Serious Blaze in Dock Street in Early Morn, Affecting Several Firms

Fire, which broke out in Dock street | $18,500 insurance on the stock. The Barry Supply Company had a stock valg and for a time threat-the entire block on the damaged by water. The Knox Electric eastern side, is estimated to have done damage of upwards to $50,000. Several firms were affected and in some instances individual losses were heavy. The fire broke out in the building occupied by the knox Electric Company and had made considerable headway before seen. Owing to the situation of the buildings the firemen had considerable difficulty fighting the flames and despite their efforts the fire spread to an alarming degree. A second alarm was sent in and with the assistance of additional apparatus the fire was eventually got under control. As it injured and his stock damaged quite was eventually got under control. As it was the damage by fire and water was heavy, and would have been greater had it not been for the efficient work of the Salvage Corps men who, handicapped by columns of smoke—and in some instances pany lost quite heavily as the result of water damage. In the home of E. I.

The fire was confined to a large three section building owned by E. Roger Owen of London, England, and was occupied by the following firms: Knox Electrical Company, J. Marcus, Barry Handware and Supply Company, Jacobson Bros., American Cloak Mfg. Company, Williams Mfg. Company, Harry Pierce's barber shop, John O'Pray's tailor shop and residence and H. C. Patterson's worked up in the rear of the building.

NOVELTY SHOWER A novelty shower was recently tend-red Miss Theresa Whorten at the home of Mrs. C. R. Marray, 22 Clarence street, by about fifty of her girl friends in honor of her wedding soon to be. Many gifts were received by the guest of the evening, and the hours passed pleasantly.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Dr. W. P. Broderick, grand knight, and H. E. Kane, recording secretary of the local council of the Knights of Columbus, No. 937, left today at noon for Charlottetown, P.E. Island, where they will be in attendance at the state convention of the K. of C., which will open that the sun still exists. Hence there is the sun was visible for at least ten minutes, through a partial veil of cloud, at Public Landing yesterday. The people, and especially the week-enders, took special note of the unusual phenomenon. It occurred between showers, and proved that the sun still exists. Hence there is Dr. W. P. A communication from the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs, asking the city to join the association was referred to the commissioner of public safety.

Commissioner McLellan asked if the water tax bills had been made up and when informed that they had not, he suggested a change in the method of the proposed reduction of rates. He said that the method suggested would not benefit all the tax payers and he would like to see the reduction made general.

Commissioner Wigmore said that he would submit a full report on his proposals before putting them into effect.

They have also delayed work on the Vaalley Railway. Everywhere the cry is for fine and warm weather.

The Man, Woman and Children had not been at the Landing for two weeks. They went up on the Oconee on Saturday, and, despite the weather, she had a large passenger list. Supper is served for those going to points beyond the Landing, and the service is good. Numerous heavy showers were encountered crous heavy showers were encountered on the voyage up, and continued at intervals till after noon yesterday. The Children, on arrival at the Parker farm, rushed to the garden. Wet grass and rain were no obstacle, and they brought in word that ness and beans letting. in word that peas and beans, lettuce, radishes, beets, carrots, parsnips, onions,

of Proceedings From Property
Owner's Solicitors

The decision to proceed with the Clarendon street retaining wall, according to the plans which have been prepared, was reaffirmed at a meeting of the commen council in committee this morning. The matter came up again through a letter from the solicitors of Miss Grace Murphy, whose property is affected by the plans for the new wall.

Commissioner Wigmore announced, in reply to an inquiry, that he would submit a full report on the proposed reduction in water rates before putting them into effect.

Several communications were dealt in word that peas and beans, lettuce, radishes, beets, carrots, parsnips, onions, cucumbers, squash, corn and potatoes were showing above ground, as well as sweet peas and nasturtiums; but the weeds were getting the best start, and with fine weather there will soon be lots to do to keep them down and encourage the vegetables to a thrifty growth. It is interesting to observe how much care even a small garden requires—but who objects? It is good for muscle and mind, as well as the family table.

The afternoon was warm yesterday, and it was interesting to sit on the vernadah and speculate on what might come out of the clouds whose aspect changed with every passing hour. Toward might the wind increased, and between six and seven o'clock rain fell once more, and drenching showers swept in swift succession across the whole valley. As the mit a full report on the proposed reduction in water rates before putting them into effect.

Several communications were dealt with.

Owing to the fact that the staff of the chamberlain's office was using the committee room to check the tax bills, the meeting was held in the mayor's office. Mayor Hayes presided and all members of the council were present.

When the meeting came to order, a letter was submitted from Hanington & Hanington protesting against the form of the retaining wall suggested for Clarendon street, on behalf of Miss Grace Murphy, who owns the adjoining property. They said that "what is proposed would absolutely ruin the lower part of Miss Murphy's house." They asked what the city proposed to do, and suggested that proceedings might follow if the course was not satisfactory.

In reply to an enquiry about a possible alternative, the road engineer said that the grade of the street could be lowered a service this summer.
