LAURIER IS PREMIER

The Victorious Liberal Leader Undertakes Task of Forming a Ministry.

The Latest Speculation as to the Personnel of the New Cabinet.

Parliament Will Prorogue its Meeting Until Thursday the 6th of August.

Ottawa, July 10.—Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, Canada's new premier, who arrived in the city by the Canada Atlantic railway last night, got a warm welcome, notwithstanding the hour of his arrival was not generally known. The news circulated in the city that Laurier would arrive by a special train at seven o'clock. Another report, which turns out to be the correct one, was that he would come by the regular train. However, a large number of people, not to be disappointed in seeing the Liberal chieftain, went to the depot at seven o'clock and waited until he arrived, despite the fact that it was raining heavily. There must have been over 2,000 people at the station when the train arrived. It was with the greatest difficulty that Laurier, and those who were along with him, managed to get through the throng, so eager were they all to get a glance of him. He was greeted with immense cheering as he stepped into the carriage for the Russell house. A crowd followed the carriage to the Russell house, and all along the route by the Rideau and Sparks street the sidewalks were thronged with people. In front of the Russell house the crowd was so large that it was with difficulty that the street cars could pass. Laurier was again cheered as he left the carriage and went into the Russell house. In the rotunda he spent a few minutes shaking hands with his numerous friends and afterwards he went up stairs to his room. The crowd still lingered outside the hotel, anxious to see the new premier should appear and say a few words to them. Laurier, however, did not seem to take advantage of this until such time as he had an interview with His Excellency. Those arrived from Montreal, among them Laurier, J. Israel Tarte, Sydney A. Fisher, Dr. Borden and James Sutherland, N. A. Belcourt, W. C. Edwards and Charles Murphy, president of the Federation of the Young Liberals.

Nearly all the leading Liberals in Ottawa were among those who were at the railway depot. Laurier is in excellent health and spirits. His many friends in Ottawa are delighted to see him looking so well. Sir John A. Macdonald, who in the zenith of his power, never got such a hearty welcome as was accorded to Laurier.

The Hon. Wilfrid Laurier left the Russell House for Rideau Hall at one o'clock to-day to have an interview with the Governor-General. Mr. Laurier was asked by His Excellency and undertook the task of forming a ministry. It is generally understood that the new premier's cabinet slate is complete and will be given to the public without delay. In addition to Dr. Borden, James Sutherland, Sydney Fisher, Mr. Tarte and Mr. Donville, who accompanied Mr. Laurier from Montreal, Sir Richard Cartwright arrived this morning. Hon. David Mills came along with Sir Richard. Their presence here would go to show that they are to be in the cabinet. Mr. Patterson, of Beaufort, is also here and is pretty certain to be among those selected. Besides the above, J. K. Kerr, of Toronto; James Monmee, Anglin, son of the late T. W. Anglin, Smith, the Liberal organizer, Major Walsh, of Brockville, and other prominent politicians are in the city.

Mr. Laurier returned from Rideau Hall at one o'clock. To your correspondent he said he had had an interview with His Excellency and had undertaken the task of forming a government. One cabinet slate is as follows: Maritime Provinces—Davies, Fielding, Blair and Dr. Borden. Quebec—Laurier, Tarte, Joly and Fisher, Geoffroy without portfolio, and Chas. Fitzpatrick, solicitor-general. Ontario—Sir Oliver Mowat, Sir Richard Cartwright, R. W. Scott and Patterson or Mills. A controllership will also go to Ontario.

Manitoba and the Northwest—Sifton. British Columbia will get one of the controllerships now or in the near future—and it is also suggested that Senator McInnes, of that province will be taken in without portfolio.

Montreal, July 10.—Vice-Admiral James Eslerkin, accompanied by a number of officers of H. M. Ships Intrepid and Tartar, now in port, visited the city hall yesterday, and were received by the mayor and aldermen and a num-

BRYAN NOMINATED

A Dark Horse wins in the Democratic Convention at Chicago.

The Popular Young Nebraska Orator Sweeps Everything Before Him.

His Speech Last Evening Seems to Have Turned the Tide in His Favor.

Chicago, July 10.—The decks have been cleared for the balloting which begins when the Democratic National Convention assembles at 10 o'clock to-day. The real struggle opens at the platform, the delegates brought to an immense pitch over the sensational developments of yesterday, when the Bryan wave swept through the convention and threatened for a time to stampede it then and there. This has disturbed all candidates and has thrown the ranks of the other candidates into confusion. The sensation of yesterday and last night has been contagious both within and without the convention hall, and the public at large are eager to see its expected development when the convention opens to-day as the balloting is about to begin. It was felt that one or two conditions will be shown; either the enthusiastic element would dominate and swing the delegations into line with one accord or else the condition of the convention would make a protracted deadlock inevitable.

