

AN UNKNOWN SISTER OF CHARITY. Unknown to man, but known to God. The soulless and the vain. Unknown where ringeth folly's song. And pleasure's sickle strain. Unknown where fickle fate bestows. Her evanescent crown. While for a fleeting instant glows. The light of earth's renewing dawn. Unknown in life, unknown in death. Thus would she live and die. She needed not the trumpet breath To wait her death, on high. But where the plague, at noon-day, trod O'er earth his fatal way. And 'neath his blighting rod, The stricken thousands lay. Where fiercely burned the fever flame, And rang the dying groan. Full well the Sister's holy name, And gentle face were known. And while her life's latest murmur breathed, On her its blessings fond. Her father's crown was wreathed. The "jasper walls" beyond. She saw in every tortured one. Her anguish-laden Lord. For him her holy work was done. From him he claimed reward. What though no flaunting banners wave Where mercy's martyr sleeps? What though, above her nameless grave No earthly mourner weeps? When soared her soul, on eager wing, Beyond the gates of pain, The white-robed legions of the King Were her triumphal train. And where love wrote her blessed name Above His radiant throne, In Heaven's light of fadefless fame She lives forever known! MARIÉ.

RECOLLECTIONS OF CHARLES LEVER, THE NOVELIST.—The Villa Morcilli was an unattractive-looking house from the road, from which it was approached by iron gates and a short drive, says a writer in Lippincott's Magazine. But on the other (or garden) side was one of the most picturesque, irregularly built old houses imaginable, and the bagged garden terrace at the back commanded a lovely view of the sea and the bay of San Miniato, with its ancient church and half-ruined fortification on its top, and of the olive and vine-planted valley which divided the two eminences. Often of a summer evening, before the arrival of whistlers from Florence, I used to find Lever in an easy chair on this terrace, with coffee before him and a cigar in his mouth, enjoying the cool hour of the Ave Maria. Sometimes, finding nobody there, I penetrated into the long series of sitting-rooms that occupied all the ground floor of the building, and on these occasions was sure to find him in a little study, the last and remotest of the suite, writing. But he was always glad of a motive for laying the pen aside. And then we used to go and sit on the terrace and discuss the chances of a coming war—that which was decided at Sedowa—and Lever would give his reasons, strategic and political, for feeling sure that Austria would be victorious. And then, one by one, the whistlers would drop in, and the Austrians and Prussians were forgotten in the excitement of the battles, the upshot of which our friend was better able to predict. Lever's outward appearance was exactly such as the mental characteristics which have been attributed to him in the preceding pages, would lead one to expect. He was, though not a tall, rather a large made and large limbed man—not fat, but portly in his person; and there was a kind of expansiveness in his character. He used to wear a coat falling freely and widely back; and exhibiting a large expanse of waistcoat. He affected, I think, light colors rather, and often a light waistcoat. He was an especially spruce and speckless looking man, yet without any appearance of care or precision. He used to show a great deal of linen about his bosom, and neck, and hands, which always looked as if it had been put on the minute before, and would, if it were to be preserved in the condition one always saw it in, need to be renewed the next minute. His head was rather large, and sufficiently bald at the top to show that on phrenological principles it was exceedingly well formed—broad and, though not massive, in the forehead, and with that wide, round arch from ear to ear which is held to denote a well-developed and well-balanced moral organization. The broad face, clean-looking and fresh-colored, but hardly to be called florid, with its clear eyes brimming over with humor, and its wide mouth well filled with brilliantly white teeth, was the very picture of most eloquent expression of good nature, good temper and good humor. The lips were full, but not sensual; there was too much indicative of intellect about them! The chin, always smoothly shaven, was large, and might have been called a little heavy had it been appended to a less mobile and less wit-lighted face. It had an expressiveness of its own, too, that chin; for it had a way, when he was in a satirical mood and was about to say a sharp thing, of assuming a look of hardness and awareness about the under jaw which would have imparted a character of severity to the face, if eyes had not all the time been shooting out sunbeams on the sly. I wonder how those eyes looked when he was really angered. I never saw him so.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., whose family Medicines have won golden opinions and achieved world-wide reputation, after patient study and much experimenting, succeeded in perfecting a Compound Extract of Smart-Weed, or Water Pepper, that is destined to become as celebrated as his other medicines. It owes its efficacy not entirely to the Smart-Weed, which, however, is a sovereign remedial agent, but largely to a happy combination of that herb with Jamaica Ginger and other vegetable agents. The combination is such as to make it a very pleasant remedy to take. Taken internally, it cures Diarrhoea, Dysentery (or Bloody-Flux), Summer Complaint, Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Colic, Cramps and Pains in the Stomach; breaks up Colds, Febrile and inflammatory Attacks. It is sold by all druggists and dealers in medicines.

CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, GENERAL DEBILITY, CAUTION.—HYPOPHOSPHITES.—FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES.—As this preparation is entirely different in its combination, and effects from all other remedies called Hypophosphites, the public are cautioned that the genuine has the name of FELLOWS & CO. blown on the bottle. The signature of the inventor, James I. Fellows, is written in red ink across each label, and the price is $1.50 per bottle. Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites is prescribed by the first physicians in every city and town, where it is introduced, and is a thoroughly orthodox preparation.

Burnett's Cocaine for the hair has stood the test of time and competition. It has established a reputation for purity and efficacy in every quarter of the world. For twenty years it has been a favorite with the people, and a leader with the trade. The name "Cocaine" has become a valuable property. We have established our right to its use in several suits at law, thus protecting the public and ourselves from imposition.

PRAYER OF PIUS IX.—In a recent audience of the Vatican, our Holy Father distributed with his own hand to every one present, the following beautiful prayer—very probably composed by himself: "O good Jesus our Master and Lawgiver, do Thou deliver us from our enemies. O Lord and Mighty King, all is submitted to Thy Power and none can resist Thy sovereign will: if Thou hast resolved to save Israel, Thou art the Master of all things; no, none can oppose Thy Majesty. Now, O Lord, have pity on Thy people, for our enemies are bent on our ruin; they have sworn to destroy the inheritance Thou hast purchased for us. Do Thou change, O Lord, our affliction into joy, that we may live and praise Thy Name. In this sad disturbance and confusion of all things, whom shall we invoke but Thee, O Lord, our King? Remember Thy Church in tears; Thou alone canst help her. Since traitors and blind leaders have united for one object—to do away with Thy promises, to ruin Thy inheritance, to shut the lips that praise Thee, to obscure the glory of Thy hour and of Thy atars; O Lord, deliver not Thy servants to those who hate Thee, that they may not exult over our destruction; but do Thou turn their wicked designs to their own shame. Remember us, O Lord; be Thou propitious unto us in our great tribulations, who live and reignest for ever and ever. Amen."

EPP'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk.—Sold only in Packets labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homoeopathic Chemist, 48, Threadneedle Street, and 170, Piccadilly; Works, Euston Road and Camden Town, London."
