FRANCE VERY AGGRESSIVE.

ENGLAND EXERCISING GREAT FORBEARANCE.

Lord Dufferin, Being Wantonly and Flagrantly Insulted, Is Recalled and Only Allowed to Return Temporarily—Mr. Gladstone Carrying Things in Parliament With An Extremely High Hand.

[From The Sunday World.]

NEW YORK, July 22.—Mr. G. W. Smalley cables The Tribune as follows:

French Aggressiveness.

LONDON, July 22.—That spirit of aggressive rapacity which has too often been the spirit of France in her dealings with weaker foreign powers has re-appeared in her controversy with Siam. It is visible in the rather piratical enterprises of the French gun-boats off Bangkok. It is audible alike in the speeches of her Foreign Minister to the Chamber and in the tone of the most serious and respectable French papers. She has at best a disputable case and a doubtful grievance against Siam. She acts as if right were wholly on her side or as if she did not care whether it were or not. A Siamese official has probably murdered a French official engaged in a hostile expedition. The Siamese had the incredible effrontery to capture a French officer invading Siamese territory with a military force in time of peace. These are the grievances which Siam has acknowledged by undertaking to investigate the acts of her mandarin and by releasing the French captain. The French, on the other hand, in violation of their treaty with Siam, have sent gunboats into the River Menam, the passage of which they forced, and in violation of every principle of international law have sent an ultimatum to the Siamese Government embodying a demand for the surrender of territory admittedly belonging to Siam, to which the French have absolutely no other claim than that founded on their own convenience and the possession of superior force.

The Ultimatum to Siam.

France demands 95,000 square miles of territory, besides a few paltry millions of francs for damages, which, if genuine, a few thousands would cover. There is to be no inquiry into the facts, no negotiation, no opportunity for Siam to do so much as to state her own view of her own case. She is an independent kingdom, about one-fourth larger than France in area, and she is to submit within 48 hours to humiliation, dismemberment and probable ruin. If she refuses, war follows. Such, stripped of technicalities and details, are the facts which all M. Develle's phrases in the French Chamber cannot obscure. These events occur in a part of the world so remote and are so entirely in unison with the habit and policy of France toward oriental races that they might have attracted little attention were it not that they threaten to bring France into collision with England. Siam is what is known in the jargon of oriental diplomacy as a buffer state, interposing a considerable and most useful stretch of territory between the French and British frontiers.

England's Position.

England has moreover an important commerce with Siam, France having next to none. All English subjects inhabit Bangkok in considerable numbers. She cannot, therefore, tolerate French encroachments which threaten the independent existence of Siam or the treaty and trade rights of her own people. She is bound to protect both, and has given notice to France to that effect. At the same time, whatever may be her opinion of French proceedings toward Siam, she will not interfere so long as her own interests are not affected. Lord Rosebery has stated the English view in the House of Lords with such singular moderation and firmness that even the Anglophobes of France, who appear to include nearly the whole population, can find no cause of offence in his language. In England, on the other hand, it is felt that Lord Rosebery's civil words indicate no weakness of purpose. His courage and capacity are so well known here as to command the confidence of both parties. They are so well known in France that it is not expected France will extend her enterprises to a point which might compel him to interpose. These are the outlines of the situation. It is critical, but probably not dangerous, unless it should happen too often that despatches from Paris arrive too late to prevent eager naval officers on the spot from taking the law into their own hands.

Scandalous Treatment of Lord Dufferin.

Meantime Lord Dufferin returns to France temporarily. He had been withdrawn by the English Foreign Minister on account of the long-continued and scandalous personal attacks of the baser Paris papers, extenuated even by the less base. In all civilized and in most barbarous countries an ambassador is held sacred, and the Government to which he is accredited finds means of protecting him from abuse as well as from violence. France is the exception. True, offending papers may be prosecuted, but only at the instigation of the ambassador, a provision which, whether or not the authors of this singular process ever intended, makes a prosecution impossible. The ambassador would think it inconsistent with his dignity to ask for the indictment of those gutter journals, or of any journal. No foreign Government would allow its representative to put himself in that humiliating attitude. On the other hand, no Government could suffer an ambassador to be reviled and insulted forever. Lord Rosebery's patience was almost scriptural. But at last, convinced that no redress was to be had, he telegraphed Dufferin to come home. If he now sends him back it is, as I understand, solely for the conduct of negotiations relating to Siam. Those finished, Lord Dufferin will once more find himself in need of sea air at Walmer, and his duties as Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports will again become imperative.

