of her husband, Sir David Evans, as Lord Mayor of London."

Among other cases of such marriages, which occur to me at the present moment, are those of the late General Sir Henry de Bathe, one of the most popular men in London society, and who married one of the chambermaids of his mother's household, not, however, until she had borne him several children. It is for this reason that Sir Henry de Bathe, a younger son, but the eldest of those born subsequent to the marriage, succeeded to his father's baronetcy, instead of any of his brothers born prior to the wedding. Sir Henry is married to the former Mrs. Langtry, in turn professional beauty, actress, and owner of racing stables.

Case of French President. Then there was Jules Grevy, president of the French Republic, who had married his cook, in order to legitimize the daughter whom she had borne him. Mme. Grevy's social faux pas and unconventionalities as Madame la Presidente were a source of mingled merriment and mortification to the French people, during her husband's two terms of office at the Elysee Palace.

The late Lord Brampton, better known on the bench as Sir Henry Hawkins, was generally credited with having married his chambermaid. But this was not the case. For his wife had been a footlight favorite at the Haymarket Theatre, in London, when he first became infatuated with her, a few years after the death of his first wife. Then there is the ex-Archduke Leopold Salvator, of Austria, now known as plain Leopold Wodking, whose second wife was formerly his chambermaid in an inn at Munich, but who now can claim close relationship with the historic house of Hapsburg.

Persees Mary Grooms. Two English persees of the realm married grooms, namely, Emma, Dowager Countess of Ravensworth, and Mabel, Countess of Russell, after her divorce from the present Earl; while Lady Ida Duff, sister of the late Duke of Fife, after eloping from her husband, Adrian Elias Hope, married the co-respondent in the case, a name of whom was William Wilson, who had been her butler.

Lord Becomes Porter. Finally, there was the case of that unfortunate young Lord Drummond, who was cast off by his family in consequence of the match, and came with her to America, where after many vicissitudes, he died as a night porter of a New York daily newspaper, from tuberculosis contracted through exposure as a ticket-chopper on one of the elevated railroad stations of that city. Had he lived, he would have succeeded his grandfather in the Earldoms of Perth and of Melfort, as well as in the French dukedom of Melfort. His daughter, when last I heard of her, was earning her living as waitress in a small restaurant in Brooklyn.

Titles for Benefactions. So much fuss has been made in Germany over the alleged sale of titles of nobility, which has engaged the attention not only of the press, but even of the Imperial Parliament at Berlin, that it is only fair to point out that charities and philanthropic enterprises seem to have been the principal beneficiaries in such transactions that have taken place. In Germany, as in other monarchial countries, great benefactions by very rich men are almost invariably recognized by the grant, either of a title of nobility, or of an Order of Knighthood; while in Republican France, such persons are rewarded with the Order of the Legion of Honor, always providing that their antecedents will pass muster.

The reign of the present German Emperor new Emperors has been particularly prolific in the creation and endowment of churches and philanthropic institutions. More have come into existence since they accented the throne in 1888, than all the other reigns of the Prussian kings put together.

RECORD JULY FOR BUILDING ACTIVITY

Amount To Be Spent Is Shown To Be $123,750 in the Record.

The Imperial Bank took out a permit today for a new front and other repairs to its building at the corner of Richmond and King streets which will cost $17,500. The work will start at once and the building will be of handsome and modern design when the alterations are completed.

So far this month there have been 45 permits issued amounting to $123,750, a record which far eclipses any preceding July in the city's history. Other permits issued to day went to George Everett for a brick dwelling at 625 Central avenue, to cost $1,800; to W. and T. W. Copp, for four two-story brick dwellings on Belgrave avenue, to cost $2,500 each; to T. Liege for a brick dwelling on Oxford street, to cost $2,500; to G. A. Burdick, for a brick dwelling on Queens avenue, to cost $2,235; to W. Cromwell, for a frame building on McDonald avenue, to cost $1,600.

KRAFOHENKO TO HANG ON THURSDAY MORNING

[Canadian Press.] Winnipeg, July 8.—Jack Krafohenko is to be hanged here tomorrow morning. Arrangements for the execution are about completed.

SWIFT CURRENT A CITY. [Canadian Press.] Swift Current, Sask., July 8.—Swift Current was formally advanced to city status yesterday. Lieutenant-Governor Brown and Premier Scott were among those attending the ceremonies.

Figures In New York Mystery Murder

The slain woman, Mrs. Louise Bailey, killed by a bullet just as she left the office of Dr. Carman, whose wife had a dictograph installed near his desk to learn of his conversation with women patients. It is believed the shot was intended for the doctor. In the centre is W. D. Bailey, husband of the slain woman.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY THINKS HE KNOWS BAILEY MURDERER

Will Ask Grand Jury for Indictment Against One He Suspects—One Theory Implicates Gunman.

[Canadian Press.] Freeport, N. Y., July 8.—That the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey on Tuesday of last week in the office of Dr. Edwin Carman is no longer a mystery, is the belief of Louis J. Smith, district attorney of Nassau County. Tomorrow Mr. Smith will appear before the grand jury, and, according to a statement made by him, he will ask that an indictment be returned against the person he suspects of having killed Mrs. Bailey.

The presentation of the case before the grand jury will go on, no matter what verdict is given at the coroner's inquest. It will be resumed today before Coroner Norton, and promises to be an interesting session. District Attorney Smith and Sheriff Pettit have eliminated Norton as a co-worker in the case, it is said, but despite the split, a prosecutor will be present to ask questions of the witnesses, and the sheriff will be there ready to start out on any new clues that are developed.

New York Gunman Suspected. Detectives today were running down a new theory of the killing that was advanced in Freeport yesterday. This was to the effect that a New York gunman played a part in it; that he brought the weapon from New York, broke the glass of the window looking upon Dr. Carman's office, handed the gun to the slayer, took it back after the shooting, and then fled. For some reason, this theory was regarded by both official and unofficial investigators as more worthy of credence than any of the other wild stories which have been drifting about Freeport ever since the night of the shooting.

Subpoenas Issued. Several subpoenas have been issued ordering witnesses to appear before the grand jury. Among those in Freeport who received one is Miss Hazel Coombes, the young girl who testified at the last session of the inquest that Mrs. Carman was downstairs, fully dressed, about half an hour before the shooting. The inquest today will no doubt bring out some highly interesting things. One of the important witnesses will be Gaston Boissonault, manager of the company who dealt with Mrs. Carman when she rented and purchased a telephone device, one end of which was concealed in the doctor's office and the other in a desk drawer in her bedroom.

An Eyewitness? Just before the inquest was resumed the district attorney announced that he had discovered a new witness, a man who says he was an eyewitness to the murder. The man, an insurance agent, said he was passing the Carman house about 8 o'clock on the night of the murder when he heard a crash of glass, and turning to see what caused it, saw a woman, dressed in white, looking into a window of the physician's office. Then, he told the detectives, he heard the report of a revolver and saw the woman disappear toward the rear of the house.

It was said that the man might be placed on the witness-stand provided preliminary examination did not disclose flaws in his story.

Daughter's Story. Elizabeth Carman, 12 years old, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carman, was called.

She said after dinner on the night of the murder she went in the dining-room and sat down. The dining-room was dark, and the curtains between it and her father's waiting-room were pulled aside. She saw two persons, a man and a woman, in the waiting-room, ten minutes before the murder. She saw no one in the hall. Directly after the shot was fired, she ran upstairs and saw her mother, her aunt and her grandmother there. Her mother, she said, was in a kimono.

No Verdict. The inquest was closed shortly before noon. No verdict was immediately announced, but one was expected later in the day. The district attorney informed the coroner after the inquest that he believed a woman should immediately be arrested and held for the return of some exceptions to the testimony taken at today's inquest, and might order an arrest before night.

