SOCIETY

A large and appreciative audience attended the delightful concert given in Massey Hall by the Toronto Symphony Orchestra last night, when His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was present, accompanied by the Misses Gibson, Mrs. Stewart, Major Clyde Caldwell and Mrs. Sydney Fellowes, A.D.C.

Lady Gibson received yesterday afternoon, when she was wearing a becoming gray satin and lace gown with black and silver embroidery and diamond ornaments. Miss Gibson was in a pretty frock of blue broad-ninon with dresden girdle, and Miss Maitland wore apricot ninon trimmed with fringe. Major Caldwell, Mr. Sydney Fellowes, A.D.C., and Miss Tritton were also assisting, the tea table being decorated with chrysanthemums and primulas. A few of those present were: Col. and the Misses Stimson, Mrs. Geary, Mrs. German of St. Catharines, Mrs. German Jr., Mrs. W. J. Goulding, Mrs. Kenyon, Mrs. MacLean Howard, Miss Virginia Hugel, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beardsmore, Mrs. T. H. Rhen, Miss Sarah Lansing of Buffalo, Mrs. Frank B. Johnston, Col. Carpenter, Mrs. Condon, Miss Marie Macdonnell, Dr. Hardy, Lady Bourinot, Mrs. Cattinagh, Mrs. Victor Williams, Mrs. Charles Melles, Miss Marie Rutherford, Mrs. D. T. Symons, Mrs. Monck, Mrs. H. Strickland, Col. and Mrs. Delaney, Mrs. Aileen Robertson, Miss Cartwright, Miss Nanno Hughes and Mrs. G. E. Gooderham.

The following is the list of patronesses for the Cricket Club ball at McCone's this evening: Lady Gibson, Lady Walker, Mrs. W. H. Cross, Mrs. W. J. Fleury, Mrs. Albert Gooderham, Mrs. Arthur Graessett, Mrs. Elmes Henderson, Mrs. Oden Jones, Mrs. George Lindsay, Mrs. James Plummer, Mrs. Dyce Saunders, Mrs. James Scott and Mrs. Sweeney.

The Victoria College conversation takes place this evening in the main hall of the building.

Mrs. Frank Smith and Miss Florence Smith are at 137 Crescent road for the winter.

The U. E. Loyallists' Association will give a tea at McCone's on Thursday, Dec. 12.

Col. and Mrs. Hamilton Marritt are expected in town the end of the week from abroad, and will occupy their suite of rooms at the King Edward.

DRAPED BROCADE.

Beautiful gold and black brocade forms this draped evening wrap, the design of which is well suited to the material.

A yoke and sleeve in one form the upper part, the yoke extending to the waist line in front, and the lower part is slightly gathered to the yoke and draped up in front to give the much desired tapering outline to the skirt.

A lining of black satin is unusual but effective, and the neck ruff of black panne velvet is wired to make it stand erect.

was banked with ferns and palms and festooned with roses and smilax. Miss Edith Bassett played the wedding march. Owing to the illness of Mr. Fairbairn, the bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Ford Fairbairn. She was wearing a graceful gown of white satin heavily embroidered with pearls. Her veil, which was of tulle, was crowned with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower of roses and lilies.

The bride's cousin, Miss Gertrude Patterson of Chicago, was bridesmaid, and she carried a bouquet of coral pink chrysanthemums and a small pink chrysanthemum.

Mr. and Mrs. Baird were best man and maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Darling, Miss Spill, Bommer and Miss Edith Snelgrove.

MISCHA ELMAN GETS TREMENDOUS OVATION

Youthful Genius Charms a Large Audience at Massey Hall—Expresses His Views.

Mischa Elman has well been termed the emperor of violinists. This youthful Russian genius, critics unanimously agree, is one of the most abundantly gifted artists before the public today.

His reception at Massey Hall last evening before a crowded house was certainly inspiring and gratifying, and he was repeatedly forced to acknowledge the plaudits of the enraptured listeners.

When seen after the performance Elman said: "I consider it a privilege to play before a Toronto audience. I have many warm personal friends here and feel very much at home. In the old country they think that Canadians do not know how to make good musical instruments, but I want to say that the New Scale Williams Piano, which I use both in public and at the hotels while in Canada, is here and feel very much at home. CHRISTMAS IDEAS

An Oval Bureau Cover. This is a pleasing innovation, particularly when the looking glass which hangs above it is the same shape. Cut an oval, large enough to almost cover the bureau, from a piece of white Swiss the dots of which are large coin size. Cover each dot with working there, with flat embroidery stitch, of some delicately colored, not too fine working cotton. Edge the cover with a five inch gathered ruffle cut from the same shade of handkerchief linen or some other fine material. The ruffle should be put on with a narrow bias binding to conceal the raw edges on the wrong side. A little of feather stitching on the bias binding would add to the attractiveness of the cover.

