

APPENDIX No. 1

	PAGE.
GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP AND CONTROL—Con.
France, telephone business in, a government monopoly	Webb 913
German telephone system a government monopoly.	Webb 869
Government monopoly a blight on the telephone business in Europe, Webb	855
Government monopoly in England fundamental reason for telephone busi- ness being behind that of United States	Webb 907
Guernsey, Channel Islands, Telephone system.	Dagger 15
Guernsey State Telephone system, discussion on operation of.	Webb 870, 871
State owned Telephone System	Dagger 15
Interchange of service between companies, Government control the solu- tion to.	Thompson 523
License to carry on telephone business, suggested conditions for.	Dagger 17
Local exchanges not desirable, Government owned	Tetu 985, 990
Local lines a reasonable proposition, Government.	Neill 153
Local management of exchanges cheaper than government.	Willock 280
Local systems not a success, Government owned.	Dagger 15
Local Telephone systems, suggestion for control of.	Dagger 17
London Post Office system	(See Webb)
Long-distance and local lines under different control would be confusion worse confounded.	Aylesworth 778
Long-distance lines a big thing for the people, state owned.	Demers 235, 236
Long-distance lines advocated, state owned	Skinner 172
Long-distance lines not objected to, state owned	Tetu 986, 990
Long-distance lines recommended, state owned	Dagger 17
Long-distance lines recommended, Government	Neill, 149, 151, 154
Long-distance lines should be owned by Government.	Urquhart 712, 762, 763
Long-distance lines should be owned by Government	MacRae 309
Long-distance lines should be owned by Government, executive of Retail Merchants' Association is of opinion that.	Trowern 956
Long-distance lines would be successful, Government.	Ware 1028, 1029
Long-distance lines would not repress initiative or retard development, Government.	Tetu 991
Long-distance ownership or control would come entirely within the pro- vince of a government.	Tetu 985
Long-distance service owned by government would enable cities to have cheaper local service	Beaudry 965
Long-distance service should be controlled by government, general feeling is that.	Moyer 971
Long-distance service (Government) would necessarily be handled through companies and connections supervised in local exchanges.	Tetu 991
Long-distance system might be brought under Dominion control.	Dewart 755
Municipalities prefer Government ownership of long-distance.	Lighthall 757
Municipalities would be satisfied if provisions analogous to section 195 of Railway Act were applied to long-distance lines	Dewart 757
Objections to government ownership	Webb 928-930
Opinion upon.	Dyke 100
Purchase of National Telephone Co.'s systems by British Post Office a matter of politics.	Webb 868, 869
Purchase of National Telephone Co.'s system by British Post Office, no popular demand for.	Webb 869
Purchase of National Telephone Co.'s plant by British Post Office to be on 'tramway terms,' no payment to be made for good-will, &c.	Webb 910
Railway Commission should be competent to decide questions between Cor- porations and Municipalities.	Atwater 760