Installed Phone Device. Gaston Boissonault, manager of the detective division of a company which manufactures telephone devices to record conversations, was the first witness called today at the resumption of the inquest into the death of Mrs. Louise Bailey. It was Boissonault's company that installed a telephone device in Dr. Carman's office some time before the murder, at the order of Mrs. Carman. The witness told today of the first call of Mrs. Carman at his office. She first said she was a dressmaker; then admitted her identity, admitting that she had many domestic troubles and wanted to learn what went on in her husband's office. This was on May 19.

Took Husband Away. On the same day Mrs. Carman made plans to take her husband away for two days, while the instrument was being installed.

The witness said Mrs. Carman had told him about seeing a nurse kiss Dr. Carman. "She said she was so mad," he went on, "when she saw that kiss that she almost broke the window by knocking on it."

Annoying Their Majesties

[Canadian Press.] Dumbarton, Scotland, July 8.—Militant suffragettes made desperate efforts today to attract the attention of King George and Queen Mary, who are making a tour through Scotland. At Balloch Bridge, at the foot of Loch Lomond, the women cut down all the decorations, and at Dalmuir, ten miles from Glasgow, they managed to break out a huge banner, bearing the words: "Your majesty, stop the forcible feeding and torturing of women," across the route, as the procession arrived. At the same time, one woman, armed with a megaphone, howled denunciations of forcible feeding.

Neither the King nor the Queen paid the slightest attention, but the crowd ties displayed such a hostile attitude that the militants beat a hasty retreat.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT MAJORITY FALLS TO LOWEST MARK YET

Asquith Has Only 23 on Motion to Limit Debate on Finance Bill.

[Canadian Press.] London, July 8.—There was dramatic suspense in the House of Commons last night when the Government's majority fell to 23, the lowest Premier Asquith has yet secured, except on one or two occasions when a snap division was called.

This situation, which gave rise to great excitement in the lobbies, where the talk is on an almost immediate general election, arose from the Premier's motion to adjourn only seven days to further discussion of the finance bill. During an animated debate, this application of the guillotine was sharply criticized by the Opposition, and a vote was taken at 8 p.m. When the figures were announced (269 to 246), members on both sides were amazed to make any immediate demonstration, though a few cheers were raised by the Tories, but later the excitement grew intense.

A speech subsequently made by Walter H. Long, ex-chief secretary for Ireland, added to the electricity of the atmosphere. He complained bitterly of the absence of the Premier, and threatened to move the adjournment of the debate. It was explained by Lloyd George that Premier Asquith was keeping an important engagement.

Meanwhile, in the House of Lords, the Government's bill to remodel the council of India, the body which in London advises the secretary of state for India, was rejected by 86 to 48, so that altogether ministers had a very bad day in Parliament that later.

Kelly Had a New Dance. Walter Kelly, who is on the "go-without" list, and was seen by an officer introducing a new step dance to the London public that put the tango in the shade, was assessed $10 and costs or 21 days by Magistrate J. C. Judd in police court this morning.

"Were you drunk, Kelly?" asked the court. Kelly readily acknowledged that he was. All he wanted was time to get the money back to satisfy Mr. Moule, who looks after all similar cases. "We'll see about that later."

City Too Much for Mike. Michael Langley told the court that he had come to London on business from the country. It was while he was here that he fell, and then the policeman got him. He was advised not to come back again or he would not be let off so easily. He promised that he would not.

TEN PEOPLE INJURED IN VERMONT RLY. ACCIDENT

Train Runs Into Washout in Chadwick Cut—Only One Seriously Hurt.

[Canadian Press.] Sheldon, Vermont, July 8.—Ten persons were injured, one seriously, and many others were shaken up and bruised, when a Central Vermont train ran into a washout near Sheldon Springs last night. The accident happened in what is known as Chadwick Cut. The roadbed had been washed away by a terrific rain storm, leaving a gully twenty feet deep below the tracks. The engine passed over before the track fell in, but was derailed on the further side of the gap. All of the injured, four trainmen and six passengers, were taken to a hospital at St. Alban's today.

Province's Rich Bird Life Feathered World, Middlesex

The "Sport of Bird Study" is one which is claiming an increasing number of followers each year, and in point of interest and enthusiasm the bird-lovers of London stand well to the front among the cities of Canada.

