She got this boy educated in the high school, where he associated with young men who moved in higher society. One day he was in front of his mother's hovel, for the drunkard's home is always a hovel. As he stood there talking to his mother a schoolmate passed by and brought him along. His friend asked him who was that woman he was talking to. "Oh," said he, "she is my washerwoman." I am ashamed when I think of that young man. It is a thousand times worse for a man to be ashamed to confers Christ.--Moody. Society and in the county. At the evening session, 7.30, 8 paper was read by Rev. F. E. Bishop, Subject: "The Missionary Outlook in China," throwing much light on the work. This was followed by a sermon by Rev. H. B. In the service of their counity. Mr. Arm' strong had his foot shattered by a fragment of a shell, the injury necessitating ampu-tation. Mr. Coombs was severely wound-ed in the famous stack at Paardeberg, which forced Cronje's surrender. After partially recovering from his wound he was attacked with enteric fever and had a long and hard sight for life, but a fine constitution and good nursing enabled him to recover. Both men were for some months in England during the period of their convalescence, and Mr. Armstrong with other returned soldiers was presented to the Queen, and had the special honor of being called up and conversed with personally by her late Majesty. Major Armstrong and Coombs were both well-known and popular in St. John and thou-sands of their old friends turned out on Monday afternoon to give them an en-thusiastic welcome on their safe home-coming after their hard experience of the perils of war.

mr. Jacob A. KHS, the author of " How The Other Half Lives," is a man of unique and interesting personality. The story of his life is full of incident; and his ex-periences in his early struggles, after he arrived in America as a Davish immigrant, made him understand and appreciate those conditions of life which he has later done so much to better. His autobiography, called by the significant title " The Making of an American," which has just begun in The Outlook, is cranmed full of incident and keen, amusing comments on men and things. It has as much of the story-ele-ment and as much humor as many of the best novels. The first installment appears in the March Magazine Number of The Outlook, and is elaborately illustrated. The Germs of La Grippe are Conveyed Through the Atmosphere.

No one can escape the La Grippe germ because when an epidemic of the disease is prevailing the air is laden with it. The reason everyone does not have the disease at the same time is because the per-

I have used them freely this fall and winter and have found them a safeguard against La Grippe and catarrhal troubles from which I had suffered for years. I feel that I can freely and consclentiously recommend them."