The Bryan forces are making the most of the phenomenal rise of the young orator of Nebraska yesterday. The adjournment at midnight gave the leaders of the other candidates an opportunity to rally their forces. It served also to give a few hours in which cool counsel could prevail against the wave of sentiment which was at high tide last night. But the convention hall continued to be full of Bryan rumors, the Nebraska man giving by his presence on the platform that magnetic touch which thus far has been lacking. The bland managers, while admitting the danger of the impetus to the Bryan movement declared it was the result of a frolic sensibility, and that it had failed in the purpose to carry the convention off its feet. They still held the stronghold of Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois and Texas, and were confident that these states would take from the Bryan movement its element of peculiar enthusiasm.

The lesser candidates are playing a waiting game, believing the time will come when the convention in desperation will turn from the first favorites and seek others which some strength may be concentrated. Great interest is centered in the course of New York and other old delegates. Their conference failed to bring about a determination to bolt, except in a few individual instances. But the purpose of the New York to refrain from taking part in the ballot had an ominous suggestiveness. With this are coupled reports from many eastern localities that Democratic newspapers have declared themselves against the silver platform adopted yesterday. Silver leaders do not seek to belittle the importance of this attitude by eastern men and their press, but labored to develop a spirit of conciliation before the convention closed.

Should presidential nomination be made to-day, the convention would doubtless conclude its labors to-night by trying through the nomination of a vice-president. There is little or no calculation on second place on the ticket, as all interest centres for the present on the first place, and on the determination that such depends as to the vice-presidency. There is but little hope among the leaders, however, that the full ticket can be perfected by to-day.

An hour later than had been scheduled, the convention met this morning for the sole and express purpose of nominating a presidential ticket. Chairman White called the delegates to order at 11 a.m. The men took their seats solemnly and bitterly and with little heart in the proceedings. To the surprise of many Senator Hill did not appear and a hurried conference was held among the New Yorkers as to whether they would best bolt in a body or act each to his own liking. It was finally agreed to send a committee to Hill asking him to come to the convention.

Miller, of Oregon, also presented another nominee, Gov. Pennoyer, of his state.

Then when Mattingly, of District of Columbia, had seconded the nomination of John McLean, the speech-making took a let-up.

It has been decided that two-thirds of the number of votes cast should be considered sufficient, not two-thirds of the total number of votes privileged to be cast, which cleared the doubts in the minds of many as to what would be the effect if three hundred gold men should refuse to vote. There are 930 votes in the convention.

On the first ballot the totals were: Bland, 224; Siberian, 129; Patterson, 96; Blackburn, 81; Boies, 67; McLean, 54; Matthews, 37; Tillman, 17; Pennoyer, 8; Teller, 8; Stevenson, 2; Russell, 2; Campbell, 1; Hill, 1. Absent and not voting, 193. Some changes were made by individual delegates so the official totals read: Bland, 233; Bryan, 100; Blackburn, 83; Boies, 85; McLean, 54; Matthews, 46; Patterson, 100; McLean, 281; Bryan, 190; Tillman, 100; McLean, 54; Blackburn, 46; Matthews, 37; Boies, 37; Stevenson, 10; Teller, 8; Pennoyer,

THE WAR IN CUBA

Maceo's Messengers are Held in Quarantine in Kingston, Jamaica.

Gomez is Preparing a Coup de Main That Will "Startle the World".

Antonio Maceo, the Great Insurgent Leader is Reported to Have Died.

New York, July 10.—A special to the Herald from Kingston, Jamaica, says: An officially recognized rumor has been current in Kingston that a Spanish warship recently secretly landed a force at Dry Harbor to kidnap a Cuban alleged to be the chief mover in filibustering expeditions.

This place is conveniently situated at a lonely spot near Dry Harbor. In the neighborhood are many old Spanish ruins in the secret cellars of which it is known the Cuban insurgents have from time to time hidden arms and shipped them off to Cuba at their leisure, defying the native detectives, who have always failed to locate these store places.

Matters stood thus, when a few days ago, just before daylight, an open boat with eleven men arrived just off Runaway bay on the north side of the island. The boat had come from Cuba and the names of those on board were: Capt. L. Prado, Senior Zelamao, J. E. Lumones, R. Magarro, P. Lavis, M. Laro, P. P. Morales, a servant and two reporters from American papers. They had come, it subsequently transpired, with dispatches from Antonio Maceo for the Cuban junta here. Three of the men were put ashore at Runaway bay with instructions to make their way with all speed to Kingston on the opposite side of the island. The men traveled by road and reached the railroad line at the Ewarton station. When about to board the train three were arrested by a police sergeant and taken to Dry Harbor. The medical authorities ordered not only the men, but the police who had arrested them and the driver of the conveyance from Ewarton to Dry Harbor, to be placed in quarantine. Senior Ronden, president of the junta, and a couple of prominent Cubans finally went over to Dry Harbor, but were not permitted to approach closer than 100 yards from those in quarantine. They carried on a conversation in Spanish with the messengers, who brought reports of the recent battle in Puerto Principe. They spoke of the position of the insurgents as excellent. The organization and discipline of the Cuban force left nothing to be desired and Havana was at their mercy, they said, but without a fleet they could not hold the city, and nothing therefore was to be gained by an assault upon it just yet.