The members of the ornithological section of the London Biological Club, have been busy since the first of the year gathering data respecting the bird life of this vicinity, compiling lists of species seen, dates of arrival and departure, and such other information as might be found useful and interesting. It may surprise the average reader to learn that some two hundred and thirty different kinds of birds have been recorded from Middlesex County. The appended list of one hundred and fifty-one contains, of course, all of the common ones, besides some of the rarer varieties, the Cardinal, Saw-whet Owl, Redhead Duck, Florida Gallinule, Evening Grosbeak and Long-eared Owl. The remaining seventy odd are largely birds of rare or accidental occurrence in our midst, some of which the Passenger Pigeon, Wild Turkey and Raven are now extinct as far as Middlesex is concerned.

The date given after each species is the earliest one on which it was seen. Of course it would take a small army of observers continually on the lookout to be sure of seeing the very first of each kind, but the dates given reflect pretty well about the time when we may look for their return. Some exceptions should be mentioned, however, for the benefit of any who may wish to take this list as a guide. The dates on the Song Sparrow, Robin, Bronzed Grackle and Flicker all refer to birds that wintered here, the spring arrivals not appearing until about April 15 for the Flicker, and March 12 to 20 for the others mentioned. The Migrant Shrike and Cliff Swallow were both well on with their nesting before they were discovered, their usual time of arrival being about 12th and 28th April respectively.

The following list of the different species observed from January 1 to May 31, is arranged in order according to the American Ornithologists' Union check list. Some of the birds noted are found here all year round, such as the Crow, Chickadee, White-breasted Nuthatch, etc., some are found only during the winter months, such as the Snow Bunting, Pine Grosbeak, Northern Shrike, etc., while perhaps more than half arrive from the south during the months of March, April and May, and after spending a few days in our midst, wing their way to the far north to nest, returning again in the fall on their way back to spend the winter.

The brilliant plumage of some, the more sober dress of others, combined with sprightly songs and interesting habits, tend to make the hobby a most fascinating one, and it is safe to predict that the popular interest in the study of birds will continue to grow even more rapidly than it has in the past.

It is the intention of the local club to hold an open meeting about the middle of July at which some topic of general interest will be discussed. Any desiring to attend will kindly communicate with the secretary C. G. Watson, 201 Ridout street south.

- |                          |            |
|--------------------------|------------|
| 1. Holboell's Grebe      | April 26   |
| 2. Horned Grebe          | April 14   |
| 3. Pied Bill Grebe       | April 17   |
| 4. Lesser Grebe          | April 10   |
| 5. Herring Gull          | April 1    |
| 6. American Merganser    | January 1  |
| 7. Hooded Merganser      | March 25   |
| 8. Mallard               | March 14   |
| 9. Black Duck            | March 14   |
| 10. Redhead              | March 2    |
| 11. Lesser Scaup         | April 14   |
| 12. Buffhead             | April 28   |
| 13. American Goldeneye   | January 24 |
| 14. American Bittern     | April 18   |
| 15. Great Blue Heron     | April 18   |
| 16. Green Heron          | April 23   |
| 17. Virginia Rail        | May 2      |
| 18. Carolina Rail        | May 5      |
| 19. Florida Gallinule    | May 1      |
| 20. American Coot        | April 17   |
| 21. American Woodcock    | May 9      |
| 22. Wilson's Snipe       | May 4      |
| 23. Greater Yellow Legs  | April 24   |
| 24. Lesser Yellow Legs   | April 22   |
| 25. Solitary Sandpiper   | May 1      |
| 26. Bartramian Sandpiper | May 10     |
| 27. Spotted Sandpiper    | April 17   |

