Given Fifteen Days.

Dr. Renner was calm and assured as a fentering his own house. He walked lirectly to his seat and motioned his colleagues to their places. The entire essemblage, which had risen upon the miry of the Austrians, seated itself, demenceau alone remained standing, and with scarcely an instant's duse the session started.

Ears which were eagerly strained to car from M. Clemenceau some striking phrases on the origin of the warr Austria's guilt and punishment were isappointed. The Tiger refrained from my political allusion in his short peech; he merely outlined the procedure of the negetiations and explained hat only part of the treaty was ready, is asked that any replies or observations to such parts of the treaties as were laid today before the Austrians as submitted in writing within fifteen lays.

M. Clemenceau spoke in easy conversational tone, befitting such routine marks, and at the end called for translations, which on this occasion were given in Italian, as well as German

Dr. Renner read his speech thru to the carm without any attempt at oratorical embellishment, the speaking with deep carnestness and sincerity.

Dr. Renner expressed gratitude for the food relief that had come from the allied food commission. He promised loyally to do his best to bring about peace on the basis presented.

"Our state rests in your hands," said Dr. Renner, "and we hope before the conscience of the world that the allies will not abuse this power."

Dr. Renner made appeal to the principles of President Wilson on which the armistice was asked and granted, and alluded to the present sufferings of Austria. It was only thanks to the generacity of the Hoover commission that the life of the Austrian population had been saved. He asked for a peace of right and justice and for assistance to tide over the trouble, He said he would examine the terms of the allies loyally and do his best to work out a peace on such a basis.

"We hope to explain to you here this status of Austria and the states of the states of Austria and the states of the common the council and monarchy." he added. The English translator rose as the Austrian finished, and furnished the version to which English and American delegates istened closely. The attention of the assembly wavered as the proceedings passed into Italian. This version was listened to only by the Italian delegates into tealing. Almost before those assembled realized. they had left the room, departing from the opposite portal.

The Austrian delegates were surprised, and seemingly by no means pleased, at the translation of Dr. Renner's speech into Italian. They said that Dr. Renner spoke in French to simplify the proceedings, Had they known that it was intended to give the Italian version they would have insisted upon their prerogative of speaking in German.

HAMILTON ESCAPES GENERAL WALK-OUT

Indications Growing That the Masses of Workers Are Contented.

Hamilton, June 2.—Indications are becoming stronger here every day that Hamilton will escape any mass action on the part of her workmen, as general call out and in fact, the ma-jority of them are firm believers that they are doing nicely and that "every-thing comes to him who waits." thing comes to him who waits."

It was generally thought that the blacksmiths would go out today, following the refusal of the bosses to introduce the usual schedule of "less work and more pay," but no strike action has been decided on up to the present time. A special meeting was held over the week-end, but no information was handed out, tho it is believed that the men are trying to have the bosses meet them across have the bosses meet them across the "peace table."

Favored by A. S. of E. The only organized body here that has gone on record as being in favor of a general walk-out is the A. S. of E. but as the International Machinists Union is still working quietly and apthe former body is tied hand and foot the former body is tied hand and foot. The machinists are stated to be completing their organization and will likely hold another meeting in the course of a week to talk on the question of a living munimum wage and shorter hours.

Outside civic employes went to work on the eight-hour schedule today, the nen reporting for work at 8 o'clock instead of 7 o'clock. Inside city emplement also adopted their summer schedule today, the offices closing at 4 o'clock instead of 5.

The translator was now so nervous that presently he was caught telling the Austrians that their replies must be verbal, instead of written.

The Austrian Reply.

Dr. Karl Renner, head of the Austrian delegation, rose to reply at the end of the translation, but M. Clemenceau waved him to his seat to permit M. Dutasta, secretary of the conference, to place before him the text of the skeleton draft of the treaty. The Austrian delegate then rose and read his speech. He caused considerable surprise by choosing French as the medium for his remarks.

M. Clemenceau and Marshal Foch, the latter sitting with the French delegation, were obviously pleased at the choice of the language. As Dr. Renner proceeded with his discourse, revealing a tone of moderation and absence of recrimination or beasting, the strain, which had hung over the plenipotentiaries relaxed, and all settled down to calm and reasoned appreciation of the Austrian plea.

that the great issue will be settled for good and all. For, mark my words, no matter how well we are championed or how little in this farm championed of now little in this next for a grand principle, we, the marine trades, will fight to the last ditch, and I cannot too often remind you that we are well-backed financially. If the arbitration of our demands results in the 44-hour week, the results of our the 44-hour week, the results of our battle will be far-reachire, and general strike or no we shall have pioneered and won a principle which will extend its operations thruout the entire Dominion, aye, perhaps even thru Europe. The eight-hour day and 44-hour week will become operative everywhere before many years are passed, and as a result there will be greater leisure for both employer and employe."

F. C. Cribben, a trades unionist of long standing, expressed himself as in entire sympathy with the eight-hour movement, but did not believe it should be forced down one's throat. There were departments in industry where, in order to administer on an eight-hour law it would be necessary to completely revolutionize industry. There were men and women engaged in piece work who would welcome such a system; on the other hand, there were certain trades in which, it could be employed only to one's detriment. "I reaffirm my belief that any request to force me to break an agreement I have entered into with the employers symptomizes an effort to overthrow the essence of democracy," said Mr. Cribben. F. C. the standpoint of a sympathetic movement, was without rhyme or reason.

Did Not Agree

Arthur O'Leary and W. J. Hevey, president and secretary of the Toronto Trades Council, stated yesterday aftermon that they resigned from office only because they and the other officers of the meeting could not agree as to various matters of policy, and that it was misrepresentation to state that they resigned because of any accusations made against their honor. They had been vigorous and impartial champions of the fight for the 44 hours a week advocated by the metal trades council, but had jibbed at any attempt to add Toronto to the general strike movement in Canada.

Another union which is strongly entrenched in agreement and has now signed up for a further year is that of the stonecutters, and A. E. Bedford of Indianapolis, international president of this union, stated that his union never indulged in strikes, much less in general strikes. He had come to Toronto to help at the arbitration proceedings between the Toronto employers and their men. The men are asking 75 cents an hour as against 65 cents, which they are now receiving. The international union had a general agreement dating up to 1921, Louis Dahlgren, general manager for the Dominion Shipbuilding Company, stated last night that 500 out of a total of 1300 employees had decided to remain loyal to the firm, but that due to the strike of the other 800 the loyal 500 would be compelled to lay down their or 1300 employes had decided to remain loyal to the firm, but that due to the strike of the other 800 the loyal 500 would be compelled to lay down their tools, no work being left for them to do or at least such a condition would arise shortly if the strike continued.
