EXPRESS CO.'S ASK BIG RATE INCREASE

Not Earning Operation Costs, Counsel Says-Flimsy Basis, Geary Retorts.

In opening the case for the express ns why the increase of 40 per on the rates presently obtaining in 1918 the board had ordered the exss companies to make a reduction of 20 per cent., except for traffic east of Sudbury; that a limited rate increase was allowed, which became ef-fective in September of last year. He pointed out that the benefits which d to the express companies ated to less than 23 per cent. on a whole traffic. The companies were the position of not being able to eet operating expenses. He conto depreciate the value of the dollar. He submitted that the express companies were operating on less than 12½ per cent. of what the board had declared in 1913 to be a fair and readown two years ago. He was em-phatic when he stated that the express ompanies were not earning operating

Mr. McDonald explained that if his company were to be deprived of the changes for handling liquor and bul-lion, which he thought, reluctantly, might be the case in the near future, then the deficit would be larger than the figures which he produced. He produced statements showing the upward trend in staple supplies and expenses, and instanced the ingrees. cost of hay during the past five months as having been 19 per cent., and other staples had increased in proportion, while the increased cost of cartage had mounted to 26 per cent. W. B. Doherty, city solicitor of St. Thomas, who likened it to "an orphan, which has no friends and no one can tell who are its godfather and god-mother." The opinions expressed were that the Whitney act, providing for registration of non-property owners to vote in the provincial elections, was quite workable. That the change made by the Drury government in appointing enumerators necessitated a lot of unnecessary work and the em-ployment of help which was not re-quired. Adverse criticism was also launched at the Drury government, which added women to part three of the voters' list for municipal elections, which part shows those entitled to vote in provincial elections. It was advanced that this meant a lot of unnecessary work for the assessors and made a very bulky assessment roll

In the Case of Detroit—

IN granting increased rates for telephone service in Detroit the other day, the Michigan Public Utilities Commission said:

"An increase in telephone rates may be unpopular. A collapse in telephone service would be a calamity. It would be easy to jeopardize the investment of stockholders, impair the value of the company's property, cripple its service and destroy its credit, but in the long run the rate-paying public would bear the burden of re-establishing the business."

Public Utility Commissions everywhere, are recognizing the fact that if telephone companies are to continue to give good service and to meet demands for new installations, they must have rates that will produce adequate revenue.