Folder for a Corset. Here is a frivolous but the girl who loves pretty things. It must be the color she likes best in flowered or gaudy. The quality be good. The material will last just as long as the eight inch Valenciennes insert, which forms the centre of the little bolter-shaped case. It will require about a half yard each of the insert and the organdy. Cut the latter in half, so that you have its two complete ends of the insert. The straight edge of the insert to meet the organdy will resemble a bolter case, with a transparent centre of wide insert and a narrow border of organdy ample enough to allow of hand-running through which colored satin ribbons which will form a three inch ruffle at each end when the case is drawn together.

Mrs. E. H. Ethel Shepherd is giving a private tea this afternoon in her studio, followed by a tea to meet Mrs. J. D. A. Swapp. Miss Aileen Kemp will render the program.

Mrs. Howe, Chestnut Park, introduced Mrs. Constance Howe at a tea yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hawes left on Tuesday to spend a month in Washington and New York.

A holiday team will be opened at 7 King street east under the auspices of the Girls' Friendly Society, Dec. 8, and will continue for two weeks. The hostesses on Monday will be Mrs. Ashcroft, Mrs. M. A. Robertson, W. Ray Gibbs, Beverly Macquodale and Will R. Cockburn.

The Chamberlain Chapter, I.O.D.E., is holding a luncheon today in Forester's Hall, College street.

The Benvenuto Club will hold the next dance on Wednesday evening, Dec. 11, in the Foresters' Temple, College and Yonge streets. The patronesses will be: Mrs. C. V. Allison, Mrs. Hugh Cockburn, Mrs. H. G. Fallaise, Mrs. D. Travis, Mrs. M. L. Weymer. The committee in charge are: Messrs. W. L. Macdonald, A. R. Robertson, W. Ray Gibbs, Beverly Macquodale and Will R. Cockburn.

Mrs. E. A. McAllister of Chateaufort, formerly of Toronto, is in town visiting.

Care of Bottles.

Following up yesterday's article on feeding the baby, it seems advisable to review the proper care of bottles in the preparation of baby's food.

The average mother, scrupulously clean about everything that has to do with her baby, can not realize how careless it is possible to be and what dread results follow such carelessness.

The best bottles are plain round ones with ounce marks on the side. There is a narrow neck for the attachment of the nipple. The one important requirement is that there are no corners on the inside, and that the shape of the bottle be so designed that the bottle can be cleaned easily and thoroughly. It is best to have as many bottles as there are feedings during the day, then the food can be bottled in the morning and kept covered in a cool place until needed. As soon as baby has taken his food, wash out the bottle with clear water, then again with hot water and soap. Then fill it with warm water, in which is dissolved a teaspoonful of borax and leave it until the next morning.

Next day before you start to prepare the baby's food, place the bottles thoroughly, put them over the fire in a pan of cold water and boil twenty minutes. Then pour the food into them, stop up the bottles with absorbent cotton and put away until needed.

It is well to have two or three nipples always on hand. When new nipples should be boiled. A plain, black rubber nipple with one small hole is the best and simplest. As soon as the meal is finished, the nipple should be boiled in cold water and put in a covered glass containing water and a pinch of borax. Do not use a nipple for too long a time, and do not have the hole too large—the food should drop quickly from the nipple, but never run in a steady stream. All utensils used in preparing baby's food should be kept exclusively for this purpose and should be sterilized by boiling.

I did not intend this talk on cleaning and the care of bottles to come in just now, but since the new year is so near, and then start the series of talks on the care of the young baby, I thought I would say a few words on this subject precipitated the talk.

And after all what does it matter what an article appears, so that it fulfills the purpose of the column—helps the mother in the actual nursing of her baby. I am sure that if you step aside from the contemplation of the same thing in your paper nursery.

CANADA'S CHRISTMAS STAMP

The Little One Cent Messenger at Work Everywhere in the Fight Against Consumption.

It seems very clear that the little one cent stamp, issued in aid of the Muskegon Free Hospital for the Consumptives for the past four years, has been a success.

Up to a larger year roll for this great work in any previous year.

Everyone, be he ever so poor, may have some part to play in the King Edward Memorial fund to end consumption in Canada by means of this Christmas stamp. There should not be a letter or parcel going out from any home or office, or Christmas without between now and Christmas without these stamps being placed thereon. It is not only the price of a million dollar memorial fund to end consumption in Canada by means of this Christmas stamp.
