

CORNERSTONE TRULY LAID OF TRANSPORTATION BLOC

Hon. Dr. Pyne Officially in the Absence of Premier—Farmers' Interests Spoken To.

A new era in the history of the Canadian National Exhibition was marked yesterday afternoon, when Hon. Dr. Pyne, in the absence of Sir James Whitney, laid the cornerstone of the transportation building.

Promptly at 4 o'clock George H. Gooderham, president of the association, in the presence of cabinet ministers and prominent citizens, handed Hon. Dr. Pyne the engraved trowel.

Dr. Pyne complimented the management of the exhibition, present and past, on the work which had been accomplished. It was meritorious work, he said, and he was glad to see it.

Hon. Dr. Pyne then addressed the gathering, and said that the transportation building was a fitting monument to the work of the transportation committee.
