the present system will be removed. The Board of Control, which started out some months ago with a clash of cymbals and blare of trumpets to remodel the civic administration, appears to have lost that virility which marked its early career and has lapsed from an aggressive policy to that of passiveness. Possessed of extensive powers, the board enjoyed an opportunity of accomplishing much that would prove of advantage to the city. Recently indications have not been wanting that the members have failed to rise equal to the occasion which presented itself, Notably is this the case with respect to the matters in dispute relating to the new civic building. Much valuable time has been lost and there is now a strong probability that work which might have given employment to a

In the three pictures are no fewer than two hundred actual portraits of royalty, the Queen's household and leading people in both Great Britain and Canada. A blazing chimney at 83 Louisa-street gave the firemen a run at 11.15 yesterday morning. A remarkable case of "lost and found" occurred in Toronto the other day. Miss Bertha Greenway of 232 Jarvis-street took the No. 2 evening G.T.R. express from Oshawa and when the train was passing through the railway yards east of Yonge-street dropped her purse out of the window. On arriving at Oshawa the young lady wired to the Grand Trunk agent here, and at 1 a.m. next day Station Constable Stibbart. armed with a lantern, found the pocketbook lying beside the tracks, near the foot of Sherbourne-street. The wallet was sent to Miss Greenway by the next train, but the lady has not yet seen fit to even thank the constable, though she would have been out a number of bills but for his industry.