- |                               |             |
|-------------------------------|-------------|
| 28. Killdeer                  | March 16    |
| 29. Quail                     | February 21 |
| 30. Ruffed Grouse             | February 21 |
| 31. Mourning Dove             | March 28    |
| 32. Turkey Vulture            | May 3       |
| 33. Marsh Hawk                | March 17    |
| 34. Sharp-Shinned Hawk        | February 14 |
| 35. Cooper Hawk               | April 24    |
| 36. Red-Tailed Hawk           | January 21  |
| 37. Red-Shouldered Hawk       | March 17    |
| 38. Broad-Winged Hawk         | April 30    |
| 39. Rough-Legged Hawk         | February 28 |
| 40. Sparrow Hawk              | March 21    |
| 41. Fish Hawk                 | April 24    |
| 42. Long-Eared Owl            | January 2   |
| 43. Saw Whet Owl              | March 14    |
| 44. Screech Owl               | January 6   |
| 45. Great Horned Owl          | March 14    |
| 46. Yellow-Billed Cuckoo      | May 20      |
| 47. Black-Billed Cuckoo       | May 21      |
| 48. Kingfisher                | January 1   |
| 49. Hairy Woodpecker          | January 3   |
| 50. Downy Woodpecker          | January 27  |
| 51. Yellow-Bellied Sapsucker  | April 10    |
| 52. Red-Headed Woodpecker     | May 5       |
| 53. Red-Bellied Woodpecker    | April 11    |
| 54. Flicker                   | March 16    |
| 55. Whippoorwill              | April 27    |
| 56. Night Hawk                | May 10      |
| 57. Chimney Swift             | April 24    |
| 58. Hummingbird               | May 11      |
| 59. Kingbird                  | April 27    |
| 60. Crested Flycatcher        | April 27    |
| 61. Phoebe                    | March 28    |
| 62. Olive-Sided Flycatcher    | May 24      |
| 63. Wood Pewee                | May 19      |
| 64. Yellow-Bellied Flycatcher | May 10      |
| 65. Alder Flycatcher          | May 22      |
| 66. Least Flycatcher          | May 2       |
| 67. Prairie-Wooded Lark       | January 10  |
| 68. Blue Jay                  | January 1   |
| 69. Crow                      | January 1   |
| 70. Bobolink                  | April 28    |
| 71. Cowbird                   | March 21    |
| 72. Red-Winged Blackbird      | March 17    |
| 73. Meadowlark                | March 16    |
| 74. Baltimore Oriole          | May 4       |
| 75. Rusty Grackle             | April 11    |
| 76. Bronzed Grackle           | January 6   |
| 77. Evening Grosbeak          | April 24    |
| 78. Pine Sparrow              | January 1   |
| 79. Purple Finch              | January 1   |
| 80. Redpoll                   | January 3   |
| 81. Goldfinch                 | April 24    |
| 82. Pine Siskin               | March 10    |
| 83. Snow Bunting              | January 2   |
| 84. Vesper Sparrow            | April 10    |
| 85. Savannah Sparrow          | April 13    |
| 86. Grasshopper Sparrow       | May 18      |
| 87. White-Crowned Sparrow     | May 10      |
| 88. White-Throated Sparrow    | April 18    |
| 89. Tree Sparrow              | January 1   |
| 90. Chipping Sparrow          | April 17    |
| 91. Field Sparrow             | April 15    |
| 92. Junco                     | January 1   |
| 93. Snow Bird                 | January 1   |
| 94. Swamp Sparrow             | April 14    |
| 95. Fox Sparrow               | April 13    |
| 96. Chewink                   | April 11    |
| 97. Cardinal                  | January 1   |
| 98. Rose-Breasted Nuthatch    | May 7       |
| 99. Indigo Bunting            | May 11      |
| 100. Scarlet Tanager          | May 16      |
| 101. Purple Martin            | April 14    |

DR. J. B. COLERIDGE DIES; WAS ACTIVE IN POLITICS

Former Mayor of Ingersoll Had Declined Conservative Nomination.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Woodstock, July 8.—Dr. James Bruce Coleridge, of Ingersoll, passed away at the home of Sheriff McGhee in Woodstock shortly after 8 o'clock this morning.

The late Dr. Coleridge was born in Ingersoll and was the son of John Coleridge, of that place.

He was in his thirty-sixth year, and is survived, besides his wife and one-year-old son, by one sister, Mrs. J. D. McDonald, of Ingersoll, and one brother, Dr. J. G. Coleridge, of Detroit.