Ominous Clouds Gathering.

The Newfoundland business may detain him. This is a more delicate difficulty than Siam. There is nothing in the lobster question which arbitration might not settle in a week, but Newfoundland unhappily has to be dealt with in Egypt. The French keep every sore open so long as England clings to the banks of the Nile. The visit of the Khedive to the Sultan is a third difficulty, and perhaps Madagascar is a fourth. Ten days ago there was not a cloud on the horizon. Now they gather from all quarters at once.

Great is the Gladstone Guillotine.

The automatic Gladstone guillotine renewed operations on Thursday on the stroke of ten and did its work with its usual neatness and despatch. The last ten clauses of the Home Rule bill, not counting clauses, schedules and such matters, were passed through committee. They were for the most part undebated, unconsidered and unread. Such is legislation under Mr. Gladstone; such the process by which an old constitution is torn up and a new constitution framed. The will of an old man in a hurry is omnipotent in the House of Commons. Rapid, indeed, is the progress of debasement and demoralization. The excitement, indignation, anger and stormy ebullitions of the first week are seen no more. They were sometimes discreditable, but they were at least signs of a healthy vitality. They were a protest against an odious form of tyranny, the more odious because enforced with the forms of law. But after three weeks of this "discipline" the House becomes weary of the contest, accepts its fate and hardly even remonstrates.

Civil Servants in Ireland.

There has been a contest, rather languid, over the fate of civil servants in Ireland, who, after six years, are to be handed over to the tender mercies of Messrs. Healy, Walsh, Dillon & Co., with the option of retiring meantime on meagre pensions. There has been another contest over the police, whose fate is full of uncertainty.

The Financial Clauses.

There has been another debate on Irish finance, which is still in a fluid state. There has been one scene, when Mr. John Morley made another attack—he cannot keep his hands off them—on another Irish judge. Mr. Carson called it a cowardly attack, and had forthwith to withdraw "cowardly."

And so the week wore slowly on; Mr. Gladstone perhaps the only man in the House, except the Irish, not thoroughly sick of the whole business. Mr. Sexton has occasionally opposed the Government when he could do it safely. His followers continue to insult the clerk at the table if he ventures to do his duty and supply the chairman with that information touching the rules of the House of which Mr. Mellor is so often in need. Mr. Gladstone continues to omit to defend, or in any way to protect, an official who can in no way protect or defend himself. The ministerial majorities, when there were real trials of strength, have averaged about 35. G. W. S.

THE CHIPPEWA ARRIVES.

A Slight Accident Causes Considerable Commotion at the Wharf.

From The Sunday World.

With the Union Jack flying from her mizzen mast and the Stars and Stripes from her bow, the new sidewheeler Chippewa, of the Niagara River Line, steamed into Toronto at 4.35 Saturday afternoon, and "anchored" nine feet into Geddes' east wharf. An immense crowd of people had assembled on the wharf to witness her arrival, but it was evident, while the vessel was several yards away, that she was under too much headway for her speed to be diminished in time to prevent her crashing into the wharf and they had plenty of time to get out of the way before the collision occurred. The Chippewa was not injured.

Some of the spectators who saw the Stars and Stripes floating from the foremast and who did not know that the mizzen was the principal mast attributed the accident to the fact that the Stars and Stripes were given the preference (?). These people, it is perhaps unnecessary to say, were landsmen. Some of the vesselmen thought the bridge was too far forward, but as a matter of fact the accident was caused by the electric bells failing to work.

There were a large number of Hamiltonians on the boat in addition to Senator Smith, J. J. Foy and other officers of the Niagara River Line.

THE SUNSTROKE WAS FATAL.

T. B. Griffiths, President of the Hamilton Steamboat Company, Dead.

From The Sunday World.

Mr. F. Armstrong, agent of the Hamilton Steamboat Company, received a dispatch from Hamilton Saturday evening announcing the death in that city of Mr. Thomas B. Griffiths, the president of the company.

Mr. Griffiths' death was the result of a sunstroke received on Friday, July 14. Mr. Griffiths was thought to be improving, but took suddenly worse Saturday morning and died at 4.30.

Deceased, who was only 41 years of age, was for eight or ten years ticket agent of the Grand Trunk at Hamilton, retiring in 1888. He purchased stock in the Hamilton Street Railway and ultimately became manager of the company. A year later he was elected president of the company, retaining the management, and held the dual positions up to the time of his death.

