

A word from our sponsors

Certified General Accountants Association of Canada:

As a potential or new exporter you must be well prepared. A Certified General Accountant (CGA) advisor can help your business prepare for export. The advisor can assist you in developing financial forecasts or pricing and cost strategies that will maximize your profits; developing a business plan or an export strategy; and obtaining insurance on your foreign dollar account receivable or to obtain contract insurance. For more information visit our Small Business Centre at:
