A Remarkable Change in the Attitude of Aldermen.

and Ald. Lamb Moved that No Compremise be Made with the Company-The Johnston Suit will be Fought to the Bitter End, Unless the Directors at Once

Come to Time. The World's suggestions of a boodle investigation yesterday had a salutary effect on the aldermen. At the City Council meeting in the afternoon the members of the council in a body undid the decision of the Executive Committee and Ald. Lamb is once more belligerent against the company. The first gun in the contest, which resulted in Ald. Lamb retiring from his stand against the consumer and in favor of the Toronto-street corporation, and proposing that the Johnston fight be continued to the bitter end, was fired by special auditor, Mr. W.

R. Hughes, who, in the course of his report, said: "In my report of the 28th November, 1894, I notified the City Council through His Worship the Mayor that gas consumers were entitled in respect of a special surplus of $152,093 to a reduction in price of gas equal to 28 3-4 cents per 1000 cubic feet during 1895. The company is chargeable with legal interest at 6 per cent. on said $152,-093, equal to $9,125.58. In respect of year ending 1st October, 1895, after caking all fair allowances. I find there is a further surplus of $34,475.79. On that date the sum of $195,694.37 represented and still represents an amount applicable to reduction in price of gas equal to 36 cents for 1000 cubic feet during ensuing year, 1896."

The auditor further recommended that all further legislation should provide for the appointment of a city inspector, a civic representative on the company's directorate and for simpler methods of bringing about a better understanding between company and consumer, and contended that the legislation now asked for the company. would result in additional dangers to the people; also that in proportion to capital of $1,700,000, with a supposed eserve of $850,000, an additional 17 per cent, on paid-up capital is simply all proportion to any probable demand. He Acknowledged Having Stolen From Strathrey $4600 Belonging to the Traders' Bank.

compromise be struck out and the pro-posal to fight Mr. Johnston's suit be carried out.

Ald. Jolliffe arose and could afford to reduce the price to 90 cents and still leave a margin for wear and tear on plant-a just precau wear and tear on plant—a just precau-tion. Ald. Lamb had seen fit to change the report of his sub-commit-tee and called for an additional reduc-tion in the price of gas for cooking purposes. Such conduct as Ald. Lamb's in this matter was intolerable; cipal government in Toronto a by-word and a stench in the nostrils of decent people. No matter what the corporation, it was worthy of fair At this point half a dozen employes of the Gas Company, who were in the gallery, applauded.

In justice, continued Ald. Scott, the company should have had the opportunity to reply, and that it would have had it but for Ald. Lamb. The council should consider well whether it had the right to expend the people's money in fighting Mr. Johnston's suit. It should only be done as a last resort, and if it were a legal expenditure. A private consumer had a perfect right to go on with the suit. The question was, Shall we or shall we not aid Mr. Johnston? He was in favor of doing so only in the event of the company's refusal to grant the proposed reductions. At this point half a dozen employe refusal to grant the proposed reduc-tion. Furthermore, he wished to say that he had no interest or expectations direct or indirect in this matter except one, and that was the welfare of the