When the Hamilton Steamboat Company was formed three years ago he was elected president.

Deceased leaves one brother, J. B. Griffiths, who is manager of the Hamilton Steamboat Co.

Catholic Picnic at East Toronto.

In aid of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, East Toronto, a very successful picnic and garden party was held in Morton's Grove on Saturday afternoon and evening. The weather was very fine and the attendance, not only of parishioners, but of friends from Leslieville, large. Rev. Father Bergin was the very soul of the party, and among those who delighted to aid him were: Messrs. Garry, Curran, Lynch, Harrison, Foy, Cockburn, Lawley, Mrs. Sullivan, Miss McIlroy, Mrs. Curran, Mrs. Garry, Miss Mary McIlroy, Mr. Casey and many others. A good program of games with prizes was gone through, in addition to which there were children's races, club swinging and dancing. Mr. George Lubar's string band supplied the music. Refreshments were served on the ground, and all went merry as a marriage bell. Mr. W. J. Cockburn was the official starter in the races and Mr. R. N. Harrison the referee. The object of the picnic was two-fold—a few hours of pleasant intercourse and an addition to the fund which is being raised for the reduction of the debt on the new church, which was opened last October. Both priest and people testified that everything is harmonious and prosperous in connection with St. John's. The services are well-attended, and the liabilities are being gradually liquidated.

A HIGH BACKWARD JUMP.

A Reverend Athlete Vaults Backward Over a 5-Foot Fence.

ROCHESTER, Pa., July 23.—The Rev. J. N. Braden of Sunbury, Pa., who is visiting relatives in Beaver County, probably broke the record for the high backward jump yesterday. He was walking in the Raccoon Township. When resting he leaned backward against a fence, placing his arm on the rail behind. His arms sank into the springy folds of a huge black snake which had been stretched along the top rail. The Rev. Mr. Braden is an athlete of no mean acquirements. He sprang into the air and landed on the other side of the fence. The height of the rail fence over which the preacher vaulted backward is five feet.

Bisley Prize Winners.

BISLEY CAMP, July 22.—The Association Cup was won by Private H. G. Heaven of the Canadian team, and Staff-Sergeant J. H. Simpson was the winner of the Canada Club Cup. Prizes were taken in the grand aggregate by Lieut. T. Mitchell. In the All-comers Match, Lieut. Mitchell and Sergeant J. Drysdale were winners of prizes. Staff-Sergeant J. H. Simpson and Lieut. Henderson took prizes in the volunteer aggregate.—Telegram special.

INDIVIDUAL THOUGHT.

The Selfishness and Puerility of the Anti-Sunday Car People.

Editor World: Permit me to congratulate you on the opportune, decisive and valiant battle you are waging in the interest of human freedom. Your victory, or vanquishment, which will be determined by a disclosure of the amount of intelligent free-will possessed by our people, as a result, is of small importance when compared with the outcome (if such could be weighed or measured) of the ripples you have set in motion upon the waves of the sea of human thought, that make for truth and righteousness. There is hope, however, that your anticipations will be realized, as individual thinking has gained an ascendancy never before reached since the doctrine of human equality and individual responsibility was promulgated and emphasized in example by the divine Nazarene, and strange to state this doctrine of equality and brotherhood, which formed the basis and cornerstone of his teaching, has been reversed, ignored and despoiled by those claiming to be its votaries and adherents. You are right, Mr. Editor, in imputing this opposition to the claims of the poor to the clergy. Priestcraft ever stands on the alert for the subjugation of the masses and for the acquirement of earthly powers. Since that suspicious event in the reign of Constantine, viz., the union of church and state, when the former merged her divine precept of love for the brother into that of "love" for worldly and tyrannous rule, in her double capacity, veiled from the people, she has been ever actively engaged formulating codes and enactments for the control of the masses, and presenting to the state for its acceptance and ratification into law, while her own authoritative rule, in an ignominious past, she ratified in blood. With an advancing civilization, and through the many demonstrated facts in science running counter to her dogmas, has come the lessening of her power, and we find her in this age by subtlety and arts endeavoring to delude the sons and daughters of toil into forging chains whereby they will perpetuate their own class distinction and deprive themselves of many means of culture which would ultimately tend to ensure their social equality with those who now are as regardless of their convenience, comforts and sorrows as ever master was of slaves.