He was a resident of Ingersoll practically all his life, having received his early education first in the public schools of that place and then at the Ingersoll collegiate. He finished his course in medicine at Trinity College, Toronto.

The late Dr. Coleridge was mayor of Ingersoll in 1912 and 1913, also serving a term as mayor about six years ago. He took active part in political affairs, having received the nomination from the Conservative on several occasions, which he declined.

He has been in poor health since April, only a few weeks ago was his condition considered serious. The funeral arrangements have not been completed up to the present.

- |                                   |            |
|-----------------------------------|------------|
| 102. Cliff Swallow                | May 14     |
| 103. Barn Swallow                 | April 18   |
| 104. Tree Swallow                 | April 17   |
| 105. Bank Swallow                 | May 2      |
| 106. Rough-Winged Swallow         | April 17   |
| 107. Cedar Waxwing                | February 4 |
| 108. Northern Shrike              | January 31 |
| 109. Migrant Shrike               | May 10     |
| 110. Red-Eyed Vireo               | May 11     |
| 111. Warbling Vireo               | May 2      |
| 112. Yellow-Throated Vireo        | May 7      |
| 113. Blue-Headed Vireo            | April 30   |
| 114. Black and White Warbler      | April 27   |
| 115. Golden-Winged Warbler        | May 2      |
| 116. Nashville Warbler            | May 9      |
| 117. Orange-Crowned Warbler       | May 13     |
| 118. Tennessee Warbler            | May 13     |
| 119. Parula Warbler               | May 9      |
| 120. Cape May Warbler             | May 6      |
| 121. Yellow Warbler               | April 27   |
| 122. Black-Throated Blue Warbler  | May 3      |
| 123. Myrtle Warbler               | April 26   |
| 124. Magnolia Warbler             | May 3      |
| 125. Cerulean Warbler             | May 11     |
| 126. Chestnut-Sided Warbler       | May 15     |
| 127. Bay-Breasted Warbler         | May 15     |
| 128. Blackburnian Warbler         | May 4      |
| 129. Blackpoll Warbler            | May 20     |
| 130. Black-Throated Green Warbler | April 18   |
| 131. Pine Warbler                 | April 26   |
| 132. Palm Warbler                 | May 1      |
| 133. Ovenbird                     | May 2      |
| 134. Northern Water-Thrush        | April 23   |
| 135. Louisiana Water-Thrush       | April 22   |
| 136. Connecticut Warbler          | May 24     |
| 137. Mourning Warbler             | May 19     |
| 138. Maryland Yellowthroat        | May 6      |
| 139. Wilson Warbler               | May 20     |
| 140. Canadian Warbler             | May 13     |
| 141. American Redstart            | May 6      |
| 142. Catbird                      | May 2      |
| 143. Brown Thrasher               | April 18   |
| 144. House Wren                   | April 17   |
| 145. Winter Wren                  | April 27   |
| 146. Brown Creeper                | January 1  |
| 147. White-Breasted Nuthatch      | January 1  |
| 148. Red-Breasted Nuthatch        | January 1  |
| 149. Black-Capped Chickadee       | January 1  |
| 150. Golden-Crowned Kinglet       | January 1  |
| 151. Ruby-Crowned Kinglet         | April 18   |
| 152. Blue-Gray Gnatcatcher        | May 3      |
| 153. Wood Thrush                  | May 3      |
| 154. Wilson Thrush                | May 3      |
| 155. Olive-Backed Thrush          | May 1      |
| 156. Hermit Thrush                | April 11   |
| 157. Robin                        | January 1  |
| 158. Bluebird                     | March 17   |

Kaiser's Fifth Son.

Prince Oscar of Germany

The engagement of Prince Oscar, fifth son of the German Emperor, to Countess Ina Marie von Russwyl-Leytens, maid of honor to the Empress, has been announced. Much comment has been aroused by this announcement owing to the fact that the marriage will be the first monarchical union which has occurred in the Hohenzollern family since 1853.