

"THE GREATEST POSSIBLE GOOD TO THE GREATEST POSSIBLE NUMBER."

Vol. III. No. 32 BEETON, ONT., NOV. 2, 1887. WHOLE No. 136.

EDITORIAL

THE total value of honey imported into the United Kingdom during the month of September, 1887, amounted to £2092. While Canada has not contributed much, if any, to this amount, it will be seen that a vast amount of honey is imported into England from other countries. Much of this, we presume, has gone from our neighbors across the border, even though their crop has been short this year.

Mr. W. Z. Hutchinson having disposed of his property at Rogersville, Mich., to his brother, has removed to Flint, Mich., so that hereafter his address will be the latter. He still retains his apiary at Rogersville, having sold only the farm to his brother.

The British Bee Journal, in its issue of October 13th, copies our report of the meeting in honor of Mr. Cowan at the Industrial Exhibition. The usual meeting of the British Bee-keepers' Association will take place on the 19th of October. The quarterly conversation will commence at 6 o'clock on the evening of the same day, and the Journal says:—"This meeting will, no doubt, prove an interesting one, as Mr. Cowan, who has just returned from visiting the United States and having inspected some of the largest apiaries in the world, will be present."

We notice in the last issue of the American Bee Journal that the Bee-keepers' Union, of which Mr. Newman is manager, will, in all probability, take an appeal in the "Rich" case which we mentioned a week or two ago as having gone against the defendant.

The following are the subjects for discussion at the Union Convention at Chicago, to be held on the 16th, 17th, and 18th of November, in so far as has been determined up to the present time:

Cost of the Production of Honey—J. H. Martin, Hartford, N.Y.