The selfishness and puerility of the objections made by your opponents to a Sunday street car service render them unworthy of notice, were it not for the well-known power of said opponents over the minds and actions of the people—just fancy! No objection; "Toronto's reputation, financial and religious"!! "A quiet Sunday!" All have been so ably met and refuted that I will make but one reference or suggestion, i. e., that the houses of the class desiring quiet mostly have attics or closets available for their meditations. It is the poor man whose home is devoid of place for such retirement and the poor slave woman, whether in clergyman's family, or wife in laboring man's home, who has neither place nor time to escape the din of kitchen utensils. I thank you, Mr. Editor, in this battle for freedom for having remembered my sex. Some tell us that Christianity has brought freedom to woman. It is true Christ taught our individual equality and freedom—a tenet the church has not yet exemplified, not accepted as its rule of action. I trust you will continue your investigations, not only into the homes, where women are employed in paid service, but where, as wives, they receive no equivalent for their labors and have no curtailment or limit to their hours of toil. No voice is heard demanding the eight hour system for them—they have few Sunday, rests, and fewer rides. You will find these women in the homes of the men who loudly clamor for a reduction of serving time, for themselves, as well as in the clergyman's family. These women are political nonentities, and have no voice or equality of recognition in the churches they help to build, and support. Ignored by both church and state, how anomalous is their position; can you tell us by what name they shall be called in this unit—the human family? And yet, Mr. Editor, in the face of the above facts, there are Christian women in Toronto busily engaging themselves in combining the usual political methods and the subtleties of church influence and tactics in their endeavor to stifle convictions and control what ought to be independent voting—a course of action that in an honest, intelligent community should be scorned. Such methods are degrading to the parties using them, and the people thus influenced are lowered in their mental standing and self-respect. It should be the aim of all right-minded teachers and leaders of thought, even at the expense of error and mistake, to develop independent voting and individual responsibility.

These women will on Aug. 26 use their municipal franchise to suppress liberty of conscience, and against equality in rights, an earnest belief in which inspired all those women and men who labored for and obtained the municipal enfranchisement of women in Ontario, 1883.

Before concluding I again congratulate you on the good you have already achieved. The thought vibrations you have set in motion are extending far and wide and upwards towards that goal "truth," which alone can make us free, and at the same time you are unconsciously undermining a false and fading theology, which, in directing its almost exclusive attention to the letter and the law and to the up-building of its structure in materiality, has minimized and lost its spiritual entity. The sooner the church is restrained—nay, wholly divested, of her power over state and municipality in the enactment of laws for the people, the sooner will the people behold in her the reappearance of the Christ spirit, and the remnant of her truth become again salient and visible. We bid you godspeed and hope you will go forward in the cause of truth and humanity until our city shall have not only Sunday street cars but Sunday concerts, free reading rooms, museums and art galleries all open for the allurement and instruction (with all their accompanying, developing and refining influences), to our Toronto youths of both sexes, until the character of our city will be so emphatically Christian that it will have no fears in regard to its reputation.

A BLOODY FIGHT WITH OUTLAWS.

Four Soldiers Killed, and Six Mortally Wounded.

PIKEVILLE, Ky., July 23.—Information has been received in this city of a terrible bloody fight in Wise County, Va., last Wednesday. For several months past the Virginia authorities have wanted the Flemons boys very badly. The boys, four in number, are accused of participating in a triple murder some months ago.

Doc Taylor, one of the gang, was captured and hanged for the crime, but the Flemons boys have so far evaded arrest. Two weeks or more ago the Governor of Virginia sent a company of 60 soldiers to assist the sheriff of Wise County in arresting the outlaws. On Wednesday the militia overtook the outlaws and a bloody battle occurred. Four soldiers were killed and six mortally wounded. Oliver Flemons was shot also and is dying.

English Wheat and Hay Crops.

The London Cargo List (Dornbusch) of July 7, in its weekly review of the European weather and crop conditions, says:

"The hay crop of England and Wales is not expected to produce more than 3,000,000 to 3,500,000 tons in comparison with 5,558,000 tons in 1892 and 7,032,000 tons in 1891. The yield in 1890 was 8,193,000 tons. The quality of English wheat is expected to be better than the average, but the quantity must be small in consequence of reduced acreage. Probably the outturn will be somewhere in the neighborhood of 13,000,000 bushels. Barley and oats cannot be other than deficient."