DEPEW'S OPINIONS.

Tillman, He Says, is an Ignorant Demagogue, and Aligned Almost an Anarchist.

Predicts the Election Will Give the Silverites an Overwhelming Defeat.

The Thunder Comments Editorially Upon the Chicago Convention.

London, July 10.—The Daily News publishes a column interview with Mr. Dewey on the currency question, in which he predicts the election will give the silverites such an overwhelming defeat that the free silver question will disappear forever from American politics. He scouted the idea that McKinley was sound on the currency question, explained the preference of McKinley over Reed as simply that the Republic distrusts brilliancy and prefers a moderate and safe man. He considered the cleavage more between the North and South than between the East and West. The small farmers of the South, he said, led by Tillman, represent the real strength of the free-silver movement. Tillman, he thought, was an ignorant demagogue of no real culture, and that there was no real confidence in him. He predicted that the financial problems that an American Indian, Altgeld, he declared, is almost an anarchist; although a cultured man, he is very different from Tillman.

"It appears to me," said Dewey, "that Tillman is like a medieval mail-armed knight—ready to fight every craze. Altgeld is a wild, red revolutionist, ready to destroy the common fabric in the hope that he may gain by it. Assuredly, Altgeld does not represent the great silver section like Tillman does. Artisans and mechanics who are following Altgeld are too intelligent to be led aside."

The Times comments editorially on the Chicago convention as follows: "It is always well to know the worst, and England certainly must feel gratified for the extreme frankness of the majority in control of the convention. We take note of the fact that one of the historic American parties is fairly captured by men who glory in dishonest acts and avow desire to repudiate national and private debts." Proceeding to deal with the question of the weakness of the gold standard, the Times says: "The Times continues: 'From a European point of view the whole situation is deplorable. With the fundamental principles of sound finance and fair dealing so powerfully assailed, it is difficult to look forward with confidence to any speedy revival of American credit in the old world.'"

The Standard also has an editorial on the Democratic convention. The newspaper says: "The leading silverites are playing upon the ignorances, prejudices and cupidity of the delegates so successfully that the honest money Democrats are utterly powerless. The platform is one dictated by greed and envy."

The editorial in the Daily News upon the same subject says: "The platform appeals avowedly to some of the best creditable feelings of the people. But it is satisfactory to note that an active campaign is in progress exposing the dangers and discredit attaching to a deliberate choice of a depreciated currency."

The Westminster Gazette this afternoon publishes a long interview with Chauncey M. Depew on the political situation in the United States, during which he is quoted as saying: "We Republicans and Democrats who believe in sound money are glad the issue has been forced so early in the day. It is largely obliterates party lines and the great business interests of the country, farming, mercantile, banking and all that element of citizenship which has merit in the United States, will be for the Republican candidates."

SEWELL, OF MAINE,

Nominated for Vice-President at the Democratic Convention This Afternoon.

Interesting Features of Newspapers Work at the Great Convention.

Chicago, July 11.—To-day's programme comprised nomination speeches, balloting for vice-president, naming of committee of formal notification, assembling of national committee at 3 p.m., if practicable, and the election of national chairman on the conduct of the campaign.

Glorious was the weather bestowed on the Democrats this morning, summer brightness, relieved by cool lake breezes. The city has grown more quiet with the exodus of bands and marching clubs. The many delegates, the remnant left are too exhausted with a week's experience to make much of a demonstration. One of the features of newspaper work at the national convention was the manner in which the bicycle service employed by the Associated Press delivered verbatim reports of the convention during the night session to the main telegraph office down town. Three expert bicycle riders were employed, Alfred H. Shugue, M. M. Beebe and W. W. Phelps. These men rode in relays similar to that of the pony express employed to deliver United States mail over the plains in early times. The first rider conveyed the report as far as 55th street and Michigan avenue, where it was delivered to a fresh rider who proceeded with it to 31st street; there it was delivered to the third rider, who conveyed it to the Western Union building where, through pneumatic tubes it was delivered to the various newspaper offices of the city. The practical test of this system proved its great efficiency.

Later, Sewell, of Maine, was nominated for vice-president.

CHARGED WITH PERSONATION.

A Case Against a Citizen of Victoria Under the Election Act.

Information was laid this morning against William Grimm, carriage maker, charging him with the offense of personation at the recent Dominion election. Section 89 of the Election Act declares any one guilty of personation who has voted once at an election of members for the House of Commons of Canada, applies for a ballot paper in his own name at the same election, and fixes a maximum penalty of six months imprisonment and a fine of $200. Mr. Grimm is charged with voting at the City Hall and later in the day repeating his vote at The Willows. The act deals equally with a man who personates another or repeats his own vote. The case will be heard by Magistrate Macrae on Thursday.
